Why Paint for Looks Alone?

Many property-owners paint for beauty's sake alone. Wise ones paint to preserve as well. The latter invariably use lead-and-oil paint, the kind that is made of and pure linseed oil, mixed on the job, by the painter, to exactly meet surface and weather conditions. Paint made this way of these prime materials neither cracks nor scales. It gives the utmost in appearance and protection, at the lowest cost per year. Buy of us. A complete line of painting requisites always in stock.

Prices right. Goods top-notch.

INVITATION DANCE

Newton Society Event Held at Hunnewell Club

A social affair of special note in Newton was the dance given last week by Mrs. Edgar W. Hodgson of Shornecliffe road, and Mrs. Ralph C. Emery of Franklin street.

It took place Friday evening at the Hunnewell Club, and the decorations were most artistic, a pink and green color motif being effectively carried out with pink carnations and roses in combination with southern smilax, palms and potted plants. Stanley Hall had been temporarily transformed into an ideal ball room, and the side walls were adorned with festoons of southern smilax and from the ceiling were suspended, baskets of pink carnations. Palms and potted plants were also arranged on the stage, and the decorations extended to the dining hall, where refreshments were served, a large basket of pink Killarney roses centering the table.

The hostesses received their guests standing beneath a floral canopy of pink and green, arranged at one end of the hall, and dancing was enjoyed from nine until one.

Russell's Orchestra was in attendance with an up-to-date program of dance music, which as usual was "par excellence."

Among the entertaining features of the dance was a demonstration of society dancing by Mr. Hugh Payne, who had as his dancing partner, Miss Jenkins of Boston; it included a gavotte, one-step, fox trot, and others.

The ushers were Messrs. George Deiron, Clarence C. Smith, George L. Parker, Frank P. Scofield, Harry W. Fitts, and Fred Loveland.

Guests of social prominence numbering about 130 were present, including some from Boston and Brookline, and Newton's dancing set was well represented.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. William F. Garcelon, Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Lamson, Mr. and Mrs. Everett T. Ryder, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Perkins Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nicholas Young, Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Loveland, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Fitts, Mr. and Mrs. George Deiron, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cheney Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Plimpton Scofield of Newton; Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Waite, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, and Mr. and Mrs. Y. M. First Prize $500 in Gold $2000 In Gold for 50 Prizes Puzzle Solvers Offered

No trick or chance involved in an endeavor to win the prizes offered for the best solutions of the two problems presented by The Boston Journal.

ADD UP THE FIGURES

The problem is to ascertain the total of the figures in the chart. Just pick out the figures and add them up, as if they were in one long column under each other. The figures run from 2 to 9. Each figure is independent of any other figure, and there are no figures formed by any that cross or overlap each other. There are no double figures and no characters in the chart that are not figures. The tail of all "6's" has a decided curve, while the tail of the "9's" is straight. All the other figures have their usual characteristics.

How to Enter

The Conditions

Any person residing in the New England States can send in a solution to the problem according to the rules. No employees of The Journal Newspaper Company or members of their families are eligible to enter.

A payment for subscription to the daily Journal of from $1.00 to $6.00 entitles a contestant to submit a solution of the problem. The amount of money paid will cover the subscription price for the paper according to the regular rate, whether the rate be for city delivery or by mail.

As many DIFFERENT solutions may be submitted to Problem No. 1 as the contestant desires upon making an additional payment of from $1.00 to $6.00 with each solution, but not more than $6.00 can be paid with any one solution.

It is not necessary to pay the same amount with each solution if more than one is submitted. As the prizes have an added value, according to what is paid in on subscriptions with the winning solutions, contestants should familiarize themselves with the dividend schedule before sending their subscription and solution. After once being submitted a solution cannot be changed.

Remit by check, money order or cash in registered letter. Solutions unaccompanied by cash subscriptions will not be registered. The contest is open to both old and new subscribers within the territory designated.

There is no entrance fee; whatever is paid, whether on one or a number of solutions, would apply on a continuous subscription to The Boston Journal.

To enter the contest, add up the figures in the chart, clip out the coupon at right, fill in the amount you wish to pay on subscription to The Journal, together with the total you have obtained, and send coupon and money to the Puzzle Manager.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

The rapid growth of Christian Science not only in our community but throughout the world, is impelling thoughtful people to more and more inquiry in this direction. A religious movement which has a record of 50 years' experience and unparalleled growth, naturally challenges attention, and to meet this spirit of inquiry, the authorities of the Christian Science Church in Newton, have arranged for a public lecture by Mr. William R. Rathvon, C. S. B., member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, Mass., for Thursday evening, April 13th, 1916, at Players' Hall, West Newton at 8 P. M. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Residents of this city will be interested in the passage of the bill to prohibit the transportation of liquors into No license communities except by licensed expressmen which is now in the Senate and where an amendment has been proposed calling for a popular vote on the question of granting liquor dealers the right to make deliveries. The matter will be acted upon next Tuesday.

The jitney question is remembered in the opinion of the Attorney General just given to the committee on Mercantile Affairs that the bill to authorize cities and towns to license such vehicles is constitutional. This probably means the passage of the bill. The House has passed the bill to restore party enrollment, and refused to strike out the proviso for a referendum at the next state election.

The committee on Counties has reported a bill calling for a county tax in Middlesex of $850,353.79 as compared with $827,707.36 for 1915.

Senator Ellis voted and all three Newton representatives against the bill to make New Year's day a legal holiday.

In the House last week Thursday, all three Newton representatives voted against the bill for expression of popular opinion in regard to acquisition of street railways by the Commonwealth, and it was defeated.

On Friday all three voted with the majority against the bill to require working hours for women and children to be reduced to eight notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Jarvis was recorded some time ago in favor of the bill for 48 hours work per week for men. Either Mr. Jarvis has experienced a change of heart on labor questions or the line at labor legislation for women and children.

The bill to allow the Billy Sunday tabernacle to be erected in Boston was passed by the House Monday, Representatives Jarvis and Weston voting in favor and Mr. Allen in opposition. All three gentlemen voted the same day with the minority in opposition to the bill to repeal the re-organization act of the Boston & Maine Railroad.

Messrs. Allen and Jarvis voted in favor of the bill to provide for taxation of forest products, while Mr. Weston was not recorded.

A resolve is now pending in the House requesting the Metropolitan Park Commission to report on the matter of extension of the boulevard on the south side of Charles river, now ending at Charlesbank road, Newton.

BRAE BURN CLUB

A coming event of interest is the Auction Bridge and Tea which will be given next week on Wednesday afternoon, 2.30 in the New Tea Room at Brae Burn. All of the tables have been sold, and the proceeds will be used for the purchase of supplies for the Allies Hospital and the French Hospital, Rouen, France, by the Woman's War Relief of West Newton. Many letters of acknowledgment have been received and the French Society has sent a very fine album containing articles by celebrated French writers, and engravings by artists and sculptors, in recognition of what Americans have done for the French.

Mrs. David P. Cummings of Newton Centre entertained 60 guests at Bridge on Tuesday afternoon in the new Tea Room.

The Newton Centre Woman's Club will give a luncheon of 125 covers on Thursday of next week.

Mrs. Henry A. Young of Newtonville, entertained at luncheon followed by bridge, today at the club.

A dinner dance will be given by members of the Club on Friday evening, April 21st, in the new tea room.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Gilbert of Newton Centre will pass the winter season at the Wadsworth in Boston, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dana Priest of Auburndale, are guests for a few weeks at Brae Burn.

PIANOFORTE RECITAL

Mrs. Wallace E. Richmond of Newtonville opened her residence on Judkins street, Friday evening for a recital given by some of the pupils of the Pianoforte and Theory Students Association.

An excellent program was arranged which contained a number of numbers by the celebrated composers, Mozart, Lemont, Chopin, Kern, Schaefer, Borowski, Satorio, MacDowell and Schumann. It included, the opening number, "After School," by Eleanor Martin; "Little Bo Peep," by Paul James; "Jolly Jig," by Marion Burgess; "Boy Scout March" by Helen Dodge; Song "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," by Betty Lewis and Esther Stiles; "Minuet" by Dorothy Eames; "Vieille Chanson," by Eleanor Richmond; "Little Coquette" by Betty Lewis; "Spring Song," by Jennette Martin; "Electra," by Elsa G. Hase; "Trifling" by Helen Daly; "Morning Glory Mazurka" by Mr. Theodore Hickox; "March of the Berragion" by Herbert Stevens; "Valse Caprice" by Mr. Wallace Richmond; "Nocturnal F Minor," by Miss Katharine Auryans; Polonaise Op. 46 No. 12 by Miss Gertrude Barry; and Sonata No. 1 in D Major by Miss Hazel Cunningham.

There was a large attendance of parents and friends and the music was greatly enjoyed by all present.

BOY SCOUTS

Troop No. 1 held their regular meeting at Newtonville, Tuesday, April 4th with 89 per cent of its members present.

The Court of Honor met and examined four tenderfoot, nine second class and five first class scouts.

Scout Commissioner O. E. Loomis of Greater Boston Council paid us a visit and introduced some new "knots" which were tried out among the scouts.

Tuesday, April 11th, troop No. 1, is to assist troop No. 9 of West Newton, in an entertainment given at Player's Hall.

The scouts are looking forward to a talk on trees, by Burton P. Gray, April 25th which the public are invited to attend at the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

W. E. ROGERS, Register.

Consistency

YOU want a motor car that will serve you consistently. You want to know that your car can be relied upon day in and day out. You want high mileage per gallon of gasoline and freedom from repairs and readjustments. And you want these things, not occasionally, but continuously—day after day.

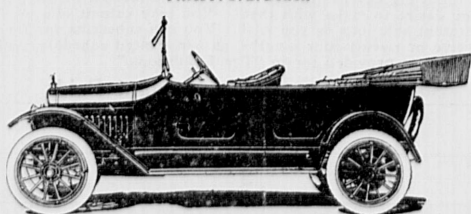

On these qualities the Maxwell has made good. It has proved its worth. When the Maxwell stock touring car set the World's Motor Non-Stop Mileage Record a short time ago it travelled for 44 consecutive days and nights and its performance was consistent.

It went about 500 miles each and every day. It went within a small fraction of 22 miles to every gallon of gasoline. It went the whole distance of 22,000 miles—probably further than you would travel in two years—without any repairs or readjustments. Every one of eight tires (two sets) went just about 9,800 miles and the others finished in good shape. For consistency and reliability this record far exceeds anything we ever heard of.

You can get a Maxwell, an exact duplicate of the record breaking stock car and if you order now you'll have it for the fine, early summer days. Don't put it off, as we can't get any guarantee on future shipments from the factory.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The regular Wednesday morning Assembly was held in the hall on April 5. Mr. J. Randolph Coolidge, Jr., of Brookline, who was formerly president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, delivered a very fine talk, explaining his views upon the subject of "Training, Preparedness, and Service."

The second of Mr. Marshall Darrach's Shakespearean recitals took place in the Assembly Hall on Tuesday afternoon, April 4. The play presented was "A Midsummer Night's Dream." The capacity crowd which thronged the hall showed the interest which the pupils and teachers of the Newton High Schools are taking in these most enjoyable presentations.

Mr. Darrach's third and last recital will be given in the Assembly Hall on Tuesday afternoon, April 11, at two o'clock, when "MacBeth" will be presented.

Last Friday afternoon an open meeting of the German Club was held in the gymnasium. All the pupils in the German Department of this school were invited to attend, and a large number were present. A very interesting program consisting of musical selections rendered in German, was presented by members of the club.

N. H. S. BASEBALL

The call for baseball candidates was issued Monday morning, April 3, and the first outdoor practice was held that afternoon at Cabot Park. Sixty-five candidates reported at the field, Coach Dickinson intends to make the first cut in the squad Thursday.

The greatest problem this season will be to develop a pitcher capable of alternating with Capt. Dick Comick, who is a veteran of three years' experience. Comick will undoubtedly be very effective in the important games, but the schedule this season is a very hard one, and the team cannot hope for success without another dependable pitcher. Besides Comick, two other "N" men are available, Cris Vachon, in left field, and Newell, the catcher, have each played two seasons. McNamara, whose unfortunate accident prevented him from winning his letter last season, is a candidate for shortstop. At third base, Henry Garrity seems to have an edge on the other candidates. The other positions are still very doubtful. McGill, Hovey, Meserve, and Fitzgerald are promising outfield candidates, while Hughes, Adams, and Eaton should have a close race for first base.

In spite of the very late start, the team will play its first game at Clifton Field Saturday afternoon, with Watertown High as the opponent. This game should prove more or less of a tryout for the local players, but a close contest should develop next Wednesday afternoon, when the Newton team will play the first important match of the season, with Melrose High.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The announcement of the Technical High School Senior Play was made this week. This event will take place on the evenings of April 28 and 29, at eight o'clock. Members of the Senior Class will present an original play, entitled, "The Girl in Upper Seven."

The regular quarterly reports are due next Tuesday at the close of school.

N. H. S.

The girls' basketball team of the Newton High School played its final game of the season with the Newton Alumnae girls Thursday, March 30th. The score was in favor of the school team. Newton has won all her games this season which is very pleasing to the coach, Mrs. Kuntz and Captain Eugene Brown. Miss Leslie Perkins was elected captain for next year.

CITY HALL

Street Commissioner Stuart opened a large number of bids this week for the street oils, tar and asphalt which will be needed during the present year, amounting to about 500,000 gallons. The bids were the lowest yet received by either the state, or any other city or town in the Commonwealth and yet will cost the city, on the same basis of last year about $4,000 more, the figures being $21,000 as compared with $17,000 in 1915. There were fourteen bidders, the prices on asphaltic oils submitted by the Standard Oil Co., the J. Baker Company and the Alden Spear Co., being about the same as last year. The bids of the Barrett Co., the American Tar Co., and the Independent Coal Tar Co. for tar were also about the same as last year. The increase coming in the street oils on which the lowest bidders have not yet been determined. Street Commissioner Stuart has also received bids for furnishing broken stone for the year and awarded the contract for about 20,000 tons to the Rowe Contracting Co. at prices ranging from $1.35 to $1.50 per ton.

Mayor Childs will probably invite the board of aldermen to its annual inspection of the streets of the city on Saturday of next week.

CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

An event which will long be remembered in the history of Cleaning Council No. 76, Royal Arcanum was the celebration of its 38th anniversary last Tuesday evening. The meeting was held in Elliot hall and attracted a great many of the members as well as several representatives of the Grand and Supreme Councils.

The evening's program was started at seven o'clock, when all present enjoyed an elaborate banquet which was served under the personal attention of Past Regent William Deutsche. Following the repast the business meeting was held Regent Lester R. Hiltz presiding.

At the close of the meeting Judge David F. Dillon of Palmer, and Grand Regent of this state delivered an eloquent address in which he outlined the great principles for which the Royal Arcanum stands. Other speakers were Grand Secretary William L. Kelt of Boston, Past Grand Regent Joseph B. Robson of Newtonville, who represented the Supreme Council and C. Henry Goodwin, P. R., of Mt. Ida Council, Newtonville. Several readings were given by Brother George H. Wright, in a manner most pleasing.

A select musical program was given on a victrola furnished by one of the members. Before the gathering broke up refreshments were served and all went home conscious of an evening well spent.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

The April number of the General Federation Magazine contains the announcement of the formation of the Territorial Federation of Alaska, the result of Mrs. Pennybacker's visit last summer. This Federation has united with the General Federation and will send representatives to the New York Biennial. Nine clubs make up its membership and its president, Mrs. Thomas V. Conner, writes that the Alaska papers have been most generous in giving space to their work. Mrs. Conner, says the Magazine, is one of the "busy women" who can be depended on to push such undertakings along to a successful culmination. She is president of the Douglas Island Woman's Club, does her own housework, and has recently been appointed by the Governor of Alaska to the Board of Children's Guardians, for the First District of that Territory.

Those who have been active in the Baby Week campaign will be interested in this report from New Mexico: "The Santa Fe Woman's Club has translated into Spanish a pamphlet on the care of the baby, and we shall distribute this booklet among Spanish speaking mothers. Other clubs in our state have taken up this same work. The Woman's Club of Albuquerque has planned to cover the whole country so that every Spanish-American family shall receive at least one bulletin." In other states where the Mexican population is large the same work is being done.

State Federation

9 ARUNDEL TERRACE, NEWTON

Miss Cora S. Cobb was hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. on Monday afternoon. Mrs. S. A. Wiswell was in charge of the work, treating the Philosophy of Swedenborg. She gave an account of his life, showing him not only as a philosopher, but also as a scientist, inventor, mathematician, and business man. Mrs. Wiswell read from his doctrines as expounded by himself and explanations of them as set forth by Trowbridge. Among his personal beliefs may be mentioned that of being in direct communication with the Infinite and his power of visiting both Heaven and Hell.

At the meeting of the Abundant Review Club on Tuesday morning the study of Greek Drama was concluded by a dramatic reading of "The Frogs" of Aristophanes by Miss Ethel Priscilla Potter of the Curry School and teacher of expression at Wheaton College. Miss Potter spoke briefly of the characteristics of Greek comedy and of Aristophanes' methods and then read from the play in a most pleasing manner. The reproduction of the chorus of frogs, from which the comedy takes its name, was remarkably well done and most amusing. The cello solo by Miss Margaret Ruggles with Mrs. Ruggles at the piano, was much enjoyed.

On Tuesday afternoon the Newtonville Woman's Guild observed President's Day and a large number of guests accepted the invitation. Mrs. Henry V. Jones was in the chair and after a short business meeting presented Mrs. A. L. Wakefield, the chairman of the day. A very delightful musical program was given by the following artists, Mrs. Annie Estelle Hollis, piano, Mrs. Josephine M. Wakefield, contralto, Dr. Thomas Irving Deacon, tenor, Mr. Walker L. Chamberlain, baritone, and Mr. Ernest W. Harrison, accompanist. The program opened with a quartette and then came groups of songs for baritone, for soprano, and for tenor, all of which received hearty response from the audience. The second part of the program was the song cycle, "Florida," being a musical setting for four voices and piano by Arthur Whiting of poems by Oliver Herford from "Overheard in a Garden." The verses were read by Mrs. W. O. Hunt, before the musical rendering. At the close a reception was held in the adjoining parlor. In the receiving line were, Mrs. Higgins, the president, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Byers and Miss Julia Butler. The executive board was hostess for the occasion with Mrs. Brandt in charge. Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden and Miss Margaret McGill presided over the tea table.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning a most interesting communication was read from Mrs. Josephine M. Wakefield, a member now in London, telling of the work being done by English women for war relief. It was announced that the annual luncheon will be held at the Wellesley Inn on April 26. A memorial tribute to Mrs. Alvin R. Bailey was presented by Miss Fisher. To Mrs. Fred H. Tucker fell the difficult task of summing up in a single hour the results of the winter's study of the Peace Treaties and it is safe to say that there are few in the club better fitted to compass it. Mrs. Tucker cited the alluring conception of world unity as the compelling motive running through all history. Going back to earliest times she pointed out how the sheer lust of conquest has controlled the various nations, the Assyrians, Babylonians, Chaldeans, Persians, then the Greeks, later Rome and still farther westward, Charlemagne and the Holy Roman Empire. Napoleon's career, she said, was an imitation of Charlemagne's. When he had been overthrown and the powers met for the Congress of Vienna there was a passionate desire for peace. She then traced out carefully the events of the 19th century, which have brought Europe to the present struggle. In closing several points were proposed for discussion, but owing to the lateness of the hour it was impossible to more than touch upon them.

On Monday last the Waban Woman's Club met at the residence of Mrs. Leah Robinson. Following the business meeting, at which the club went on record as opposed to the erection of a moving picture house in Newtonville, a MacDowell musicale was given under the direction of Mrs. Theodore H. Piser. Mrs. Edward Adler, formerly a pupil of Edward MacDowell, gave a most interesting and scholarly paper upon the life and characteristics of the composer and later an account of the Peterboro colony to the maintenance of which Mrs. MacDowell is devoting her means and energies.

Mrs. Adler played To the Sea; Improvisation, A Scotch Poem, A Novelletta. Two groups of songs were charmingly sung by Miss Dorothy Cook, the first including The Robin Sings in the Apple Tree, The Swan Bent Low to the Lily, Sweetheart, Thy Beaming Eye. The second group was comprised of Long Ago, The Sea, A Folk Song, and The Bluebell. Miss Mary Champlin delighted the audience with a piano solo, The Prelude of the First Modern Suite. The programme concluded with two songs sung by a chorus of ladies from the Choral Society, The Cradle Song and The Summer Wind. At the tea and social hour which followed Mrs. Edward C. Street and Mrs. Frank L. Miller presided at the table.

The Newton Graphic Automobile Contest

Has Most Successful Close

FINAL VOTE EXCEEDED ALL EXPECTATIONS

WINNERS IN THE NEWTON GRAPHIC AUTOMOBILE CONTEST

District 1—George W. Keating 2,221,190
District 2—Harry S. Cowdrey 2,006,300
District 3—Miriam F. Bates 495,975

The Vote Cast by Other Candidates:

C. Clark Macomber - 799,975
George H. Haven - 795,775
Dudley Rhodes - 350,875
Arvid Swenson - 29,650

Mr. George W. Keating of Newton won the Maxwell Touring Car as his vote exceeded all others when the final count was finished. Harry S. Cowdrey, of Auburndale, was a very close second and of course won the purse of $50. in Gold as did Miss Miriam F. Bates of Newton Highlands for being highest in her district.

All the other candidates have before now received checks covering the amounts due them on commission, as per the first published announcement.

The Newton Graphic Automobile contest was terminated Monday evening when the candidates and their friends who had been interested in their candidature and anxious to witness the final skirmish gathered at the Newton Graphic office and witnessed the count by the judges whose signed statement appears elsewhere. The efforts of some of the candidates showed up most conspicuously during the counting and verifying of the votes and such expressions as, "Where did he get them," meaning votes, and "Isn't it a corking finish," were heard. As had been predicted before, it was a sensational finish.

Large final figures were anticipated but not nearly so large as actually came. The last few days of the race had brought out the hustling abilities of some candidates and supporters and this added hustle was needed to make the last and final showing one of which any candidate should feel proud. The contest has been on since the first of February and while some of the workers did not start as soon as others, all did remarkably well when all things are known and considered.

It was some finish. And, while the conclusion of the contest brought much joy to some and disappointment to others it was generally conceded that the contest was conducted in a careful and honorable manner.

The surprising total of George W. Keating, who won the automobile, as well as that of Harry S. Cowdrey, who was uncomfortably close, and in fact the only other one who reached the seven figure mark, occasioned much comment. Miss Miriam Bates, of Newton Highlands, while not the least bit desirous of furnishing an all-bi, was greatly handicapped during that portion of the contest when votes meant the most by being confined to her home by sickness. The excellent showing she finally made is all the more meritorious on that account. Miss Bates receives the district prize of fifty dollars in gold.

Most noticeable was the vote totals of some of those candidates who did not secure quite the necessary number of votes to win the prizes offered. C. Clark Macomber, of Newtonville, commands a vote which is larger than the one which won the district prize in district three. George H. Haven, the popular candy manufacturer of Auburndale, caused a ripple of excitement by jumping his vote from less than one hundred thousand to nearly eight hundred thousand votes. The little juvenile hustler of Waban, Dudley Rhodes, while not able to keep the pace set by the older and more experienced workers, certainly accomplished wonders in the small radius in which he had to work. His hustling abilities foreshadow greater things for him.

The contest is all over. The candidate with the most votes was George W. Keating. Absolutely disinterested persons made the awards and there can be no question as to the validity of their conclusions. To be sure there are disappointments in all walks of life and while it is not the motive of this paper to lessen the feeling of any interested person whose favorite did not win out, it can be said that it was fair and square.

Not unlike any other event where so many persons are concerned there will be some foolish conversations about it, emanating from nowhere and most of which no credence whatever can be placed. 'Tis best to listen and say nothing.

The contest was a big success and the management is truly sorry that two automobiles could not have been given instead of one, inasmuch as the two higher finishers were so far ahead of the other candidates.

While all the candidates come in for a merited "heartly congratulation" for the excellent showing made in securing the votes in the spirited race just finished, too much praise cannot be given for the sterling effort put forth by Harry S. Cowdrey, of Auburndale. If the awarding of the Maxwell Touring Car had been decided upon the numbers of new subscribers to The Newton Graphic there would have been "nothing to it," but the boy hustler from Auburndale. It is safe to say that this young man brought to this office more new readers to this paper than any other three candidates combined. The only reason more were not reported by him was because of the fact that he secured them all and of necessity had to stop, or wait, until a new influx of residents moved in.

The Newton Graphic congratulates the winners, and thanks them one and all as well as the countless supporters whose valuable assistance made it possible for the various candidates to accomplish what they did.

It is most difficult for the management to show its grateful appreciation at the unexpected and satisfactory finale. The number of new readers which have been added to the Newton Graphic's already large list, is most pleasing. In this age of progressiveness a newspaper most needs to show its appreciation to its subscribers in some other manner besides printing a good, newsy paper and what better way could this paper accomplish this purpose than by putting up the valuable prizes which have just been awarded. Advertisers pay for space in a publication according to the number of people who receive and read it. Newspaper circulation has to be boomed as does any other business. Merchants who merely take what comes to them in the way of trade seldom, if ever, become merchant princes. It is the wide-awake, energetic person who is up and doing, who succeeds. With this thought uppermost in the mind of the management the unusual offerings were made. That the public did appreciate the enterprise was clearly shown by the large totals received by the workers who finished the race.

While a slight description of the happenings in the closing hours are given today, the main features of the contest were so thoroughly noted during its progress, it is not necessary to chronicle same at this time. Suffice it to say, the management thanks most heartily all those who either directly, or indirectly, assisted in any way to make the contest the huge success that it surely was.

Again, we thank you, thank you, thank you.

While the judges were doing the final honors on the totals of the candidates the rest of those who were present were invited to the adjoining room, where Caterer Marshall served a buffet lunch, accompanied with some excellent ices and cake. This little added feature was furnished by Mr. Brimblecom and was just another way of his generous nature in showing his keen appreciation of the efforts of the interested ones in the project which terminated that evening.

MR. CURTIS' REPORT

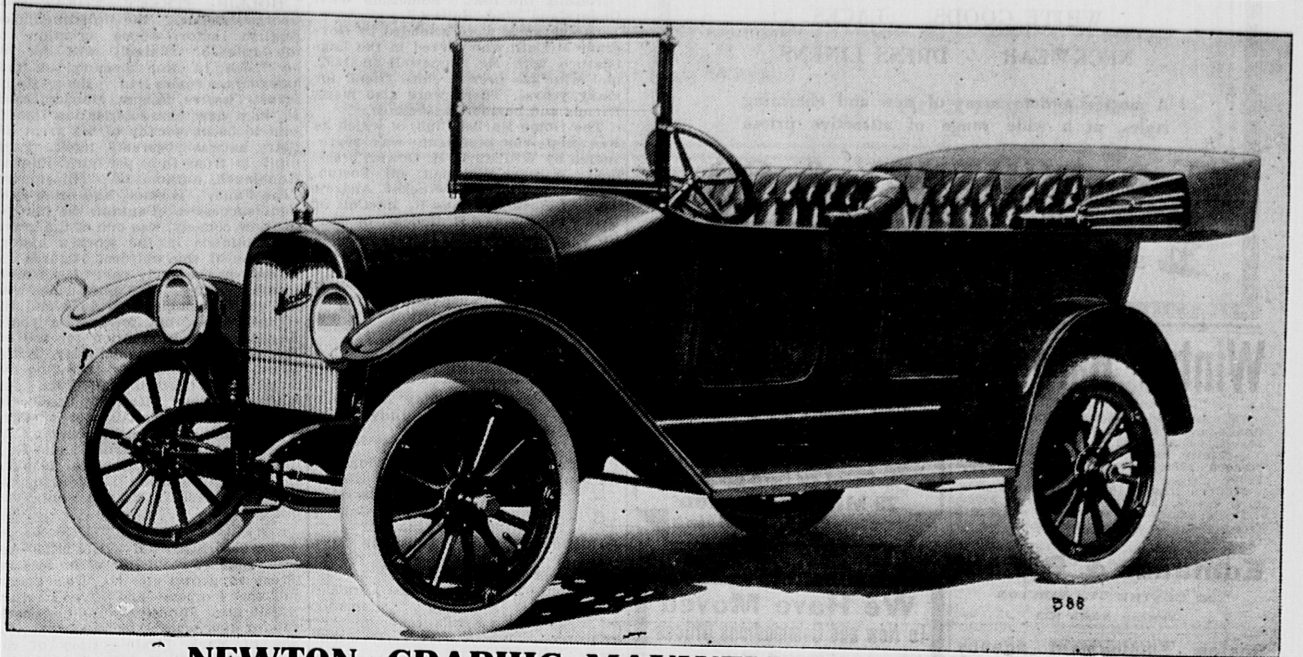

Newton, Mass., April 3, 1916.
Mr. John C. Brimblecom,
Editor The Newton Graphic,
Dear Sir:—

In closing my work in connection with your circulation campaign just ended, I desire to say that it has been one of the most satisfactory campaigns in which I have been active. The prevalent good feeling which was at all times manifest among the candidates as well as the kind consideration with which I have been received is evidence of the high regard in which The Newton Graphic is held by the residents of Newton. I cannot help but feel that thru the enterprise which prompted this generous event that The Newton Graphic has been placed in a much stronger position with its readers as well as the advertisers.

Kindly express my best wishes to all those with whom I came in con-

FINAL RETURNS

In the presence of the contestants or their representatives as well as many interested friends, the Newton Graphic Automobile Contest which has been engaging the attention of Newton folk since the early part of February, ended in a spectacular blaze of glory, Monday evening.

Various contests have been decided in this community at different times, but never has there been more intense interest than was manifested during the last few days of this race.

The final canvass of the votes and awarding of the prizes was in the hands of Mr. Charles H. Clark, Treasurer of The Newton Savings Bank;

William J. Cozens, President of the Newton Board of Trade, and Alderman Leverett D. G. Bentley. It was freely agreed that the count could not be in better hands. The judges took charge of the votes at nine-thirty and with business-like rapidity the special certificates, which had been issued during the contest, and the final report were tabulated, and shortly after ten o'clock their decision was made known. A treble check was made so that accuracy was perfectly assured. The votes were of such large denomination, that altho, many thousands were dealt with, it was possible to proceed with the seeming tedious work very fast.

The final result was then read to those present.

MR. JOHN C. BRIMBLECOM,
Publisher of The Newton Graphic.

DEAR SIR:—

We, the undersigned judges, appointed to make the final canvass of the votes in The Newton Graphic Automobile contest, have very carefully performed that duty and beg to advise you that the prizes have been won as follows:

The Grand Prize, The Maxwell Touring Car,
GEORGE W. KEATING, of District 1—2,221,190 votes.

The district prizes, $50.00 in Gold, are won by HARRY S. COWDREY, of District 2—2,006,300 votes.

MIRIAM F. BATES, of District 3—495,975 votes.

We highly commend the generosity which prompted this unusual prize offering and congratulate you on the brilliant success. The winners are worthy of much praise for the spirited hustle which was necessary to secure the immense totals.

Yours for future success,

WILLIAM J. COZENS,
CHARLES H. CLARK,
LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY,
Judges in Newton Graphic Automobile Contest.

THANKS HIS FRIENDS

Newton, Mass., April 7th, 1916.
Mr. John C. Brimblecom,
Editor The Newton Graphic,
Newton, Mass.

My dear Mr. Brimblecom:—
Through the medium of The Newton Graphic I desire to extend my heartiest appreciation to my many friends and staunch supporters who so ably assisted me in winning the Maxwell Touring Car which you so generously offered in competition. I assure that the weeks attendant upon the winning of this much sought prize was brimful of many strenuous work. To know of the many friends one has some balm even though not a winner. The person winning in an event of this sort much expect to hustle but it is a sort of work that is most pleasant and very fascinating. I enjoyed every minute of it. The prize which I have secured is one that will be much appreciated by me and I am truly sorry for the ones who did not win. I feel that too much credit cannot be given my nearest competitor, Harry S. Cow-drey, of Auburndale, because of the excellent showing which he made in a field which was much harder to work than mine.

The entire contest was conducted as fairly and squarely as could possibly have been and to you and Mr. Curtis, I want to particularly thank for the kindness and innumerable helps with which you favored me.

Thanking one and all, once again,
I am, Gratefully yours,
GEORGE W. KEATING.

MISS BATES IS GRATEFUL

Newton Highlands, April 7th, 1916.

The district prize of $50.00 has already been received by me, and is much appreciated. The winner of the Maxwell Touring Car, the grand prize, which we were all working for, has my heartiest congratulations as does Harry S. Cowdrey who was the next largest vote-getter. The extreme kindness and courtesy with which I was favored by the management is duly appreciated.

While never taking part in any previous contest I am delighted to say that the honorable manner in which this one was conducted has been highly pleasing.

Wishing you continued prosperity,
I am, Truly yours,

WAR AND EVOLUTION

In the hall of the Newton Public Library last Monday evening, Dr. George Nasmyth, author of the book, "Social Progress and the Darwinian Theory" spoke most brilliantly on "War and Evolution," emphasizing the importance of co-operation as a factor in evolution infinitely greater than destruction, or the doctrine of "the survival of the fittest." He stated that a wrong understanding of Darwin's doctrine led people to adopt the materialistic theory that war is inevitable; that only through war do the races purge themselves. He showed clearly that whatever progress has been made has come through the principle of co-operation leading to a greater expansion of life, rather than through struggle and destruction; that the confused ideas of the doctrine of evolution led to the materialism which puts its reliance upon force, while the proper understanding of the importance of co-operation as the most important principle, gave rise to the social doctrines contained in Christianity.

Rev. Harry Lutz gave a resume of the first two chapters of Hobson's "Towards Internationalism" which was discussed by those present.

Next Monday evening at 8 P. M. in the Library Hall, Mr. W. T. Collyer of England will speak on "The Union of Democratic Control". Mr. Collyer is a virile speaker and comes with a special message from one of the belligerent countries. The public is cordially invited.

HOLDERNESS SUMMER SCHOOL

The Holderness Summer School of Music situated on Asquam Lake, Holderness, N. H., is prepared to accept applications for the ten-weeks' term, beginning June 27, 1916. Applications are being received from many different sections of the country. All students bound for the school will meet at the North Station on the morning of June 27, and go to Ashland in a special car.

The faculty will care for pupils from that time until their return in September. Land and water sports will be indulged in. Mountain climbing is a favorite pastime, and nowhere does the climber receive richer reward for his labor, for the scenery in this lake and mountain region is not surpassed on this side of the Rocky Mountains.

From the school, parties can automobile to all the principal points of interest in the White Mountains in a single day. Moonlight excursions on the lake are most inspiring.

Bertha Putney Dudley is in charge of the voice department, and Miss Agnes McCabe is a teacher in the piano department.

A prospectus of the school will be mailed to any interested persons on application to the principal of the school, Allen H. Daugherty, 218 Tremont street, Boston.

LEAP YEAR PARTY

On Friday evening, March thirty-first a leap year party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Pelton, 24 Vernon street, by some nine young ladies in the eighth grade of the Bigelow school, who invited nine young gentlemen to be their guests. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion. Music, dancing and games were indulged in and refreshments served by the young people. Those present were, Ruth E. Van Dyne, Katherine N. White, Priscilla B. James, Barbara Butler, Inez Cornack, Dorothy R. Fernald, Doris L. Pain, Margaret Reid, Elsie L. Pelon, William P. Ellison, Welles E. Holmes, Edward Grevatt, Clark Hodder, Harold Brown, Charles Oak, Everett Kenseller, Junior Perin, Arthur W. Pelton.

QUALITY GOODS

It seems strange to us that any one should hesitate to use Quality Goods—goods so fine that they delight the epicure, goods so moderate in cost that any one may afford them. We wish we had the eloquence of a Cicero to convince you of their superiority, but if you would but give them one trial they will speak for themselves. It is the hardest thing in selling to convince a customer that first cost is not last cost; to make him understand that while the cost of some goods may be much lower in the beginning, they are almost invariably dearer in the end; to show him always an article is worth just about what it cost; in short, to impress him with the meaning of Quality. The only way to be convinced is to give Quality Goods a trial and upon such trial we are satisfied to rest our case assured that we would thereby gain another customer.

—A cat in a tree on the upper part of Vernon street created considerable excitement last Sunday afternoon. The animal was first noticed in the tree on Friday afternoon and as it refused to come down the neighbors called for assistance. The Animal Rescue League failed to live up to its name and efforts by members of the Fire Department also proved unavailing. Mayor Childs then instructed Forest Commissioner Colton to handle the matter and Sylvester Fennell of the Forestry department went after the animal which was then in the top of a high elm tree, fully 75 feet from the ground. As Fennell approached the cat backed out onto a small limb hardly an inch in diameter. Fennell came as near as he dared and attempted to catch the cat by a noose on the end of a pole but was unable to do so. Mr. Colton then instructed him to tie a rope onto the limb and saw it off, in the hope that the cat would cling to the branch as it was being lowered into an adjoining tree. The cat, however, took things into its own hand, so to speak, when the limb was about 50 feet from the ground and made a flying leap thru the air, landed on all fours and made a hasty exit around the nearest building.

ART IN THE NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

"The writing of history is always more or less of an unsatisfactory task because there seems no finality about it," says John C. Van Dyke in his book "What is art?" Continuing he says "No sooner are certain characters summed up, and certain facts put down in print, than a new investigator comes along with another hypothesis to upset the former conclusion. The uncertain character of history in general becomes more positively marked when it deals with art in particular, because the materials are still with us to conform or contradict, and after ten years they often do the latter."

The library adds as they are published the various books on the history of art, and strives to keep its collection up-to-date in order that those desiring knowledge of the changes in the art world may find them recorded in the material at hand. ROUTINE MEETING men's Compensation ordinance to include the Workmen's Compensation Agent, was debated by Aldermen Winslow and Murphy and finally recommended by a vote of 12 to 7 for a re-draft.

Alderman Price introduced a resolution that no permit for the erection of buildings to be used for business purposes should be issued by the Buildings Commissioner without approval of the board of aldermen. Mr. Price said that this was an important matter as the vanguard of speculators who wished to erect undesirable buildings in this city were already here. Mr. Price said that Newton was a residential city and there was an ample number of stores already erected. He called attention to the permit already issued for stores on the Scale's lot on Centre street and said that the board must sit supinely by and let this class of people run all over them or they should do something before it is too late. His resolution he knew was merely a temporary affair but it would control the situation until a proper ordinance could be framed. Alderman Murphy queried what effect this resolution would have as the ordinance require the permit to be either granted or refused within ten days. He appreciated the situation but thought the board should move carefully, for while it could enact ordinances it had no right to assume executive functions. Alderman Clark said he would go as far as any one but he thought if unwise to pass the matter in its present form and it might make the board appear ridiculous. Incidentally it was none of our affair if these proposed stores would prove a paying investment or not. The matter was then referred to the committee on Rules.

At 9:05 P. M. the board adjourned.

SPRING BIRD NOTES

With each recurring Spring the interest in our native birds is increasing. With a prosperous bird club at Newton Centre, a junior club at Waban, and a club being formed at Newton Highlands, and with scores of individuals studying the birds, feeding them in winter, and providing nesting places and baths for Summer, a few bird notes may not be inopportune.

Already several of the earlier migrants have reached us. Ten days ago the vanguard of the army appeared, robins, song sparrows, bluebirds, redwings, blackbirds, horned and rusty grackles, cowbirds, meadowlarks, and phoebes arriving together. Although a few robins and song sparrows winter with us, the majority had been stormbound in New Jersey and further south.

Other and rarer migrants which are already here are the woodcock, mourning dove, and fox sparrow, and it is time to watch for the following, vesper, field, chipping, savanna, swamp, and white-throated sparrows, kingfisher, great blue heron, night heron, tree swallow, myrtle and pine warblers, purple finch, and hermit thrush.

Each week from now into June will bring us more and more birds, and it is high time to polish up the bird glasses and go afield, if you have not already started your Spring bird study.

FIRE AT OAK HILL

Pox 9 was rung last Sunday afternoon about two o'clock for a fire in the building on Oak Hill formerly occupied as studios by Horace K. Turner, and now owned by Mr. Earle L. Ovington. The fire had its origin in a grass fire which worked its way up the hill until it caught the shingles used on the outside of the building. Mr. J. P. Estey saw the fire and telephoned the news to headquarters. The nearest apparatus is at Newton Centre, over two miles away, but it made excellent time, and altho the location of the building required about 800 feet of hose to be laid from the nearest hydrant. When Chief Randlett arrived about 150 feet of the front of the building were in flames but prompt work by the firemen kept the damage down to about $500. The Newton Highlands truck in answering the alarm became mired on Parker street, near Dedham street and it took several hours' work to extricate it.

SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Farrell held a reception Wednesday evening at their home, 67 Lincoln road, Newton, to celebrate their silver anniversary. They were married at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, April 5, 1891, and since that time have resided at their present home.

Many beautiful gifts were received. Guest were present from Newton, West Newton, Newton Highlands, Newton Centre and Waltham.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

At the meeting of the Newton Board of Trade next Monday evening in Newtonville Mr. Harry G. Johnson, Secretary of the Malden Board of Trade, will speak on "The Relation of Industry to a City." Mr. Johnson is a "live wire" and his talk should be particularly interesting, as it deals with a subject of vital interest to this city.

For some few years there has been more or less discussion among the local tradesmen whether or not influence should be brought to draw manufacturing plants to Newton and the meeting Monday should throw a whole lot of light on the subject. The public is invited.

NEWTON BOARD OF TRADE

Discusses the Relation of Industry to a City at Its April Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Newton Board of Trade was held Monday evening in Board of Trade hall at Newtonville and there was a large attendance. "The Relation of Industry to a City" was the general subject of discussion.

Plans were briefly outlined for an industrial exhibition which will show the wares and other products manufactured in Newton together with school exhibitions, municipal exhibitions and many other interesting features, setting forth the advantages of Newton, which will probably be held early in the Autumn. It was left to Mr. Cozens to appoint a committee consisting of one member from each of the several wards of the city to consider and make plans for such an exhibition.

Mr. Cozens in a few well chosen words advocated a bigger and better Newton through the Newton Board of Trade. He said we should put our city first, business second and the individual third.

Mr. Harry W. Johnson, Secretary of the Malden Board of Trade was then presented by Mr. Cozens, who said we are about to listen to a live talk on a live question, in a live way, and by a live man. Mr. Johnson said in part that he wanted to tell somewhat of the experience of Malden. "Malden started three years ago to have a Board of Trade. Previous to that there had been no concerted action on the part of Malden to build up the city through manufacturing and industrial lines. The people wanted new sidewalks, they wanted the streets watered and many other very reasonable municipal improvements. These improvements have come about largely through the opening up of industrial developments in the city. Rents at that time could be had as low as $20.00 and now the lowest figure is $30.00." Last year, the speaker said, they had added $150,000 worth of new industries to the city and the payrolls had been increased over $250,000. "When we started our developments the people in our west end, or what is known as our fashionable district, were very much prejudiced against the Board of Trade for attempting to bring in new industries, but we told them if they would stay where they were we would take the other end of the city and that is just what has resulted."

We look for well-paid labor and do not want cheap help nor do we want families who pay merely their poll taxes and have large families. A large number of the old families of Malden do their trading in Boston but the newcomers whom we are largely responsible for bringing to the city, trade at home. In fact 80 per cent of these latter ones do their trading in Malden.

Last year we added over $50,000 in taxes to the city from these new industries and it is a fact that those people who were very much prejudiced against us three years ago are now some of our staunchest friends and from whom we can borrow money.

We averaged last year about three requests a week for locations and after thorough investigation of each we took from these 150 six, and placed them in good locations. These great results are the results of everybody saying a god word for the town and the same thing could be worked in Newton and ought to result the same as in Malden. If you want an up-to-date city you must have industrial developments for the newcomers are the life of the retail trade. At the close of his remarks a great many questions were asked the speaker.

Mr. S. R. Porter of Newton Centre said that he felt he was on the other side of the question and that conditions in Malden greatly differ from those in Newton. "There are several cities on the Boston & Maine R. R. whose population is made up of a different class of people than in Newton. These cities can cater to factories because they are becoming peopled with that class of help. As for Newton it is one of the bedrooms of Boston and nearly as free as any city can be of factories. Newton is already getting thickly settled and people have moved from various sections to Waban and then to Wellesley or other outlying towns and should many industries come to Newton, the people would go still farther away and we would lose our cosmopolitan population and have more tenement houses, etc. When I moved to Newton I was attracted by its countrylike appearance, by its convenience to Boston and other sections, and its great school system. Have we not a right and is it not a pleasure to know that Newton has no factories and is such a good place to live in?"

Mr. Johnson then said I cannot see why you cannot preserve your residential section the same as we did. I

NARROW ESCAPE

Peculiar Auto Accident on Newton Center Rail Road Bridge

Charles L. Adams, a member of the firm of Adams & Woodworth, proprietors of a garage at 1151 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, had a miraculous escape from death late Friday afternoon at Newton Centre avoiding a collision with another machine, his automobile broke through a fence and dropped 20 feet to the Boston & Albany tracks in the path of a train.

Adams jumped from the machine before it fell and received a few bruises and a cut across the forehead. The machine, a large seven-passenger limousine, was wrecked and it required the assistance of brakemen on two trains to clear the tracks so that traffic could be resumed.

Adams was out with a party of Newton Centre persons that afternoon and was on his way back to the garage when the accident occurred. He was traveling over Centre street, going up the slight incline toward the B. & A. Bridge, when a small auto, owned by George W. Richburg of Newton Centre and driven by Harold Daly of Warren street, turned the corner from Norwood street to Centre street.

Daly attempted to take a wide corner, allowing Adams to continue to his right, when Adams suddenly turned his car to the left and struck the Richburg car between the front wheel and seat. Daly was thrown 15 feet and the mud-guard torn off the machine, while Adams' machine crossed the tracks of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway and just before it crashed into the fence Adams jumped to safety.

The machine tore through the fence and dropped over the embankment to the railroad tracks. A train from Riverside over the Highland Branch had passed the spot only a minute before and another train, coming from Boston, was just leaving the Newton Centre Station, which is less than 100 yards from where the automobile landed.

Pieces of the car were scattered about the tracks in all directions and the glass was scattered about the street.

Daly received a sprained ankle, a lacerated knee and minor bruises.

DEATH OF CHARLES W. ROSS

In Charge of Street Department of City For Many Years

Mr. Charles Wilson Ross, for nearly 25 years, the Street Commissioner and superintendent of streets of this city, and at present the superintendent of the Newton Cemetery, died early Tuesday evening at his home in the Cemetery grounds. While Mr. Ross has been in poor health for some time, his condition did not become serious until a few days before his death.

Mr. Ross was born at West Boylston, Mass., March 8, 1849 and educated in the public schools of that town and at Worcester. At twenty years of age he came to Newton as assistant superintendent at the Newton Cemetery, and has made this city his home since that time. In December, 1890, he was appointed superintendent of streets of the city and Street Commissioner when the present city charter went into effect in 1898, and served until his resignation in the spring of 1914. At that time he was appointed to his present position of superintendent of the Newton Cemetery.

Mr. Ross had the reputation of being one of the best road builders in the Commonwealth, if not in the country, and he was appointed in 1898 by Governor Wolcott as a member of the Massachusetts Highway Commission and served for two years, dividing his time between the city and the state.

Mr. Ross was a member and actively interested in the First Baptist Church of Newton Centre. He was one of the charter members, and a past president of the Massachusetts Highway Association, served for many years as treasurer of the Newton Horticultural Society, was a member of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, the American Park Association, the Na-

SARAH HULL CHAPTER, D. A. R.

Unique Record of the Year Given in Rhyme by the Historian

The Sarah Hull Chapter, D.R., never spent a more enjoyable afternoon than that of Wednesday, April the twelfth at the Newton Club house in Newtonville.

The entertainment was in charge of Mrs. F. O. Stanley, assisted by Mrs. Curtis Chipman, Mrs. Will E. Harding, Mrs. Edgar M. Horne, Mrs. Henry S. Jenkins and Mrs. Mitchell Wing as hostesses.

Mrs. Ralph C. Emery opened the program with a group of songs, "I've been Roaming," "Mighty Lak a Rose," "Wake Up!" Mrs. Emery's singing is always admirable, she was accompanied by Mrs. George Owen, and kindly responded by an encore to the enthusiastic applause of her audience.

The next feature of the afternoon was the reading of the original prize essays, by three girls from the Stearns School, winners of the gold and silver prizes offered by Sarah Hull Chapter for papers on "Heroes of the Revolution." Sara De Luca read a paper on George Rogers Clark. Marguerite Womboldt on General Israel Putnam and Adelaide Karcher one on Gen. Nathaniel Green. The papers were very good and a great credit to their authors. After the reading Mr. A. Gerardi from the Boston Symphony, played a number of violin selections, accompanied by his brother upon the piano.

Mr. George Owen, professor of Naval Architecture at M. I. T. was the lecturer of the day. He spoke on "Submarines" of the past and present and gave a most illuminating talk on their merits and demerits, and the obvious folly of the nation's self-deception on the subject of Preparedness.

After another solo by Mr. Gerardi the chapter adjourned to enjoy the refreshments provided in the dining room.

Mrs. Stephen A. Wiswell, the Historian read the following unique record of the events of the year.—

"Tis said, to write a pleasing history, Is not so very much a mystery; If you just glean a little here and there,

And add a bit of romance, when and where You think it needs a touch of interest, Then you will find your record of the best.

In fact the notes of some contemporary, will be of use, if your's from her's don't vary.

They say one needs the charm of far perspective To safely deal out praise, or strong invective:

That if the actors long ago have vanished, You can't be laurel-crowned or rudely banished.

If well embroidered tho' you write your story, And all your heroines and heroes bathe in glory,

Your sins tho' many, all will be forgiven And you believed an oracle from Heaven.

So tho' sometimes, my Knowledge I must borrow Because I missed some meetings, to my sorrow,

I hope what I present will not prove wrong, Or that you find the record much too long.

Our annual meeting suffers from the fact That nothing much occurs; sometimes we act As if elections were a Duty only

NEWTON BOAT CLUB

The Newton Boat Club, the oldest club in Newton, held its annual meeting at the club house at Riverside, Auburndale, April 10th. An unusually good number of members were out, as the old board who had served the club faithfully for so many years had requested that they be entirely relieved, and that the younger men take over the activities of the club.

Complying with their request an entirely new board was elected made up of President, W. G. Barrows; Vice President, A. H. Brew; Secretary, Dr. Arthur Furbish; Treasurer, B. L. Goodwin; Captain, John Gaw, Jr.

All present were enthusiastic as to the outlook for the coming season, and many applications for membership were reported by the different members. It is expected that the membership will very quickly be filled up to the limit, and that a waiting list will again be the condition as in years past.

The new executive board plan a series of possibly 10 informal concert dances through the season beside the usual June band concerts. Captain Gaw expects to arrange several canoe activities such as illumination nights, etc.

It was the unanimous regret of those present that Mr. Chas. E. Hatfield, the retiring treasurer, and Mr. Richard W. Buntin, the former secretary, who had held these offices for many years, declined re-election. A hearty vote of thanks was given them and the whole board for their untiring services in the interest of the Club.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Matters in which many residents of this city are deeply interested came before the Senate this week. On Monday, the bill to authorize preferential voting at municipal elections in Newton was passed by a vote of 14 to 7 after several senators had spoke in opposition to the general principle of preferential voting. This practically assures the passage of the bill.

On Tuesday the Senate took up the liquor transportation bill and defeated an amendment offered by Senator Hobbs to require a referendum on the matter at each municipal election. Senator Ellis voted against the amendment which was defeated, and for the bill which was passed by a vote of 18 to 12.

The Senate also passed a bill to allow the secretary, treasurer, auditor and attorney general to be nominated by conventions instead of by a direct primary as at present.

Metropolitan Affairs has reported a resolve to investigate the Park Commission $500 to investigate upon the most feasible route for extension of the present boulevard on the south side of the Charles river now ending at Charlesbank road.

In the House this week, Representative Allen voted with the majority in favor of a bill relative to Boston streets, while Messrs. Jarvis and Weston were recorded in opposition.

On Tuesday, Representatives Allen and Jarvis voted against the repeal of the B. & M. organization bill of last year and Mr. Weston was not recorded.

All three Newton representatives voted in favor of the so-called "true name" bill which was defeated Wednesday in the House.

Representative Weston, a member of the Metropolitan Affairs Committee, is one of the dissenters from the favorable report on a new subway station at Arlington street. It is said that the unconstitutionality of the bill is the reason for the dissent.

BURNS ITS MORTGAGE

The mortgage of the Universalist Church, Washington Park, Newtonville, was burned Sunday morning with special services, the debt having been fully wiped out.

Rev. Albert Hammatt of Longmeadow, until a year ago pastor, preached the sermon.

The services were in charge of the pastor, Rev. Rufus H. Dix. George E. Leighton of Somerville spoke briefly.

The mortgage was burnt by Rev. Mr. Dix, Rev. Mr. Hammatt, Mr. Leighton and William H. Zoller. In the afternoon a special vesper service was conducted with music by the recently organized Beethoven Quartet.

BENEFIT OF MILK FUND

The Ishkoodah Camp Fire Girls are busy getting ready for the "Subscription Dance" to be given at The Newton Club House, Newtonville, Friday evening, April 28th, from 8 to 12. They hope to give as much toward the Milk Fund for poor babies, in connection with the Infants' Hospital, Brookline, as they did last year. The matrons are to be Mrs. Rimbach, Mrs. C. P. Earley, Mrs. A. D. Auryansen, Mrs. A. G. Seavey and Mrs. A. F. Jones, who is the Guardian of the Camp Fire.

Analyzing the Boy.

"How would a boy grow up if he never had mud between his toes and a torn hat?" Mrs. Homer Hoch demands to know. Many boys have mud not only all the way between their toes and a torn hat, but also on top of the torn hat, and still they seem never to grow up.—Kansas City Star.

GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

The Brae Burn Country Club has been awarded the Massachusetts open championship, which last year was made so much more interesting by throwing the event open to golfers of any district. The dates, June 15 and 16, are unusually early, but there was little alternative, owing to the dates of the national open, the Metropolitan open and the Massachusetts amateur. There is no fear of lack of attendance, for many of the leading professionals of other districts already have promised to attend. They will have a sure-enough test at Brae-Burn, which is one of the most difficult courses in the country on which to score low. Warren H. Webb, the new Brae-Burn professional, will be a "dark horse" of the tournament, in that there probably will be no tournament before then to give a line upon his play.

SURPRISE PARTY

Miss Alice M. Wright, one of the most popular members of Hawthorne Rebekah Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Waltham, and deputy to Welcome Lodge of Natick and Tennyson Lodge of Newton, was given a surprise party by 60 of her friends at her new home in West Newton Saturday evening.

While Miss Wright and her mother, Mrs. Ellen Wright made a visit to Waltham Saturday evening, their friends took possession of the home in West Newton. As an excuse to get her daughter home, Mrs. Wright feigned illness. It was a complete surprise to Miss Wright, as was the gift of a solid mahogany library table, which was presented by Mrs. Elizabeth Hatch. The surprise was in the nature of a housewarming and there was a program of readings by Mrs. Mason and piano selections by Miss Vera Chadsey. Lunch was served.

The affair was in charge of Miss A. K. Holden, and Mrs. Margaret Stewart of Waltham, and Mrs. Bertha Mead of Natick.

BOY SCOUTS

Troop 7, Boy Scouts of America, Harlan D. Crowell, Scoutmaster, will spend April 19 at Scout Frederick Blodgett's farm in Framingham. The hike will start at 8 o'clock, Tuesday morning from the Congregational Church in West Newton and return late Thursday afternoon. Tents and camping bags will be used if the weather is O. K., if not, the scouts will make good use of the hay loft in the large barn. Many tenderfoot scouts hope to pass several of the second class requirements on this outing.

MAKES A SPLENDID DESSERT

French Way of Serving Pears Will Be Found About the Best That Has Been Devised.

A French Pear Dessert.—Every Frenchwoman knows the value of combining cooked fruit with cereal for the family dessert. Here is her favorite way of serving pears: Peel, core and cut in halves half a dozen firm pears. Cook them slowly for an hour in a sirup of two cupfuls of water and one of sugar. Meantime boil in a double boiler for about an hour a half cupful of rice in two cupfuls of milk, with a small piece of butter and sugar and vanilla to taste. When the rice is cooked turn it into a mold. The French cook keeps the rice warm while it is setting in the mold, but it would probably suit the American taste better to place the mold on ice. When ready to serve turn the rice out on a round dish and arrange the pears neatly in a border. Pour over them the sirup in which they have been cooked, flavored, if desired, with a little rum.

Canned Pears.—Bartlett pears are considered by many housekeepers the best for canning. If not perfectly ripe they can be easily mellowed by wrapping them up in a woolen blanket, but they must be a little under rather than over-ripe for canning. To every quart jar allow seven or eight medium-sized pears, a pint of water and one-fourth pound of sugar. Cut the fruit in halves, pare, core and throw at once into cold water to prevent discoloration. Put the sugar and water first into a preserving kettle and let heat slowly; when the scum appears remove it carefully, and as soon as the sirup boils hard add the fruit and boil all together for three to ten minutes.

Put a cloth wet in cold water around the jar when putting in the hot fruit. In order to prevent breakage, and further make sure against this by putting in a couple of pears and a little juice at a time. When the jar is full run a silver knife down the sides of it to let out the air bubbles, and seal tightly while the fruit is still hot. Canned pears should be kept in a cool, dark place.

Seckel pears, which may be canned in the same way, are best when picked directly from the tree and canned at once. If too hard both they and the Bartletts may be boiled for ten minutes or less before putting them in the sirup.

TO PREPARE SPICED PLUMS

Should Be Put Up With Sugar and Vinegar and Condiments of Various Kinds.

Select seven pounds of damson plums; wipe them with a napkin, then prick each plum several times with a needle and put them into stone jars. Place a kettle with three and a half pounds of sugar and one pint of vinegar over the fire. Break one ounce of cinnamon into small pieces, add one tablespoonful of whole cloves, four blades of mace and one tablespoonful of whole allspice. Sew these up in muslin or cheesecloth bags and drop them into the vinegar. Boil five minutes, then pour the boiling hot sirup over the plums. Cover and let stand until the next day, then drain off the sirup and place it with the spice bags in a kettle over the fire. Boil ten minutes and pour it again over the fruit. Repeat this once more the day following, then lay the spice bags on top of the fruit, close the jar and lay a piece of paper over the top. Although they will keep in jars, yet they will keep their color better if sealed in cans. Grapes can be spiced in the same manner.—Mother's Magazine.

Orange Filling.

Boil three-fourths cupful milk with a pinch salt, three tablespoonfuls sugar and one-half tablespoonful butter; mix one tablespoonful flour with one-fourth cupful milk and stir into boiling milk. Continue the boiling for few minutes, and remove from fire; add the juice and grated rind of one orange and juice of half a lemon and yolks of three eggs. When cold, spread between the two cake layers, and dust the top of the cake with powdered sugar.

Beef Cutlets.

Put the beef through the chopper (as for hamburger steak), season with sage and pepper, moisten with cream, then mold in cutlet form and broil. Serve with a brown sauce made by browning a slice of onion in two tablespoonfuls of butter, adding a little salt, pepper and two tablespoonfuls of stock. Boil until smooth, then add a hard-boiled egg, chopped in small pieces.

Baked Batter Pudding.

Four eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately, one pint of sweet milk and two cupfuls of flour with salt to taste sifted with it. Mix the egg yolks with the flour, pour in the milk slowly and then turn in the beaten whites of the eggs. Bake 45 minutes and serve with a hard butter and sugar sauce seasoned with nutmeg or lemon or vanilla.

Peach Custard.

Fill sundae glasses about a quarter full of chopped peach and then nearly to the top with soft custard. When ready to serve cool each portion with sweetened whipped cream and invert half of a chilled peach in the center.

A Good Way to Clean Pans.

To clean pans that have scorched food adhering to them, sprinkle dry baking soda in them and let them stand for a while. They then can be quickly and readily cleaned.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The results of the Senior Election, held this week, were the following. David Putnam was elected class orator. Miss Evangeline Huntley was chosen as historian. Miss Judith Matlack was elected class poet, and Myrlene Bruner was the choice for statistician.

The third and last of Mr. Marshall Darrach's Shakespearean recitals was held in the Assembly Hall on Tuesday afternoon, April 11, at two o'clock. The tragedy "Macbeth" was the play presented. This recital was fully as well attended as the previous ones, and many of the pupils were unable to obtain admission. The demand for tickets was so great that all were sold out long before the day, and no provision could be made for those who were not fortunate enough to have them, as the principals and teachers of the high schools had anticipated no such great success. Many who have previously heard Mr. Darrach believe that he is strongest in his tragedies, and a large number of those who heard him Tuesday declared that "Macbeth" was the most enjoyable of the three recitals.

Members of the school department are considering the advisability of engaging Mr. Darrach for a fourth recital, to be open to the general public at twenty-five cents admission. As yet no decision has been reached in regard to the matter. The play, if presented, will possibly be "Hamlet."

The Senior Dance was held in Temple Hall, Newtonville, last Friday evening, and was very well attended by the members of the class.

The regular quarterly reports were issued last Tuesday noon.

There was no Assembly on Wednesday morning of this week, as the time was required for making out the elective blanks for next year.

The annual Spring Vacation will begin today at noon, when school will close for next week. The vacation will extend to Monday morning, April 24.

The last two recitations will be omitted today, and the entire school will assemble in the hall during the last two periods. A short play of a Shakespearean nature will be presented under the direction of the English Club.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

This list on Birds, or rather bird-books in the Newton Free Library, is compiled upon the request of one interested in watching birds, and it will prove of interest to many. It is hoped. It is probably true beyond a doubt that the principle book on birds is that gotten out almost ninety years ago by John James Audubon. This was entitled the "Birds of America from original drawings," containing some 500 large folio colored drawings of birds of the natural size. This was issued in five volumes and the original cost was $1,000. The library does not own the original edition, but has one dated 1870, which now is nearly as valuable as the first one was when published.

Among the more popular authors of books on birds are Frank M. Chapman, whose writings include:

Bird-life; guide to the study of our common birds PG.C38

Bird studies with a camera PG.C36b

Camps and cruises of an ornithologist PG.C36ca

Color key to North American birds PG.C36c

Handbook of birds of eastern North America PG.C36h

The warblers of North America PG.C36w

And then the local man, Charles J. Maynard, who for years has been known at least through his books to those interested in ornithology. His books in the Newton Library are:

Atlas of plates for the directory to the birds of Eastern North America PG.M45a Ref.

The birds of eastern North America PG.M45 Ref.

Birds of the Bahamas PG.M45b

Directory to the birds of eastern North America, illus. PG.M45d

Eggs of North American birds PG.M45e

Handbook of the sparrows, finches, etc., of New England PG.M45h

The naturalist's guide in collecting and preserving objects of natural history, with a complete catalogue of the birds of eastern Massachusetts PG.M45n

Records of walks and talks with nature PG.M45r

Warblers of New England PG.M45w

Then, too, has Chester A. Reed, another Massachusetts man, contributed a number of volumes, including:

The bird book, illustrating in natural colors more than 700 North American birds, with photographs of nests and eggs PG.R25bb

The bird guide, in 2 volumes, water and land birds PG.R25b

Birds of eastern North America PG.R25bi

Nor must Bradford Torrey be overlooked in any enumeration of bird books:

Everyday birds; elementary studies PG.T63

Field-days in California PG.T63f

The foot-path way M.T63fo

Mrs. Doubleday, under the pseudonym of Nellie Blanchan, has published

Bird neighbors PG.D74

Birds that every child should know J.PG.D74bi

Birds that hunt and are hunted PG.D74b

How to attract the birds, and other talks about bird neighbors PG.D74h

Of the general books on birds the library has a generous supply, but it is thought that possibly a selection of the books on the songs and nests of birds would be preferable. These are given therefore below:

Wood notes wild; notations of bird music, by S. P. Cheney PG.C42

Field book of wild birds and their music, by F. Schuyler Mathews PG.M42

Evolution of bird song, by Charles A. Witcheil PG.W77

Bird song about Worcester, by H. L. Nelson PG.N33

Oology of New England; eggs, nests and breeding habits PG.C17 Ref.

Nests and eggs of North American birds, by Davie PG.D28

Bird homes; nests, eggs and breeding habits, by Dugmore PG.D87

How we went birds' nesting, by A. B. Harris PG.H24

Bird notes, by J. M. Hayward PG.H33

Eggs of North American birds, by C. J. Maynard PG.M45e

In nesting time, by Olive Thorne Miller PG.M61i

Nestlings of forest and marsh, by Irene G. Wheelock PG.W57

BASEBALL PRICES

To the Editor of the Graphic:—The management of the Newton High School baseball team are to be congratulated on the low prices given the pupils so they can attend the games this season; and there should be 500 of those tickets used at least. Now why not go a step further, advertise each week's games right, and allow the public to attend at 15 cents? The management won't get them at the "professional" price of a quarter. J.

HIGH FREQUENCY CURRENTS

Lecture at Newton Technical High School by Dr. Strong

On Friday evening, March 24th, an interesting, free lecture on high potential, high frequency currents was given in the Technical High School Hall. The speaker, Dr. Frederick F. Strong of Boston, formerly lecturer at Tufts Medical College, has studied the subject of high frequency currents for many years, and has constructed many special pieces of apparatus, several of which he brought with him and with which he was able to show some very remarkable experiments. It is hoped that this lecture will be followed by others of a similar character on various scientific topics.

Dr. Strong said in part:—"The subject we are taking up tonight is what I like to call the study of the unknown phenomena of the electrical borderland, because it deals with the realm far out in scientific research. These things we are going to take up tonight. I am going to attempt to illustrate them to you by some experiments which are the results of the latest practical discoveries and lie in the realms just bordering on the unknown. In fact, while we use these different phenomenal types of currents, high frequency currents, wireless waves, etc., we know extremely little about their actual nature."

The text of my story is only one word, the most wonderful word in any language, VIBRATION. In that one word is comprised every thing that we have been able to observe in the phenomena of the universe. In terms of vibration, every known phenomenon may be explained.

We think we are living very intensively. We are, comparatively speaking, compared to the life of a short time ago. On the other hand, our life, that we really know and sense compared to what we know through the experiments of the scientific laboratory, is very little.

Out of all that we know, practically nine-tenths of it comes to us through our eyes and ears, things that we see and things that we hear. As you all know very well, the range that we can hear lies within small limits. The range that we can see lies within still smaller limits. Both are vibrations.

I want you to take a little flight with me to the land of fancy, to a little experiment in the laboratory of the mind, and imagine that we have a piece of iron charged with electricity. We set it vibrating and suppose that this piece of iron doubles its vibrations every second. Every time, it doubles its vibrations, it jumps an octave, which is the equivalent of a musical octave. This piece of iron gives out to the air certain effects, namely, waves. It also gives out to the wonderful subtle medium, called ether, other vibrations which we call electro magnetic waves.

Nothing noticeable happens in the first 32 vibrations, or five octaves. You do not hear anything, but on the fifth second, you hear a sound. The iron has been giving out waves all the time, but you have not heard them. As the iron keeps on vibrating, we hear sound of constantly rising pitch until the 15th octave is reached with a vibration rate of 6000 per second.

Then comes silence. The iron is still doubling its vibration, but we have passed the limit of audibility.

We now come to a very interesting part of electricity, which was also unknown a few years ago. The vibrations of the 16th to the 45th second form one field in which we are going to experiment, the field used in wireless telegraphy and which undoubtedly will be the means of communication in the future. At the 45th octave, the vibrations become perceptible to us as heat, the 47th and 48th octaves, comprising the range of the so-called Infra Red. We now come to the very wonderful 49th octave, the most wonderful in all the range of vibrations with which we are acquainted because it constitutes such an enormous part of our vast activities, namely, the light waves. The 49th octave has a vibration range from 450 to 750 million million beats per second, the vibrations as they increase in number giving the colors of the Solar Spectrum in order—red, orange, yellow, green, blue, and violet.

It then goes on to another realm which we cannot see. We can follow them in the laboratory and will do so tonight up to the 51st octave, where we have what is known as Ultra Violet Light which is invisible but which we can make visible by scientific means. Then we have up to the 50th octave a still more remarkable type of energy known as the X-Ray, which is familiar to most of you. This we shall also demonstrate tonight.

The first type of this phenomenon will be for the purpose of proving that we can make the invisible, visible. We know we can make the invisible wave, visible in this region between sound and light because that has been done with wireless telegraphy. The method by which all these experiments are done is the method which we know as frequency transformation. In other words, we can take in these vibrations of different frequency and put them through certain apparatus, lowering their frequency into the realm which appears to us as sound, or raising their frequencies in order to make them visible as light. We have here an apparatus for producing currents of very high frequency. Strictly speaking, they are not electric currents, they are electric charges vibrating with inconceivable rapidity and producing currents of extremely high voltage. In dealing with these, we have to readjust our ideas of electricity because they do things which an ordinary current will not do. They pass through glass, rubber, etc., and do not need a circuit. They defy all laws of electricity. They do not injure the human body. In fact, they are known as the greatest vitalizing agents that we have in medical work."

Doctor Strong then proceeded to perform a series of experiments, many of them being very beautiful and spectacular. To show that considerable energy can be transmitted through the body without injury by means of high frequency currents, iron wire was heated to fusion, and cotton was ignited by electric discharge passed through the glass and body. Also vacuum tubes were caused to glow with the current which passed thru the bodies of three students from the audience.

Invisible vibrations were transformed to the range of the visible by many experimental devices, the various luminous discharges in vacuum tubes showing the effect of different pressures upon the discharges, a wide variety of colors produced by discharges through Geissler tubes of different designs and materials.

Dr. Strong spoke briefly on the use of high frequency discharge in producing ozone and nitrate to be used as fertilizers, explosives, etc., from the air. He demonstrated a special arc between iron electrodes by which he produced strong Ultra Violet radiations. The transformation of the invisible Ultra Violet rays to visible was shown in a very spectacular manner by a special apparatus, using quinine and fluorescence solutions. Next followed striking X-Ray demonstrations with illustrations of their use in locating metal objects imbedded in the body.

The lecture was concluded by a very spectacular demonstration of the discharge from large resonators constructed by Doctor Strong.

LECTURES ON INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Mr. W. T. Colyer of London, England, spoke most interestingly last Monday evening in the hall of the Newton Library on "The Union of Democratic Control" in England, and answered many questions as to the situation in England. An interesting discussion followed. Next Monday evening it is expected that a Chinese student who is doing post graduate work at Harvard, will speak on China and her World Relations.

The study class on "International Relations of Newton Highlands" have secured Dr. George Nasmyth who spoke so brilliantly in Newton several times, to speak to them in the hall of the Hyde School, Newton Highlands, Wednesday evening, April 12, 8 P. M., on "Why I believe in a League to Enforce Peace"; and again on the following Tuesday evening, same hour and place on the subject, "War and Evolution."

MAJESTIC THEATRE—But one more week remains of the engagement of William Hodge in his latest success, "Fixing Sister," in which play he has been playing to capacity business at the Majestic Theatre for many weeks. This piece, which is a four-act comedy drama of New York society life, has proven one of the most entertaining that the unique Hodge has presented for some time. Mr. Hodge as John Otis, a successful American business man, has proven truly delightful in his realistic portrayal of this character. Otis is a typical American gentleman, who possesses a fund of quaint wit, native shrewdness and self-possession. He journeys from his Missouri home to New York City, in order to save his foolish, extravagant and society loving sister from her folly. She is in the toils of two foreign fortune hunters who are endeavoring to swindle her out of her fortune with the tempting bait of a title (which in reality they do not possess). Otis enters the social whirl with the ease of a veteran and succeeds in saving not only sister, but the girl he loves.

LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

By W. R. Rathvon of Denver, Col., One of Its Authorized Expounders

A large audience filled Players' hall last evening and indicated their interest in the subject of Christian Science by the close attention with which they followed the speaker. He was introduced by Mr. William F. Ferrin, first reader of the Newton Christian Science Church, as follows:

"For generations the thinking people of the world have been looking and praying for something to come into their lives that would solve their problems, something to make them happy, healthy and harmonious. Because of this universal desire for good, Christian Science has come to this age with the divine message of love, awakening thought and healing mankind mentally, morally and physically. Thru the wisdom of Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, the Board of Lectureship was established, one of the many avenues whereby some knowledge of this great truth may be gained; it is now my privilege and pleasure to present to you one who is well qualified to speak to you on the subject, William R. Rathvon, C. S. B., of Denver, Col., a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston."

Mr. Rathvon said:—

One thing that all men have in common is their desire for happiness, but they differ widely in their beliefs about what will bring happiness to them.

The rich man who is sick, believes that health will bring him happiness; the poor man who is well believes that if he had riches he would be happy; the discontented man who has both health and wealth believes that if he only had something else, he would be happy, and so it goes the world over. What all are seeking, few are finding.

It follows that a universal demand is met when the world is offered that which will bring enduring happiness to all, to the rich and the poor, the strong and the weak, the high and the low. And this is just what Christian Science is doing. It is not surprising then, that it is attracting to its ranks all classes of men from every condition of life, for it comes with a message of good tidings of great joy to every one, a message of happiness for the man who is ill and the man who is well; for the man who mourns and for the man who rejoices; for the man who fails and for the man who succeeds. Indeed, there is no condition or circumstance in human affairs but may be bettered by a right application of the teachings of Christian Science.

Now it is not the purpose of this lecture to enumerate the achievements of Christian Science. They are written in the lives of men. Rather is it to set forth as simply as may be, some of the vital elements of Christian Science and incidentally the part that right thinking takes in its activities. You will be told something about the origin of Christian Science and its relation to the Bible, that sacred guide to right thinking. Somewhat will be said about Christian Science healing; about the right understanding of God as imparted in the Scriptures; about the nature and efficacy of prayer; and also about such other phases of right thinking as are essential to man's health, happiness and salvation.

No lecture, however, is to be regarded as a complete exposition of the whole of Christian Science. It can but deal with some of the essential teachings and leave the listener free to accept or reject them as he likes, while directing him for his further enlightenment to the text book of Christian Science, the book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.

In that book he will quickly discover that will-power has no place in Christian Science healing, and that no relationship whatever exists between Christian Science and hypnotism, mesmerism, auto-suggestion, spiritualism, thought transference, telepathy, occultism, new thought, mental science, or any of the cults or schools that rely wholly or in part upon the influence of one human mind and human will upon another. Christian Science acknowledges and admits the existence of but one Mind and this Mind is God, the source of all good in man and in the universe.

Indeed, Christian Science subjugates the human will so that one turns naturally and confidently to God as a little child turns to his father for guidance, protection and help in every time of need. It is no infrequent thing to find that the loving, trustful thought of the little child will heal in Christian Science, where the human will can accomplish nothing. It is often the simplicity of the child thought that is needed after the wisdom of maturity has done all it can.

FOUNDED UPON THE BIBLE.

To be healed in Christian Science, one does not have to understand it. Infidels frequently have been healed by it, but if one would understand it or apply it for himself he must believe in the Bible, for from first to last, from beginning to end Christian Science is founded upon the Bible of our forefathers.

Besides the Bible there is but one other text book of Christian Science, the book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, and this book I would commend to every one who would learn for himself at first hand the teachings and practices of Christian Science. A copy may be obtained through any Christian Scientist. How comprehensive and inclusive is that book may be seen when I name to you the headings of some of its chapters, as follows: Prayer; Atonement and Eucharist; Marriage; Christian Science versus Spiritualism; Animal Magnetism Unmasked; Science, Theology, Medicine; Physiology; Footsteps of Truth; Creation; Science of Being; Some Objections Answered; Christian Science Practice; Teaching Christian Science; Recapitulation.

All of Christian Science is contained in that book, and whatever I may here give of some of its teachings is but a small part of what is far better expressed in the book itself.

It is perhaps unnecessary to inform this audience that the discoverer and founder of Christian Science was a woman, Mary Baker Eddy. You may know, too, that for years she labored alone and unassisted—but always undaunted and undismayed—offering to an unbelieving world that which she knew from the first would ultimately bless all mankind, healing the sick, and reforming the sinner.

You may know, too, that at the time of life when most women are enjoying the well-earned fruitage of earlier years, the blessings of home, family and friends, she was deprived of them. Instead, she endured the jeers of the incredulous, the sting of cheap wit, and the anathemas of the bigoted.

Like most great thinkers, Mrs. Eddy lived in a world all her own, and while she was alertly interested in the more important of the world's daily occurrences, her thought was ever turning from the things about us to the things beyond us, from the things that are seen to the things that are not seen. And although she was always considerate of the comfort and well-being of those around her—no mother could be more loving and thoughtful—yet Mrs. Eddy's closest companions were ever her own thoughts, which, when expressed in words, disclosed how steadfastly and continuously she dwelt in "the secret place of the Most High."

A Religion of Works

When the man who is healed in Christian Science, recognizes that he has been restored to him the blessings of health and happiness, usefulness and ability, those valued things that were so sorely threatened, he is almost overwhelmed by a surge of emotions. Amazement, curiosity, and a desire to understand are uppermost. "What has done this wonderful thing, and how can I get hold of it?" are the insistent questions he propounds; "I want this marvelous power to help others; I know so many people that need it badly, and I want to talk to them by the hour," he earnestly declares.

This zeal is natural and commendable, but unless it is tempered with wisdom, it may be harmful, rather than helpful, for Christian Science is not a religion of words but of works. To talk Christian Science enthusiastically and indiscriminately without having lived it persistently, is to invite opposition where we had hoped for acceptance. It often produces prejudice instead of support, incredulity instead of belief. More good can be done by ten minutes of right thinking than by hours of talking to those who do not care to hear.

One who by virtue of his wide learning and keen intellect was qualified to speak upon the subject, once said referring to the natural sciences, art and literature, "In science you must not talk until you know; in art, you must not talk until you do; in literature you must not talk until you think." In Christian Science, it may well be said that we are wise if we do not talk until we know, and do, and think; know the Principle of Christian Science, do what it teaches, and think that we are about to say, to right and how, and when, and where. If we follow this simple rule we will not talk too little; if we ignore it we may well talk too much.

WHAT IS IT THAT HEALS?

Answering then the eager question that is uppermost in the mind of the man who is investigating Christian Science, the question, "What is it that heals in Christian Science?" "What is it that does the healing?" let us explain to him that it is the same divine power and influence that healed the sick in the days of Jesus of Nazareth, and for two thousand years afterwards; the same divine power and influence that were used by the prophets of old, and which are as vital today, by every sincere man and woman who ever have been, for they are of God and He is the same yesterday, today and forever.

It is not the power of the human mind that heals in Christian Science, but the power of the divine Mind—God Himself.

The word "mind" as used in Christian Science, has a two-fold application. When used in its highest sense it always means God, unchanging and when so used, our literature is always capitalized. This marks it clearly and differentiates it from the word "mind" as ordinarily used, as when one would speak of the mind of man, the human mind and the like.

Christian Science is showing that the human mind, or as it is called in Christian Science, mortal mind, is at the bottom of nearly all of man's troubles. St. Paul called it "the carnal mind," and said it is "enmity against God," that is, opposed to everything good. It is he held accountable for every discordant condition of the human body. It holds its subjects in a grip of iron, and sickness, pain, sorrow, want and misery are its results. It is misleading, blundering, often malicious and always ignorant of God. It is a dictator, a tyrant, a despot, and the human body is its obedient servant.

Yet this mortal mind may be stripped of all its assumed power, and arrogance, and aggressiveness and reduced to nothingness.

Christian Science offers release from the dominant and malignant control of man by mortal mind and this release it effects by teaching men to know God, Jesus was the greatest teacher the world has ever known and he was continually teaching men to know God as He is, and not as they had mistakenly believed Him to be.

Today as in Jesus' time a right understanding of God is the supreme need of every man who would for himself work out his own salvation and would for himself master sin, disease, pain, want, harmful habit or any of the things that mortal mind is continually trying to fasten upon humanity. The average Christian man of today thinks less of God and knows less about God than he does about his business, his work or his automobile. Yet there is nothing in the whole range of human experience that is more essential to man's welfare here and hereafter than this same knowledge of God.

All people who would be regarded as Christians believe in God, yet how few understand Him. The text-book of Christian Science (page 203) declares truly that "If God were understood instead of being merely believed, this understanding would establish health." Does this seem like an extravagant statement? Compare it then with the words of Jesus on the same subject where in John 17:3, we are told that to know God "is life eternal." Can you conceive of a vital fact put in stronger words?

When the despondent invalid recognizes that God never made a man sick nor a sick man; that on the contrary He has given to man unbroken health; that sickness is an imposition of mortal mind and is illegitimate, abnormal, unrighteous, without divine law, recognition, or sanction, he is then ready to turn to divine Mind, God Himself, "Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases." (Ps. 103:3)

Jesus by precept and example was continually lifting men's thoughts above their inherited and imitative beliefs about God as a man-like being with form and body, subject to wrath, favoritism, changeableness and other human characteristics. Instead, he revealed God to be infinite good, the same yesterday, today and forever and in no way resembling erring, finite man.

Right Understanding of God

Jesus the Christ, by virtue of his divine sonship, taught that God is not only loving, but that He is Love; that He is not only spiritual, but that He is Spirit, in whom we live and move and have our being. Can you conceive of infinite Spirit or infinite Love, having a form or body or subject to the personal limitations of time and place and circumstance?

Christian Science ever following the teachings of Jesus, shows that God is Love; that God is Spirit; that He is Mind; that He is Truth; that He is Life; that God is the infinite Principle of being, operating through unchanging laws, laws that are always comprehensible and always beneficent; that He is omniscience, omnipotence, omnipresence.

Do these definitions of God quickly appeal to the individual who has always thought of God as a finite personage, a magnified man? Perhaps not. But let us propose as an aid towards a fuller comprehension, that he choose from among these definitions the one which most nearly approaches his highest conception of good, and let his thought dwell upon that. A man's highest idea of God can be no higher than his highest conceptions of good, but they should always be that high, for God is infinite, unchanging good.

It might appear presumptuous in me here to attempt an adequate exposition of the full teachings of Christian Science about God as Scripturally defined. I would, instead, refer you to our text book where you will find them all fully set forth and lucidly expounded. But I feel I may with propriety briefly refer to that concept of God, which so universally meets man's direct need in his darkest hours of trial and tribulation, the concept of God as infinite Love, which the Scriptures impart and which Christian Science emphasizes.

If the thought of God as Love, ever blessing, never condemning; ever healing, never afflicting; ever protecting, and never neglecting; including all mankind in His fatherly care and infinite affection; if this thought of God comes to you with tender appeal, hold fast to it and cherish it. It will unfold and enlarge and develop, and gradually lead you to yet broader, fuller knowledge of Him as Love divine.

And can you conceive of anything that is so sorely needed today, in our churches and out of them, than more of that same Love? Anything that will so quickly check man's inhumanity to man, that today is making "countless thousands mourn?"

And with that concept of God as Love divine, which Christian Science imparts, comes also the concept of Him as Father, our Father, your Father and mine. Have you ever considered the debt of gratitude we owe to Jesus for disclosing to us our true relationship to God, as he did on a number of occasions, one of which was when he began his prayer with the words "Our Father?"

Have you ever thought what Jesus intended us to gather from those words "Our Father?" Summon to your thought if you will an instance of perfect human relationship between an ideal child and an ideal father, and what do you find? How does that child regard his father? What does he gain from having such a father? What does "father" stand for to him? Does it mean merely a big man? No, "father" to him stands for things that cannot be measured by material or physical standards.

Among other things it stands to him for wisdom; for he has learned that there is nothing he might need to know that his father cannot explain to him. He goes to his father with everything that puzzles, baffles or annoys him and he never goes in vain, for in a few moments his troubles are all cleared away.

Father stands to him for love. He loves his father devotedly because he has proofs every hour in the day how greatly his father loves him. It stands to him for power. He cannot imagine a thing his father cannot do. His strength and ability are far and away beyond his childish comprehension.

Father also stands to him for protection. He is never afraid of anything when he holds his father's hand, the hand that has lifted him out of danger so often that he always feels secure when he reaches up and finds it waiting his grasp.

He trusts his father wholeheartedly, without doubting or questioning. He learns self reliance through trying to do for others what he has seen his father do for him. If he had his way he never would be separated from his father for one moment, for the little one's highest conception of joy is unbroken companionship with his father.

Now my friends if you will take this crude sketch of ideal human relationship between father and child and magnify it a thousand times, aye, multiply it by infinity and divinity, you may comprehend a little of what Jesus would have us know and feel about God as our heavenly Father.

It is said that one of the four great religions of the world, numerically speaking, has ninety-nine different names for God and not one of them is "Our Father." Need we wonder that the Mohammedan is a fatalist? It remained for the religion of Jesus to offer to its four hundred and seventy-seven millions of followers the concept of God as "Father."

Here let it be said, and we say it in all humility, that among all forms of the Christian religion, the Christian Science church is the only one that in its praying associates the mother's tender love and watchful care, with the Father's infinite wisdom, protection and power. It is the only church that prays, "Our Father-Mother God."

You may ask how am I to know and understand God? How am I to know that God is always loving, always protecting, always guiding and sustaining those who trust him wholeheartedly? There is a simple way, my friends; the same simple way in which you have learned what you know about other things, that is by trial, by the test of personal experience, the test that changes belief into knowledge.

You do not merely believe that fire burns, you know it because you have tested it. Ten thousand men might tell you that fire is cold and dark, but against all their allegations stands out your own experience. You know that fire gives light and heat, because you have proved it.

Now apply this same test of experience to what Christian Science teaches about God's impartial and universal goodness, and power and love. But you must not do it in a half hearted way if you would get results. You must first lay aside your own ideas of what God should do and should not do. You must get yourself out of God's way. You will do well to start with these words of the Scripture in your thought, "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths." (Proverbs 3:5, 6)

Christian Science places in the hands of every one the means of gathering the fruits of trusting in God and thereby proving the words of the prophet Isaiah, when he spoke to God as a son might speak to his father whose goodness he had proved, "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee." (Isaiah 26:3)

Have you ever considered my friends, how different might have been the darkened and troubled passages of your lives if they had been illumined by that perfect peace that comes from trusting God, perfect Love?

RIGHT THINKING.

There is a sentence in the text book of Christian Science, which tells us "that all causation is Mind." (Science and Health 417-13) This being true it follows that a thought of some kind is the foundation, the starting point of every action and that right habits of thinking lead to right habits of living.

Christian Science being a religion of right thinking, is necessarily a religion of right living. It is a religion of results, of achievements, of construction. In spiritual upbuilding, right motive as well as right action is essential.

It is a fact which any Bible student may verify for himself that Jesus formed his estimates from motives. (Christian Healing page 7) So in Christian Science it is not only the good we succeed in doing but also the good we persistently try to do that brings growth.

Every worthy endeavor is the outcome of worthy thought. And conversely the same may be said of evil thoughts and evil deeds, for a thought of some kind underlies every action, good, bad or indifferent. Hence, the need for alertly guarding our thoughts, allowing only those to remain with us that will work for the enduring, the good and the true.

Every word that a man has ever said, idle word or pregnant word, every deed he has ever done, shameful deed or worthy deed, has sprung from the little seed of a thought.

It is laying at the feet of God the large part that has occurred in determining the effect of occurrences. The self-willed man still tries to control events and circumstances to suit himself, but the wise man is learning to control himself, through right thinking, so that men's actions or adverse circumstances cannot affect him.

The man who is miserable or disheartened generally thinks he is so because of something that has taken place in his life when in reality his condition is due not so much to the thing that has occurred as to how he has handled it, what his thought is about it. Just as in a ball game, a hard drive may send the ball flying into the outfield but if the man there handles it rightly the hit may amount to very little. But if it is fumbled it may result in the loss of the game. The hit is the same in both cases, but its results are determined by the way it is handled.

So it is in the things that occur in everyday life. A man is made miserable not merely by what comes to him, but how he handles it, what his thought is about it, what he thinks about it.

Much of the trouble that weighs men down, that makes them old before their time, that invites disease, is due to their carrying along in their recollection some regrettable thing, some deplorable circumstance long after the thing itself has passed and should be buried in forgetfulness. Christian Science teaches the art of forgetting the things that are evil and remembering the things that are good. And it is the art of forgetting evil, for you know how it reaches out and clutches at your thought and forces itself upon you at every opportunity. Yet, nothing but evil can come from thinking of evil and there is no surer way of expelling evil from our lives than to follow the words of the Founder of Christian Science, "Keep your minds so filled with Truth and Love, that sin, disease, and death cannot enter them." (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany, P. 210)

God's promise, "I will take sickness away from the midst of thee" (Exodus 23:25) was not made merely for the past or for the future, but for the present.

If one would know in what direction his thinking may be most profitable he need but recall the words of that exponent of right thinking, Paul of Tarsus, "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." (Phil. 4:8)

Christian Science through the right thinking that leads to right doing, affords to each one the means of bringing into his day just the brightness, progress and abundance of good that he needs and longs for.

PRAYER.

To rule the day wisely, justly, beneficently, we must begin it rightly. Christian Science is showing men and women in every walk of life that there is no better way of beginning each day than to start it with a prayer.

"And what is prayer in Christian Science?" it may be asked. "Is it anything more than beseeching God earnestly and sincerely to do that thing for us that we would greatly like to see done?" It is vastly more. Prayer in Christian Science is not an affair of words but of living; not of eloquence, but of character. It is not the man who in public begs the loudest or the longest or with the greatest fluency, whose prayers are answered. Years ago, long before Christian Science was given to the world, a devoted Christian man, well known and beloved on both continents, in speaking of public prayer, said, "The things which men most admire in public prayer are the things that God least regards."

Prayer in Christian Science is based upon the Scriptural assurance that God has given all good to every one of His children, hence we must do more than merely beg and beseech Him to favor us. We must study to know His laws and then do our best to live in accord with them. Can you not see what a small part a multiplicity of words or "vain repetitions" has to do with such knowledge? What a small part begging has to do with it?

Briefly to consider what constitutes prayer in Christian Science, let us take a few extracts from its text book, Science and Health.

On the fourth page of the remarkable chapter on "Prayer," Mrs. Eddy uses these words:

"The habitual struggle to be always good is unceasing prayer."

"What we most need is the prayer of fervent desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love, and good deeds."

And again on page 15: "Self-forgetfulness, purity, and affection are constant prayers."

Indeed, this whole chapter is such a complete and comprehensive exposition of true prayer that the few extracts I have repeated can only serve as a glimpse of its helpfulness.

In Christian Science there are no formal prayers for special occasions. It has no prayer book. The Lord's Prayer is repeated in unison at all Christian Science services, and it is invariably preceded by a few moments of silent prayer by the congregation.

Besides this, there is one short prayer recommended for daily use. So simple is it, yet so reverent in its phraseology; so direct, yet so universal in its inclusions; so free from every suggestion of sect or doctrine, is it, that it can be used unreservedly by any sincere man or woman of any church or of no church. Here it is as Mrs. Eddy has given it to us:

"Thy kingdom come," let the reign of divine Truth, Life, and Love be established in me, and rule out of me all sin; and may Thy Word enrich the affections of all mankind, and govern them!" (Manual Art. VIII Sec. 4)

The day that is begun with this prayer or any other equally unselfish and uplifting, is sure to be a better, happier, healthier, and holier day because of it.

Healing in Christian Science is always by means of prayer. The word generally used is "treatment," but it is always to be understood that a Christian Science treatment is a prayer, and just in the proportion that it is a righteous prayer, does it heal the sick and reform the sinner. It is not the prayer of supplication, but of realization; it is not merely asking God to do something for us, but knowing that He has already done the good thing desired. It is the prayer in which gratitude is supplanting enmity, confidence is expelling doubt, and perfect love is casting out fear. It is laying at the feet of God the "heart's sincere desire, uttered or unexpressed," and then patiently listening for His "Go in peace." It is the prayer of rejoicing, of conquest, of humility, of unselfish love.

GRATITUDE VERSUS DISCOURAGEMENT.

There is one other prayer that should ever be in the heart of man, the prayer of thankfulness, the prayer of gratitude. The Bible tells us to pray without ceasing and in everything to give thanks. Christian Science is showing that true gratitude, the gratitude that is expressed in deed as well as in thought and word is more than a mere Christian grace, it is a Christian necessity. Not that God needs our gratitude, but we need to give it to Him. Gratitude takes our thought from getting to giving, and he who gives good gets good.

Perhaps you may find it difficult to be grateful to God. Many people do. Let me tell you how to make it easy. Whatever of good comes to you, be it little or great, think of it as coming to you direct from God. For everything that brings to you quiet joy or peace, or true delight, be it merely the smile on the face of a child, or the fragrance of a flower, or the daily opening of the welcoming door of your home, or the nightly closing of your eyes in sleep; be it some worthy action well done, or the timely lift of a friendly hand; be it song or sermon; beauty, art, or science; for every good that comes to you, let some thought of gratitude to God ring through the innermost chambers of your heart of hearts. Do this faithfully and soon you will be doing it easily and soon, too, you will find yourself so frequently in the sweet company of happiness that life will seem to be beginning anew. And it will be the beginning of new things, for gratitude is one of the gateways through which God's blessings enter men's lives. If we keep it shut, need we wonder why more of good does not come to us?

The man who is ill, the man who is unfortunate, the man who is afflicted, the man who has not that which he needs, if he wonders why, will do well to ask himself often, "Am I grateful enough for what I already have?" And the man who is discouraged! Ah, my friends, the discouraged man has but to invite gratitude into his consciousness to see discouragement vanish like darkness before the undimmed sun. And here let it be said that there is not one man on this green earth today, but who can find something for which to be grateful to God, if he will but hunt for it honestly and earnestly.

Christian Science is tearing the mask from the gloomy face of discouragement and is exposing it in its true colors. It may be truly said that one people out of ten submit to discouragement without resistance, because they do not know any better. They do not know that it is a mental intruder, a moral nuisance that should never be tolerated but always shunned as one would shun infectious disease.

It is bad because it is full of deceit. It tricks a man into believing he is a failure, when success may be waiting for him just around the corner. It deludes him until he sees things crooked and believes things about himself and others that he knows are not true. It robs him of his courage, strips him of his ability and mumbles into his ears the awful lie that God has forgotten him.

Discouragement is dangerous because it invites and develops those evil thoughts that later may be manifested in evil things, the most common of which is disease in its varied forms.

Perhaps, I may bring this more forcibly before you by relating a little fable, a bit of folk lore, so simple that a child may understand it, but which illustrates the point I would bring to your notice, that discouragement is an active agency of evil, but which could accomplish nothing if gratitude were given its rightful place in your thought.

It is a story told of that mythical, unreal character, commonly known as the devil, that notorious figment of the imagination, invented ages ago by men who mistakenly believed that to personalize evil was the only way to make it feared and shunned.

The other party in the story is an old farmer, who traveling in a strange land, came across an odd-looking building unlike anything he had ever seen. He entered and found it was a warehouse in which were kept the seeds of those evil thoughts that spring up in a man's heart whenever Satan gets busy planting. There he saw great piles of bags, each filled with the seeds of some evil thought. One pile was marked malice, another envy, another jealousy, another hatred, another deceit, another sensuousness, another hypocrisy, another cruelty, another revenge—vice in every form. Apart from the rest was a pile very much larger than all the others and strange to say it was marked "discouragement."

While the farmer was wondering about this, as the story goes, the devil himself came along, and so the farmer questioned him and said, "How is it that you have so much of discouragement here? I did not know that belonged to you." The devil grinned, "Not many people do know that it belongs to me," he said, "and I do not propose that they shall. But I use more of that than any of the other seeds you see here. Most people when they discover these other seeds springing up in their mental gardens know that I have done the sowing and they pull them up for that reason. In such cases I only need to plant a little bit of discouragement and that changes things considerably. For discouragement will grow everywhere, it springs up quickly and hides and conceals and keeps out of sight these other things until they are strong enough to stand alone. And it is such a harmless looking weed that very few people suspect that I have anything to do with it, so they take no pains to pull it up."

After this long speech of the devil's the farmer thought a moment and then he said, "You say discouragement will grow everywhere. Will it grow everywhere?" The devil frowned, "Why, no," he said, "there is one place where I never could get discouragement to grow." "Where is that?" asked the farmer. "Why, that," said the devil, "is in the heart of a grateful man!"

So, my friends, whenever you see the dark and heavy leaves of discouragement growing in your mental garden, just remember that underneath them, just out of your sight and unsuspected by you, may be reaching out the roots of those evil thoughts that grip and dwarf and sap a man's very character. Pull them up! Uproot them! Or, better yet, let your heart be so filled with gratitude to God that discouragement can find no foothold.

Do you remember what an inspiring example was set for us in that direction by Jesus, when he began his prayer with the words, "Father, I thank thee." And if ever the sower of evil seeds tempts you to believe that you have little to be thankful for, consider the many things you have this very day that you would not want to do without and then not how few of them were possessed by him who in speaking of himself said, "The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head." And yet he prayed "Father, I thank thee."

The Bible tells us that the prayer of faith shall save the sick. What may we not expect then of the prayer in which there is not only the abundance of faith but also of understanding, of that essential knowledge of God, of wisdom, of gratitude, of unselfed love? And every Christian Science treatment that is made up of these elements of righteousness, as every Christian Science treatment should be made up, heals the sick and the sinning and comforts the sorrowing, and with it comes a consciousness of God's protecting care and infinite affection, a consciousness that leads to higher aspirations and purer desires, that makes men and women want to be better and want to know how to be better, that they may share in God's infinite mercy and justice and love.

EDITORIAL

In the death of Mr. Charles W. Ross, the city of Newton has lost a faithful and efficient official as well as one of its most useful citizens. For nearly a quarter of a century, Mr. Ross had charge of such large public improvements as the widening of Washington street, the building of Commonwealth avenue, the construction of our sewer system, and the building and maintenance of our many miles of streets. In this line of work Mr. Ross enjoyed an enviable reputation not only in the state but in the nation and was recognized as one of the best road builders in the country. Mr. Ross was deeply sympathetic in his nature. He loved his family and friends with unselfish devotion. He was always ready to lend a helping hand, yet his many acts of charity were always done as secretly and modestly as possible. Always cheerful, always sympathetic, always tactful, Mr. Ross will be deeply mourned by his many friends to whom his presence has been an inspiration as well as a pleasure.

Alderman Price will have the endorsement of the whole community in his efforts to control the matter of erection of undesirable structures on all our street corners, but while we can sympathize with the situation, it is quite another thing to enact effective legislation. The right of the aldermen to pass ordinances regulating building construction is based on two facts—the prevention of fire and the safety to human life. An owner complies with those requirements he can build almost anything on his land, so far as the city authorities are concerned. It is a problem which will have to be worked out thoroughly and carefully and with a feeling that but little can be done under all the circumstances.

The request of the school committee for $5000 additional appropriation together with the amount asked for in the annual budget indicates most clearly that the so-called "gentlemen's agreement" of 1914, which sought to limit the increase in appropriations for 1915-1916 and 1917 to the increase in number of pupils, has been gently and finally buried in records of the past.

The appropriation to pay the rent of headquarters for Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., will be approved by the entire city. It will relieve the veterans of the Civil War from quite an expense and allow them to use the money saved in relief work.

It is a trifle hard for an outsider to understand the reasons for legislative objections to the erection of a temporary building for the Sunday meeting to be held next fall in Boston.

DEATH OF MR. RANSON

Edward M. Ranson, Civil War veteran and for many years employed in the Secretary of State's office at the State House, died Tuesday morning at his home, 124 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville. He was born in New Utrecht, N. Y., 75 years ago, and at the outbreak of the Civil War enlisted in the 13th Massachusetts Infantry. At the end of his enlistment he served until the end of the war in the Quartermaster's Department at Washington. He resided for many years in Wakefield, where he was a member of the local G. A. R. Post. For a period of 15 years he was employed in the Secretary of State's office, retiring in 1904.

He is survived by a widow, who was Miss Fanny F. Culley of Fitchburg, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles Whittemore of 73 Summit street, Newton. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at his late residence on Newtonville avenue. An impressive service was conducted at 2 o'clock by Rev. John Goddard, pastor of the Church of the New Jerusalem. The sacred selections "Oh Paradise" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" were rendered by a quartet.

The body was cremated at Mt. Auburn, and the ashes will be taken to Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn.

NEWTON CLUB NOTES

Bowling in the Newton Club has never been so popular as during the past year. The alleys were opened on September 11 and up to last Saturday 20,002 strings have been rolled. Of these 4211 were rolled by the ladies. A weekly report is kept showing the number of strings rolled daily.

Eighteen teams in the men's and eight teams in the ladies' winter Boston pin tournament are competing for first and second place. These tournaments finish the first week in May, after which there will be a roll-off between the winning men's and ladies' teams. On that night the prizes will be awarded. Frederick Toole, the club's prize buyer, has already selected them, and not in the history of the club has there been such a fine assortment of prizes.

Among the men W. M. L. McAdams has rolled the highest single string for the year, his score being 160.

Mrs. Lyman Snow has rolled 130, the highest ladies' string.

George Cox has the high three string total, 424, that being the club record.

On Saturday, April 22, Paul Poehler, the champion professional cannie pin bowler of New England and Mr. Baker, the champion amateur Boston pin roller, will roll a match of 10 consecutive strings of Boston pins, on the club's alleys. The contest will be one of the best bowling matches held anywhere, as it is the first time these men have competed against each other. Members of the club are anxiously waiting for the night. The committee congratulates the club on its being able to get these men to agree to roll.

On February 12, Billy Ganley and Arthur Bryant opened the new squash racquet courts. Since that time the courts have been very busy and are proving to be one of the best departments in the club.

Between 40 and 50 members are regularly playing and each week sees a few new ones starting. Twenty-seven new lockers were installed last week in addition to those already on hand. Mr. Ganley, who recently played Jack Soutar, of Philadelphia, for the National Professional championship, states that the Newton Club has two of the best squash courts in the country.

At the present time a squash bumping tournament is going on. The men are divided in three classes and many of them are learning the game fast. It is expected a team from the Newton Club will be entered next fall in the Massachusetts Squash Racquet League.

The outlook for tennis this year is very bright. With the new locker room and shower baths, the Newton Club's courts will not be excelled for convenience by any club around Boston. A new wire fence, ten feet high, is to be built surrounding the two courts. The matter of lighting one of the courts by electricity for night playing is being considered, but has not been fully decided upon.

BRAE BURN CLUB

A very noteworthy function for charity was the Auction Bridge and tea on Wednesday afternoon in the new Tea Room, by the West Newton Woman's War Relief, for the benefit of the Allies' Hospital and the French Hospital.

There were 280 guests representing the charitably inclined members of Newton society and the game was at 70 tables.

Unique souvenirs which were made by the French soldiers in the trenches were presented to those holding the highest scores. There were two rings of aluminum which was taken from an exploded shell; one had a gold crown from the bruiser of a Prussian officer, who was a French prisoner; the other had a Russian eagle made of gold, which was taken from a German soldier, who had taken it from a Prussian. There were also a paper-cutter made from parts of ammunition, and two lace collars, one made by a Belgian refugee, and one by a French refugee, and little bags made out of kid.

The winners were Mrs. Scripture, Mrs. Montague, Mrs. Lovell, Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Sherman, Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Howland.

At the close of the game tea was served by the ladies of the War Relief and this charming affair was not only a great financial success but most pleasurable for all who attended.

Mrs. S. Harold Greene of Newton Centre will give a dancing party on Monday evening from seven until ten in the new tea room.

The Men's League of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church gave a dinner Thursday evening at the Club. There were fifty guests present.

There will be a Club Dinner Dance on Saturday evening, April 29th. The subscription dance which was scheduled for the 21st has been cancelled. The Newton Centre Woman's Club gave a luncheon on Thursday. Covers were laid for 125.

Mr. Robert Pitt has returned from a trip to South America and is a guest for a short stay at the Club.

The Third Annual Luncheon of the Newton Equal Suffrage League will be held Monday at one o'clock. Miss Mary C. McDowell, Head of the Federation of Settlements, president of the Chicago Woman's City Club and associated with Miss Jane Addams at Hull House, will speak on "Civil Standards and Human Welfare."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Stebbins and Miss Dorothy Stebbins of Newton will pass the remainder of the season at Brae Burn.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the chapel at the Newton Cemetery.

POVERTY PARTY

The big social event of the week in Newtonville, was the Poverty Party on Thursday evening at the Newton Club.

About 80 guests arrayed in all sorts of freakish costumes, assembled in the hall at 8 o'clock, and merriment reigned supreme for three solid hours. There were intermissions to the dances in which the ladies had an opportunity to admire the beauty of each other's gowns, and some were in rags and some in calico, and others who were lacking in courage appeared in ordinary evening clothes.

Mrs. Walter H. Marsh was resplendent in an old fashioned gown with ruffled waist, white stockings and shoes laced with green ribbons. The gown was made with a polonaise and red underskirt and she wore a big black hat. She was so unbecomingly arrayed that she was the cynosure of all eyes, and had there been a prize offered she certainly would have won it.

Mrs. Hubert G. Ripley was a charming figure in a yellow waist and an old figured pink skirt, yellow stockings and a wonderful hat of brown and yellow.

Mrs. Fred E. Mann, made a great sensation as an old fashioned lady with a black and white gown draped coat and bonnet.

Mrs. John W. Byers was gorgeous in an old time silken gown and her hat was a dream of up-to-dateness, being the one she wore on her honeymoon trip.

Mrs. Nash of Auburndale was the admired of the admired, in a white net polonaise, green skirt and plaid stockings and an amusing feature of her costume was the manner in which her waist was fastened in front, a row of safety pins serving the purpose of buttons.

Mrs. William Graham of West Newton was a "scream" in an old fashioned black dress full of "patches and darns", Jersey waist, and wore an immense Merry Widow hat which crowned her loveliness to perfection.

Mrs. Marshall of West Newton danced divinely in a bloomer suit red stockings and ankle watch which was the envy of all eyes. Her hair was tied with red ribbon bows, and she certainly did look "stunning."

Some of the gentlemen deserve special mention. Mr. Byers, for instance, made a hit in an old blue coat and white trousers and Mr. Fred E. Mann was the whole show in a Prince Albert cut-away, and "sporting" a big diamond shirt-stud.

Mrs. Bowers Brookline Orchestra was in attendance and furnished a delightful program of music. Among others present at this gay and festive occasion were, Dr. and Mrs. Harold O. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wein, Mr. and Mrs. Conant, Mr. and Mrs. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Hallett, Mr. and Mrs. Cryan, Mr. and Mrs. Collins of Newtonville, Dr. and Mrs. C. Arthur Boutelle, and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis of Newton Centre, Mr. and Mrs. William Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Norman P. Marshall of West Newton.

HUNNEWELL CLUB MUSICALS

A large audience attended the third and last of the series of musicals which was held Sunday afternoon in the Hunnewell Club.

Miss Vera Curtis, formerly of Newton, a member of the Metropolitan Opera Company and Mr. Alvin Schroeder, for many years first cellist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, presented a program of great musical merit which included selections by the noted composers Nevin, Bach, Schumann, Haydn, Martini and Haendel.

Miss Curtis warmly welcomed by her friends gave a performance, that from a musical or any other standpoint was truly delightful. Possessing a soprano voice of unusual beauty she combined with it intelligence and musical ability of a high order.

The varied program gave her an excellent opportunity to display her abilities. In the Russian songs especially, the "Song of India" by Rimsky-Korsakov she proves herself to be a perfect mistress of the art of singing.

The Tuscan Folk song gave much pleasure and she was obliged to repeat it while the "Fairy Pipers" was rendered with such elfin-like charm as to produce a spell which should have made the entire audience believe in fairies.

The last encore, "My Love He Comes on a Ski," which Miss Curtis used to sing when she dwelt amongst us, made an appropriate ending to the very enjoyable program. It was indeed a revelation, showing as it did, her wonderful progress in artistry during the past years, together with the development in power and beauty of her vocal organs, which is, just as fresh as it was when she left Newton. It would be unfair not to give more than a passing mention to Mr. Willis Alting, who accompanied Miss Curtis so splendidly. Mr. Alting is a New York organist, in the church where Miss Curtis is soprano soloist, and it is seldom that one hears such a perfect blending of voice and accompaniment.

Mr. Schroeder's playing is so well known that nothing can be added in the way of praise which has not already been said of him. Miss Alma Byrnes was the accompanist. The audience listened with rapt attention while the artist drew forth tones of such exquisite beauty as no other musician can produce from a "cello."

At the close of the concert tea was served in the dining-room. The ladies pouring were Mrs. Edwin Perkins Brown, Mrs. William F. Garcelon, Mrs. Samuel W. Bridges, Mrs. Philip Nichols, Mrs. Ralph Hall and Miss Mabel Riley.

Cut This Out.

Each year come many questions regarding the care and culture of sweet peas, but for terseness nothing could surpass the brief statement made by a very successful grower in England "Trench deeply, manure liberally plant thinly, stake quickly, water early and dispose promptly."

True Charity.

Do what you can—give what you have. Only stop not with feelings; carry your charity into deeds; do and give what costs you something.—J. H. Thom.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETS

have no doubt that you will find that the people who move out of Newton on account of factories do not trade here. We preserved our good section and you can yours. This year our tax rate goes down 80c largely on account of our industrial growth.

Another member of the Board said that there were plenty of sections in Upper Falls, Lower Falls and Nonantum that will never be residential sections and he believed that many new manufacturing concerns could be located there and thus add a large increase in revenue to the city.

No definite action was taken as to what the Board of Trade would do on the question, as the spirit of the meeting showed that those present were evenly divided on the subject.

Following the meeting a collation was served.

CO. C

Company C, 5th Infantry is preparing for a public drill on the evening of May first, complimentary to the gentlemen who assisted in making the military ball a success.

As the work taken up will show what is done in a day while at camp and the line of instruction taken up in preparation for field service, it is hoped that there will be a large attendance. The regimental commander, Lt. Col. Stover, will be present together with other officers of the 5th Infantry.

The indoor rifle competition is now on, and Company C is doing their best to win a trophy.

Former members of the Company are requested to send their names in to form a reserve, to be called on in case the company should recruit to war strength and it is hoped that at least 200 former members will respond.

There is still an opportunity for a few good men to join the Company, while it has full ranks, is liable to lose a few men on account of work being offered them in munition factories outside of the state.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Why is it that so many women say, "I don't care anything about the business," and make a point of always staying away from business meetings? The Club Editor is unable to answer the question, but it seems as if such women could not be vitally interested in the organization of which they are members. Differing motives lead women to join clubs—the social advantages to be gained, the fine list of speakers to be heard, in fact the many things which may be obtained from the organization, while the fact that one can put in something seldom enters into mind of the wood-bird club member. The fact remains that the one who puts in the most receives in return the most benefit. If this was realized more fully, there would be less difficulty in finding persons to take the responsible positions. During the next three weeks practically every club in Newton will hold its annual meeting. If all the members of each would only realize how exceedingly interesting these meetings are, there would not be places large enough in which to hold them. At this time, as at no other, is the work seen in its entirety, so that this particular meeting is the one which members can least well afford to miss. If you are a lukewarm member go and find it out this year.

The annual meeting of the State Federation will be held in Lynn on June 15 and 16 and the headquarters will be at the Ocean House, Swampscott. The time of the meeting is put late on account of the Biennial's coming at the end of May.

Newton Federation

The Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its annual meeting on Tuesday, May 2nd, at 10.30, in the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. The morning session will be devoted to the reports and election of officers. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock. Details concerning the afternoon's program will be announced later.

Local Announcements

The same group of girls in Newton Highlands, who gave the Newton Federation the May basket filled with money for the Dental Clinic last year, are to hold another May basket fair in Odd Fellows Hall on Saturday afternoon of this week. This time Twombly House will be the recipient of the proceeds.

At the next meeting of the Waban Woman's Club on April 17, to be held in the Union Church vestry Dr. John B. May will talk on "Our Neighbors among the Wild Flowers."

The Shakespeare Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet with Mrs. H. K. Burrison on Monday, April 17, at 2.30.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. H. B. Rogers of Charlesbank road, Newton, will entertain the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C.

Mrs. W. M. Mick of Parker street, Newton Centre, will be the hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club on April 17.

The Abundant Review Club will hold its annual meeting at the Brae Barn Country Club on Tuesday, April 18. Luncheon will be served at one, to which all former members of the club are invited, the exercises afterwards being a celebration of the club's Twenty-Fifth Anniversary.

On Tuesday at one o'clock the Newtonville Woman's Guild will hold its annual luncheon. The after-luncheon program will make reference to the Shakespeare Ter-Centenary and to the national holiday which falls on the next day. The annual business meeting will be held afterwards at the regular hour.

There will be no meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday owing to the holiday.

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will go to Wollaston on April 22 for its meeting, which will be held with Mrs. Durgin, one of the honorary members.

Local Happenings

On Saturday, April 8, Mrs. Harry N. Milliken entertained the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club at her home in Newton. The business meeting was held at eleven o'clock and the quiz was opened by Mrs. W. M. Mick before luncheon. The club voted a gift of $10 to the West Newton Music School. After the delicious luncheon provided by the hostess, a surprise awaited the members in the singing by girls of the Music School of choruses from Mendelssohn's Midsummer Night's Dream. Several selections from the club, including the Overture, Schezo and the Wedding March, were rendered by Mrs. Milliken upon the orchestra. Miss Alice Foley of the Music School sang a number of solos and Oberon's farewell speech was recited by Mrs. Milliken to musical accompaniment. Refreshments were served to the girls by the members and later there was afternoon tea before adjournment.

On Tuesday afternoon there was a very large attendance at the Guest Day of the Newton Highlands Monday Club. Mrs. Louis H. Marshall, the president extended "a thousand welcomes" to the assembled guests. Mrs. Harry N. Milliken, the special guest of the day, urged the attendance of the members at the annual meeting of the Federation. Mrs. Margaret Crandall Miller, a club member, who is an accomplished public reader, gave in a most pleasing way a number of selections, which were interspersed with delightful songs by Miss Bessie Talbot Salmon, soprano, the daughter of one of the members. Mr. J. Angus Winter, being at the piano. Mrs. Miller's selections were so varied and all so well done that it is difficult to single out any one. Her closing number, "The Minnet" was given in costume with musical accompaniment by Mrs. Florence L. B. Robbins. It is always a pleasure to listen to Miss Salmon's clear sweet voice and its power is constantly a source of surprise. At the close the guests were hospitably entertained during the social hour.

The lecture upon "Oriental Rugs" given before the Home Economics department of the Newtonville Woman's Guild was very much enjoyed on Tuesday afternoon by the large number who were present.

The Abundant Woman's Club enjoyed an afternoon of an unusually delightful sort on Tuesday, April 11, when Mr. MacGregor Jenkins, publisher of the Atlantic Monthly, spoke to them in the Congregational Chapel, on "The Making of a Magazine." The true inwardness of an editor's position in its varied aspects, comic as well as serious, was revealed to the club in a manner both diverting and enlightening, altho' Mr. Jenkins disarmed criticism by disclaiming in the beginning any serious purpose, he did not fail, in the end, to make the club members understand better what the making of a magazine really involves and why they should support those magazines whose purpose is not to cater to, but to serve the public. The lecture was followed by tea and a social hour, and ended the regular program of the season. At the business meeting preceding the lecture the appointment of Mrs. E. A. Robinson as auditor, and of Mrs. A. W. Lane as chairman of the Program Committee was announced.

On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club had an innovation in the shape of a play presented by an all-star cast under the direction of Mrs. Frederick J. Fawcett, who was chairman for the morning. The play, "An Unrepealed Law" is a dramatization of the Black Cat prize story by Pauline Carrington Dwyer, who was present at the performance, and afterwards gave a few words commending the rendering given by the members of the Social Science Club. Those who made up the cast were, Mrs. Henry I. Harriman, Mrs. Charles Sidney Ensign, Jr., Mrs. George Lincoln Parker, Mrs. Clarence C. Smith, Miss Helen Cobb, Miss Miriam Drury, Mrs. Alfred W. Fuller, Miss Ethel Gilman, Mrs. Harrie R. Chamberlin, Mrs. Harriman, as the miserly old bachelor of Dutch descent, and Mrs. Ensign, as Minna, his niece, both deserve particular mention, but all needed to be seen to be appreciated. Miss Dorothy Willis of the Mt. Ida School kindly substituted at the last moment and rendered two piano selections, Etude in D flat, Liszt, and Chantique, D'Amour, Chopin, which were much appreciated.

The Pierian Club held its regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Colby. Mrs. H. E. Child was in charge of the program, having prepared the papers on Australia, Birds and Bush; Tasmania and New Zealand; the Natural Wonders of these Islands, which were read for her by different members. Mrs. Chadwick read a chapter descriptive of getting lost in the Australian Bush. There was the usual social hour at the close.

Annual Meeting of Channing Alliance

The annual meeting of Channing Alliance, held in the church piers on Tuesday morning, proved a large and enthusiastic one and a fitting close to the season's work. All the reports showed that the usual high standard has been maintained during the past year and that the work has been crowned with success. After the business was completed a short memorial service was held for the two members, who have recently passed away, Mrs. J. G. Bridge and Mrs. Alvin R. Bailey. Mrs. Isabella W. Hardon spoke fittingly of the work of Mrs. Bridge for Alliance and Miss Jessie M. Fisher gave an appreciative tribute to the memory of Mrs. Bailey, who was the president of the Alliance at the time of her death. These were followed by the singing by the Alliance choir of "No Evil shall befall Thee," from Elijah. Two guests were present from the national organization of which this is a branch, Miss Lucy Lowell of Boston and Mrs. Claude U. Gilson of Wellesley Hills. Miss Lowell spoke briefly of certain matters pertaining to the Alliance and commended the branch upon its successful year's work. Mrs. Gilson in a longer and more formal address spoke of the increasing interest which people today are taking in matters religious and raised the question, How far shall we cling to the ideas and faith into which we were born in the midst of the changing standards of our time? A delicious luncheon was served under the direction of a committee, Mrs. C. B. Beason being the chairman. The tables were most attractively decorated with spring flowers and the yellow color scheme was carried out in some of the courses served. These officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. George M. Nash; vice-presidents, Mrs. H. L. Simpson, Mrs. Harry Lutz, Mrs. George Deffen; recording secretary, Mrs. Sidney Peterson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Hattie I. Grow; treasurer, Mrs. Harry N. Milliken; auditor, Mrs. Robert G. Howard; director for three years, Mrs. Herbert Stebbins.

NEWTON LADIES' HOME CIRCLE

The Annual Meeting of the Circle was held on Thursday, April 6th, in the usual place.

The Third Annual Father and Son gathering will be observed at the Newton Young Men's Christian Association tomorrow evening. Plans are being made to entertain a larger number than ever before. This gathering is looked forward to with keen anticipation, as both father and son understand their relationship to each other as never before, after attending this "chumfeast."

Dr. G. DeWitt Wilcox of the Boston University Medical School will address the gathering. Dr. Wilcox is well able to speak to a gathering of fathers and sons, as he has had much experience.

A dinner will be served at 6.30 o'clock by some of the mothers. His Honor, Mayor Childs, will preside.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE—Next Monday Miss Margaret Illington begins the last week of her successful engagement at the Park Square Theatre, Boston, in Henry Arthur Jones' powerful drama, "The Lie." "The Lie" is a big play and Miss Margaret Illington is a big actress and also it is eight years since the Boston theatregoers have seen her large audiences have enthusiastically applauded her tremendous work in this Jones play. In the length and breadth of the American stage it is extremely doubtful if there is another woman more talented or better able to sustain exceptionally heavy scenes. Miss Illington ranks with the best emotional actresses of any country and among those native born she is undeniably the premier. Her role in "The Lie" is a particularly onerous one both from the length of the part and the call it makes upon the ability of the actress. But Miss Illington gives the very best there is in her and the most captious have little cause for complaint. Her emotional scenes are magnificently portrayed, while the lighter ones, those in which she has an opportunity for comedy are delicious.

HOSPITAL BENEFIT

The second in a series of two concerts arranged by a Citizens Committee from the South Side of Newton for the benefit of the Newton Hospital will be held April 29th, 1916, Saturday evening, in Bray Hall, Newton Centre. The concert will be given by the combined Musical College Clubs at Amherst College. The Amherst Clubs have always been well received in Newton and from press reports we judge the Clubs to be well up to their usual standard. General dancing will follow the concert from ten until twelve o'clock.

Here is an opportunity for the people of Newton to support the Newton Hospital and the Committee sincerely hopes that it will receive generous support in its endeavor.

NEWTON MANUFACTURERS

Census Summary for the Year 1914

Washington, D. C., April 3, 1916. A preliminary statement of the general results of the census of manufactures for Newton, Mass., has been issued by Director Sam. L. Rogers, of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce. It consists of a summary comparing the figures for 1909 and 1914, by totals, prepared under the direction of Mr. William M. Steuart, chief statistician for manufactures.

The figures are preliminary and subject to such change and correction as may be found necessary from a further examination of the original reports.

The census of 1914, like that of 1909, with reference to manufactures, excluded the hand trades, the building trades, and the neighborhood industries, and took account only of establishments conducted under the factory system. In the last census, also, as in that for 1909, statistics were not collected for establishments having products for the census year valued at less than $500, except that reports were taken for establishments idle during a portion of the census year, or which began operation during that year, and whose products for such reason were valued at less than $500.

The word "establishment" as used in the census reports may mean more than one mill or plant, provided they are owned or controlled and operated by a single individual, partnership, corporation, or other owner or operator, and are located in the same town or city.

The reports were taken for the calendar year ending December 31, 1914, wherever the system of bookkeeping permitted figures for that period to be secured, but when the fiscal year of an establishment differed from the calendar year a report was obtained for the operations of that establishment for its fiscal year falling most largely within the calendar year 1914.

The population of Newton at the census of 1910 was 39,806 and it is estimated that it was 42,000 on July 1, 1914.

The statistics represent the establishments located within the corporate limits of Newton.

The summary for manufactures shows an increase in the number of establishments, number of firm members, salaried employees, power used, and amount paid during the year for services. There was a decrease, however, in the average number of wage earners employed, capital invested, cost of materials, and value of products.

Capital Invested

The capital invested, as reported in 1914, was $5,581,000, and it was $5,669,000 in 1909. In this connection it should be stated that the inquiry contained in the census schedule calls for the total amount of capital, both owned and borrowed, invested in the business, but excludes the value of rented property, plant, or equipment which was employed in the conduct of manufacturing enterprises. In the final bulletins and reports the rental paid for such property will be shown separately.

Cost of Materials

The cost of materials used was $3,142,000 in 1914, as against $3,383,000 in 1909. In addition to the component materials which enter into the products of the establishment for the census year there are included the cost of fuel, mill supplies, and rent of power and heat. The cost of materials, however, does not include unused materials and supplies bought either for speculation or for use during a subsequent period.

The census inquiry does not include amounts paid for miscellaneous expenses, such as rent of offices, royalties, insurance, ordinary repairs, advertising, traveling expenses, or allowance for depreciation.

Value of Products

The value of products, which amounted to $5,823,000 in 1914 and to $6,279,000 in 1909, represents their selling value or price at the plants as actually turned out by the factories during the census year and does not necessarily have any relation to the amount of sales for that year. The values under this head also include amounts received for work done on materials furnished by others.

Salaries and Wages

The salaries and wages amounted to $1,578,000 in 1914 and to $1,427,000 in 1909.

The number of salaried employees was 221 in 1914, as compared with 160 in 1909.

The average number of wage earners was 2,154 in 1914 and 2,174 in 1909.

SHUBERT THEATRE—Few shows create such a universally good impression as has "A World of Pleasure," the mammoth New York Winter Garden musical extravaganza, now the attraction at the Shubert Theatre. From the very first performance in this city "A World of Pleasure" proved to be just what its title suggests, verily a world of pleasure and huge audiences have been applauding its hundred and one merits all week with a zest that seldom characterizes such occasions. From a scenic standpoint "A World of Pleasure" is pretty nearly beyond comparison, the "Toy Shop and Melting Pot" scenes being especially impressive and wonderful. Sigmund Romberg has contributed his very best music and as a result there are as many as twenty quite whistleable song hits. In conclusion, it must be added that "A World of Pleasure" is vastly different from any previous Winter Garden show and its innovations extend beyond the desertion of the runway. It is really as advertised, viz.: "Better than the best; bigger than the rest."

THE NEWTON SCHOOL FOR SPECIAL CHILDREN

One great truth that has been established by all the recent discussion in regard to educational adjustment is that there should be equality of opportunity everywhere; that the boy or the girl handicapped for successful competition with the average school class should have special instruction in small classes according to his needs.

The City of Newton was a leader in this, as well as in other educational movements, and there has been a school for special children in this city since 1906.

This work has been carried on quietly but very effectively, first at the Mason School and later at the Claffin; and now the sixty boys and girls constituting this class are comfortably housed in the Barnard School, West Newton.

Here under the directorship of Miss Annis Sturges, who has had charge of this work from its inception, is skillfully directed a course of individual training for special children which has won the respectful attention of educators from other cities, and the school has become in a sense a training school for teachers of special children.

At the time of the opening of the Newton school there were only six of these special classes in Boston. At the present time there are about fifty and a considerable number of the teachers in these schools have received their training in this Newton School. The number of pupils now enrolled in the Barnard School is 60 and that number can be increased to 100 when additional teachers and school facilities are available.

The school is carefully graded, and the entire scheme of work is based upon the principle of placing the child in the section in which he will receive the greatest benefit. This necessitates constant study, testing and change—in a word, the most expert supervision.

Technical work in sewing, cobbling, desk repairing, chair seating and rug making is going on at all times, as are also classes in the academic subjects. Among other pieces of work accomplished during the year, 35 chairs have been seated for the School Department, 14 rugs woven for sale, a score of children have had their shoes mended here in the school, and each girl has made herself a number of well-fitting garments. As far as possible the things needed for use in the school are made by the pupils and all desks are repaired and cared for by them.

Self-respect, a sense of personal responsibility for work well done, and the habit of doing one's best at all times are engendered by the special training in this school.

"Follow up" work in the homes has resulted in the introduction oftentimes of new and valuable ideas and the elimination of some harmful practices, such as tea drinking and unlimited "snack" attendance.

The very elastic program made to fit the needs of the individual pupil, the careful study and compiling of data in regard to each pupil's advancement, and the happy atmosphere created by the energetic workers constitute an environment in which many "special cases" attain a mental grasp and concentration which enable them to enter successfully the regular classes of any public school.

A happy scene may be witnessed in this school any Friday afternoon when the weekly party for the "star" pupils, the pupils who have made the most earnest efforts during the week, is in progress.

These children respond readily to the stimulus of good music, and it is hoped that some good citizens of Newton may soon donate a piano to this deserving school.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—"Rosedale" is a famous old play that is as popular now as it was fifty years ago when Lester Wallace, then a leader among American actors, wrote it and first acted in it. It has been revived many times, but for some years past it has been absent from the American stage. It returns on Monday next to the Castle Square, and it is sure of a cordial reception. As acted at the Castle Square it will have an especially complete production. William P. Carleton will be seen as Elliot Gray, Henrietta McDannel will appear as Sir Arthur May, the little boy who is stolen by and rescued from gypsies, and Frederic Ormonde will return to the company to play the role of Miles McKenna. The two weeks Shakespearean Festival, to be given at the Castle Square in celebration of the ter-centenary of Shakespeare's death, will begin April 24th.

Power

DON'T overlook this matter of power. It is important. You want an automobile that will carry you through mud, sand and snow, and do it easily. You want a car that will climb hills, that will get away quickly without laboring and straining its every part.

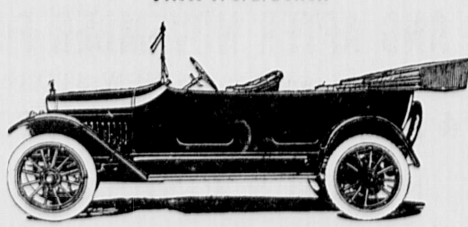

Not all cars can do these things, but you know that the Maxwell can because you have the proof.

When the Maxwell stock touring car set the World's Motor Non-Stop Mileage Record a few weeks ago, it encountered all sorts of unfavorable conditions—rain, mud and hills, over country and city roads—yet it covered 500 miles per day, day after day, for more than six weeks.

Power, plenty of power, unfailing power, is absolutely essential to such a wonderful performance as this.

Let us give you a booklet telling all the details of this record breaking Maxwell car. And let us take you for a ride anywhere. We have the very car you want and we will prove it to your satisfaction. Don't put it off. We have a few Maxwells now, but we may not be able to supply you later.

QUALITY GOODS

It seems strange to us that any one should hesitate to use Quality Goods—goods so fine that they delight the epicure, goods so moderate in cost that any one may afford them. We wish we had the eloquence of a Cicero to convince you of their superiority, but if you would but give them one trial they will speak for themselves. It is the hardest thing in selling to convince a customer that first cost is not last cost; to make him understand that while the cost of some goods may be much lower in the beginning, they are almost invariably dearer in the end; to show him always an article is worth just about what it cost; in short, to impress him with the meaning of Quality. The only way to be convinced is to give Quality Goods a trial and upon such trial we are satisfied to rest our case assured that we would thereby gain another customer.

GIRLS ATHLETIC MEET

Seniors Easily Win Annual Event at School Gymnasium

The annual meet of the girls of the Newton High Schools is always interesting both from a spectacular as well as from a physical standpoint. Parents and friends have a splendid opportunity to see for themselves the result of the careful teaching and training given by Mrs. Kuntz, the Physical Director, and her assistant, Miss Flinders. The meet last Friday afternoon at the High School gymnasium was not exception to the rule. It was a pretty sight to see several hundred girls, dressed in white middle blouses, and bloomers, wearing a flowing tie of the class colors, each girl rooting for her class, as well as her brothers could have done.

The meet was won by the seniors in hollow fashion, entirely reversing the form they showed last year as juniors, when they were badly outclassed.

The races were hotly contested, the first trial resulting in a tie and the run off being won in a matter of inches.

The meet was won by the Senior Class with a total of 54 points, the Sophomores being second with 31 points.

The winners in the different events were as follows:—

Floor work, 1st, seniors; 2nd, sophomores.

MOVING PICTURES IN NEWTON

For two months there have been children's matinees every Thursday afternoon at the Newton Opera House. We still need and ask for the co-operation of the public spirited people of Newton to make them a permanent institution. If your children are going to movies send them Thursday instead of other days. We do not ask children to begin attending, but if they are going we should like to see them go to a show planned with their interests in view. Now that we have passed the initial stage of experimentation it may be well to state our object once more. We aim to present at the Thursday matinees entertainments entirely suitable for young people, to which parents may feel safe in sending their children. This undertaking is endorsed by a committee composed of members of the library staff, school teachers, the Stearns School Center and the Social Science Club, and the programs are approved by some member of this committee. We endeavor to give a well balanced entertainment, part educational and part entertaining, with at least one picture particularly appropriate for the younger children and one feature especially interesting for the older boys and girls. For the remainder of the school year showing some interesting section of South America. They give an excellent idea of the country and so are highly educational and are entertaining besides.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

On Monday afternoon the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. met with Mrs. Edward G. Swift. Miss Josephine A. Ayers conducted the work and gave a paper on "Heraldry and Chivalry."

On Thursday, April 13th, the annual meeting and luncheon of the Newton Centre Woman's Club was held at Brae Burn Country Club. The luncheon in charge of Mrs. Wm. H. Bundy, was a great success, with a larger attendance than any previous club luncheon.

The reports of the officers and chairmen of committees caused great interest and pleasure, recording, as they did, a successful year, full of benefit, not only to club members, but also to the community at large, in which the club maintains many activities of social significance. The report of the building fund committee made the realization of the dream of a club house seem possible in the not too dim future.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell, 1st vice-president, Mrs. Matt B. Jones; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Frances N. Nathan; recording secretary, Mrs. Thomas E. Booth; corresponding secretary, Miss Priscilla Ordway; treasurer, Mrs. Charles S. Smith; auditor, Mrs. Burton P. Gray.

VERDICT SUSTAINED

Mr. Charles R. Darling of Newton Centre who recently sued the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company for the sum of 12 cents on the claim that after purchasing a round trip ticket to Norumbega Park, he had found the Park closed when he arrived, and who won his case in the Newton Police Court where it was first tried, has just received a favorable verdict in the Middlesex Superior Court.

EASTER PLANTS

There will be a sale of cake and Easter plants in the parlor of Channing Church, Newton, under the auspices of the Lent-a-Hand Club, Thursday morning, April 20th, from 9 to 12 o'clock.

WITH THE GOOSEBERRY

RECIPES FOR PRESERVES AND OTHER DISHES.

Made Up Into Jam It Will Be Appreciated in the Winter—Method of Serving Them in Batter.

Gooseberry Jam.—Seven pounds green gooseberries, eight pounds sugar.

Method.—Top and tail the gooseberries and place them in a preserving pan. Add the sugar and slowly bring to boiling point and boil for 40 minutes. If the jam jellies quickly when a sample is placed on a saucer it is quite ready and must be bottled at once.

To Bottle Gooseberries.—Gather together some bottles with wide necks. See that they are perfectly clean and dry. Fill them with gooseberries and place in the oven until thoroughly hot through without breaking the skins. Remove from the oven, add two tablespoonfuls sugar to each bottle, and fill up with boiling water. Seal with paraffin and store.

Gooseberries in Batter.—Four tablespoonfuls flour, two eggs, pinch salt, half pint milk, half pint gooseberries, one tablespoonful sugar, ten ounces dripping or butter.

Method.—Prepare the batter by mixing the flour and salt with a little milk and the eggs beaten to a froth. Beat this thoroughly until smooth and the surface free of bubbles. Stir in gently the remainder of the milk. Heat the fat until smoking hot in a baking tin and pour in the batter and gooseberries. Bake in a hot oven for half to three-quarters of an hour. Cut into sections and sprinkle freely with pulverized sugar.

Gooseberry Souffle.—One pint stewed gooseberries, quarter pound sugar, two ounces butter, 1½ ounces flour, two teaspoonfuls corn flour, three eggs, one teaspoonful milk.

Method.—Prepare a sauce with the flour, corn flour, milk and butter. Stir in the gooseberry pulp and the yolks of eggs, also the sugar. Beat the whites to a stiff froth and fold these carefully into the mixture. Prepare a souffle mold by tying a greased paper round the top. Place the mixture in the tin and steam for an hour. Turn out very carefully and serve at once.

Gooseberry Jelly.—Seven pounds green gooseberries, two quarts water, one pound sugar to each pint liquid.

Method.—Crush the gooseberries with the rolling-pin or potato masher. Place these in a pan with the water and cook until soft and tender. Strain the mixture very carefully, without squeezing, through a coarse cloth. Add a pound of sugar to each pint of liquid and boil for half an hour to three-quarters.

Baked Pears.

Pare and core, without dividing, as many pears as you wish; place them in a pan and fill centers of pears with brown sugar. Add a little water and let them bake until perfectly tender. Serve with sweet cream or boiled custard.

An old-fashioned way is to place pears in a covered baking dish, without paring. Add one very small cupful of molasses to every two quarts of pears; but little water is necessary. Bake about two hours. If you wish, you may pare and core them, using one small cupful of sugar instead of molasses.

Ideal Soup Kettle.

One of the useful aspects of soup-making in the pre-enamel-ware days was the cleansing of the heavy iron kettle; for washing a kettle big enough to hold a shinbone of beef with trimmings was no joke. Today, however, one can have the trim, enameled kettle in any size, light, yet strong, and all it needs is hot suds and a good rinsing to make it beautifully clean and sanitary. If, in addition, there is a colander of enamel ware for straining of the soup into a pan to match, the equipment is ideal for cleanliness, quickness and results.

Plums in Rice Border.

Cook the rice in milk until tender and quite dry, adding a pinch of salt when it is half done. Make it rather sweet with powdered sugar and pour into a border mold to set. When ready to serve, turn it out carefully and fill the center with very rich stewed plums, pour a little of the sirup over the rice and heap whipped cream over the plums. The stones should be removed from the fruit and the kernels simmered ten minutes in a little thin sirup and then mix with the fruit.

Prune Souffle.

Mash sufficient prunes to make one-half pint, press through a colander, add four tablespoonfuls sugar and stir in the well-beaten whites of four eggs. Turn into baking dish, dust with powdered sugar and bake in moderately quick oven ten minutes.

Lemon Cookies.

Cream one cupful of butter with two of sugar, add three beaten eggs and flavor with lemon juice. Sift into this enough flour to make the dough stiff enough to handle, roll thin, cut out and bake.

New Flavoring.

Several tablespoonfuls of peanut butter creamed with the shortening are recommended for giving a novel and delicious flavor to cookies or any dark cake.

SARAH HULL CHAPTER, D.R.

This year to our great sorrow we have said Goodbye, to two, who long have at the head Of Sarah Hull, with sway both wise and skilled Their places most acceptably have filled.

When Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Mason said farewell, Our hearts felt more than our poor tongues could tell.

In March when Mrs. Gansse as Regent took the gavel She showed the way she thought we ought to travel.

As daughters of the famous Revolution, 'Twas up to us to prove our evolution. Forget awhile the well-known ancient stories Of British, continental ancestry and Tories.

To try to find if possible a better plan To train and teach the Young American.

That they who wish to make life beautiful Accomplish most by being dutiful.

The April meeting was too near at hand To vary much, from what before was planned.

"The Wit and Humor of the Puritan" Gave us a glimpse of that unbending man.

Under another aspect, on the human side, Which must somewhere in everyone abide.

We met at Mrs. Fisher's spacious dwelling Whose hospitality needs here no telling.

In May the house-wives get so very busy Mere thought of intellectual pastimes makes them dizzy.

This is the month the National Convention Was held in Brooklyn, I can only mention.

We sent some delegates to represent us, The rest of us to household labors bent us.

But as Memorial Day approached when all the nation, Remembers and pours yearly, its obligation.

To those who died to keep in one our land, And flags half-masted droop on every hand.

We found that many children lacked "Old Glory"

With which to celebrate our Country's story, So Sarah Hull, to all good deeds a patron.

Searched in her pockets like a thrifty matron, And finding there full many a silken banner.

Scattered them broadcast, in a lavish manner, A half a hundred flags she showered free.

That Newton schools be taught of Liberty, Through the long summer where to shore and mountain

Or farm house, for of tastes there's no accountin' We drifted, O'er the sea, the cannons thunder;

Hate, envy, bloodshed, rent the world asunder. Reading the daily chronicle of slaughter,

The wish to aid and comfort filled each daughter, So when October brought another meeting

We gladly hailed the opportunity of greeting Dr. Charles Wendte; cheering by our presence

His talk on Madam Lysons' Home for Convalescents In Paris, where while soldiers are amending,

She, comfort, care, and succor is a-lending.

When we attempt to put to proof some scheme, And all the heads with different methods teem,

Its hard perhaps to work the problem out Unless you know just what you are about.

We all agreed to furnish the Stearns school, Nonantum With seeds of patriotism, and try to plant 'em.

To offer prizes, gold and silver dollars, To any who among those alien scholars

The best in theme or patriotic essay, The story of some hero should portray.

Then—on a day—some daughters to Nonantum, To prove our idea not a foolish phantom, Went, "Stopped and Looked and Listened" with delight While the first fledglings of the flock took flight.

The smoke and incense from Thanksgiving turkey Made dull November's atmosphere quite murky.

We put aside all thought of saint or sinner And gave our energies to getting dinner.

To keep intact the old-time festival We gave no time to our dear Sarah Hull.

Just when the Sarah Hull, like many another— Found her financial status quite a bother.

Her pocket like to Lucy's "nothin' in it!" Such emptiness must not endure another minute.

So she evolved a pageant at the Hunnewell Of Dames Colonial who did so well

Their minuets, their dances, their tableaux With stately dames, fair maids and gallant beaux

That quite a dazzling stream of dollars fell Into our empty purse and filled it well!

Into their erst-while empty treasury; so many went the charming sight to see!

The next to come, The Climax of the Season! Please don't consider it a kind of treason

To name it so, for then our board judicial Received, from Regents o the least official, The topic for that day, Our country's problem

How best to help the aliens and not rob 'em, Of Freedom, but to teach while much is free

That License is no synonym for Liberty, That books in many tongues may be obtained

That tell their rights, and how they are sustained, The feast of reason and the liquids drinkable

With all the nice refreshments thinkable, The decorations suitable for Sarah Hull,

With music, made the day quite wonderful, The New Year brought our January meeting.

Reminding us our year was swiftly fleeting, And then "The Melting Pot" was read by Miss LaVelle.

That wondrous drama in whose lines there dwell The same old questions, throbbing through and through

To save America what must be done? When February, month of fewest days Came with its many many holidays

Beginning with the famous ground-hog fable, Of how his actions make the whole world able

To tell if Winter means to go or stay, And ending with G. Washington's birthday.

We met; our Lincoln's birthday brought us here To tell again of him whom all hold dear.

Who gave himself, his time, his heart, his brain, To save his country, and was foully slain;

Not in the battle where the trumpets blare Rouses o'en coward souls to do and dare.

But after Peace, the conflict ended, to the dust Had banished sword and gun to mould and rust.

And spread o'er all the land her pinions white, And North and South again in one unite.

In the fair city he had ruled so well By the Assassin's Knife struck down, he fell!

We find among the stories little told Of Abraham Lincoln and his heart of gold

The tales of women beautiful and brave Whose only mission was to heal and save

And we with his, their honored names enshrine Gaining through both, a glimpse of love divine.

Today now ends for us another year What we have done, I've tried to tell you here.

If you should think this screed undignified, I'll try again and something else provide.

But if accept and pardon it you can I'll humbly sign it.

Aldermen Continue Policy of Last Two Years Regarding Pony Express Licenses

The meeting of the aldermen on Monday night was one of the most important of the entire year, the adoption of the annual budget of over a million and a half dollars, and the granting of a large number of licenses being the principal features of the session.

President Blanchard was in the chair and Aldermen Angier, Clement and Harriman were absent.

At the hearing on petition for Edison poles on Franklin street, Mr. R. E. Mandell appeared in opposition, stating that he believed the persons desiring service could be reached by crossing private property, and that in his opinion the poles would be a great detriment to property on the street. Mr. E. W. Hodgson also called attention to the large number of trees on the street, which might be seriously affected by the electric wires. A communication in opposition from Mr. H. E. Damon was read by the clerk.

At the hearing on petition of F. W. Norris for Public Garage at corner of Commonwealth avenue and Washington street, Ward 4, Mr. Frank H. Rudy, representing Mr. Norris, said that Mr. Norris recognizing the sentiment regarding the erection of garages on Commonwealth avenue had plans for a building of extraordinary character. It is planned to construct nine stories with a garage in the rear. The entrance to the garage could be either on Commonwealth avenue or on Washington street. The total cost of the building as planned would be about $60,000. Mr. H. B. Ross in opposition called attention to the fact that there are two other garages within a mile of this location, and that gasoline could be purchased directly opposite the proposed location. He also called attention to the condition at this corner and believed that accidents would be inevitable with a garage at this point. Mr. W. A. Stiles said that in selecting a place for a home, he had chosen this particular locality because it was free from buildings used for commercial purposes. He said that there was absolutely no demand for a garage in this neighborhood, all residents owning cars having garages on their own property. Mr. C. A. Wyman and Mr. George P. Bullard on behalf of the Men's Club of West Newton also opposed the garage, and submitted a copy of a resolution adopted by the Men's Club in opposition to this building.

Mr. Henry B. Day called attention to the development along Commonwealth avenue, particularly in the West Newton section, and stated that if this garage was constructed it would be of great detriment to the development already completed and also to the future development. Mr. N. E. Paine as a property owner in the immediate vicinity strenuously objected to the same. Mr. Paine also called attention to the development of the Boulevard, and the character of the traffic and pointed out the chance for accidents at this point, if a garage is placed as proposed.

Communications were received from Mayor Childs recommending $7,142.85 additional appropriation for cost of the Weston bridge, and $750 additional for Fire dept. salaries after July 1, both of which received favorable action later in the session.

The following betterment assessments were apportioned, Lester R. Thompson, Agnes L. Jepson, Florence A. Cory on Harrington street and Carrie L. and Mary M. Morse on Elmore street. Petitions were received from A. G. Baker for renewal of license to operate a bus line on Centre street, N. Svinicariello for pool tables on Walnut street, Norumbega Park Co. for sewer Woodbine street, C. E. Chester for sewer Kent road, Foster et al for sewer in Harvard street, Chester Marcell for drain off Auburndale ave., Telephone Co. to remove pole from Beacon street, N. & W. Gas Light Co. to install a new street for sewer in Cabot street, for fire alarm signal station Lincoln street and Mountfort road, for sidewalk under betterment law on Walnut street, J. T. Burns, Jr., for auctioneer license, Michael Hughes for junk license, from J. P. Roberts, Simon Morrell, W. O. Harrington, Mulcahy & Son, Adams Express Co., Johnson & Keyes Ex. for liquor transportation permit, from various persons for licenses for billiard tables, pool tables, bowling alleys, common victuallers, innholders, hackney carriages and autos, intelligence office, wagons and auto trucks, dealers in second hand articles and for power boat licenses. On recommendation of committees the Edison and Telephone Co's. were granted a joint location on Waverley ave., the Edison Co. attachments on Oakleigh road, and the Telephone Co. attachments on Albemarle road.

Aldermen Reduce Mayor Childs' Figures by $44,000

The board of aldermen passed the annual budget for the current year at its meeting Monday evening, the grand total being $1,560,009.23, payable from the tax levy, with $133,692.50 in addition for expenses of the Water department, payable from water income.

The principal items are $404,509.41 for schools, $325,590.29 for streets, $346,002.64 for interest, sinking funds, etc., for the treasury department, $106,525.94 for police, $97,738.22 for fire, $65,530.3 for forestry, $41,216.17 for health, $45,892 for charity, $30,210 for library, $21,103.10 for playgrounds, and $53,008.83 for public buildings.

$55,000 is appropriated for street maintenance and $39,300 for street resurfacing on Boylston, Grove, Centre, Woodward, High, Crafts, Elliot, Elm, Newtonville avenue, Suffolk road and Park avenue, $25,000 is appropriated for special repairs on buildings, four new police officers are authorized and 2 additional firemen. The call force will be reduced after June 30 by the removal of 7 call captains and 5 call lieutenants, whose salary ceases at that time.

The amount appropriated is about $43,500 less than the budget submitted by Mayor Childs.

MR. ROSS BURIED

Funeral services for the late Charles W. Ross, for many years the Street Commissioner of this city were held Friday afternoon in the Farlow Memorial chapel at the Newton Cemetery. Notwithstanding the inclement weather, the little chapel and adjoining conservatory were filled to overflowing with the many friends who thus testified to their love and regard for Mr. Ross. The casket was buried in flowers which completely filled the entire end of the chapel. Brief services consisting of reading of the Scriptures and a prayer were in charge of Rev. Emory W. Hunt, D.D., pastor of the Baptist Church of Newton Centre of which Mr. Ross had been a member for over forty years.

The burial was in the family lot at the Cemetery and the bearers were his two sons, Messrs. H. Wilson Ross of Worcester and George W. Ross of Pompton, N. J., and three sons in law, Messrs. Edward E. Lothrop of Worcester, Edward E. Savory of Auburndale and Arthur W. Hodges of Newton Centre.

NEW CHURCH

Trinity Parish at Newton Centre Occupies Its New Building

The new church edifice of Trinity parish at the corner of Centre and Homer streets, Newton Centre, was formally opened last Sunday with two services, one in the morning and one in the evening. The morning service was planned especially for the people of the parish and was followed by the Holy Communion. In the evening there was a Fellowship service to which all the Newton Centre churches were invited. Addresses were made by Mayor Edwin O. Childs, Rev. Dr. E. M. Noyes of the First Church, Rev. Dr. William E. Huntington, and Rev. Dr. Emory E. Hunt of the First Baptist Church.

The new building is a fine example of the English perpendicular Gothic type, constructed of Indiana limestone. Its cost completed is $82,000, and it replaces the old church in which the parish worshipped for twenty-three years.

An interesting feature is that Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, the rector, has never filled any other pastorate, nor has the parish had any other rector. Trinity parish was founded twenty-five years ago, when meetings were held in a small hall in Newton Centre. At that time Rev. Mr. Sullivan was a divinity student at Cambridge, and he officiated at some of these meetings. When the first church was built he became rector, and on June 1 will observe his twenty-fifth anniversary.

Plans for the new building were formulated two and one-half years ago, and the corner-stone was laid May 13, 1915. When the work of raising the necessary money commenced a donor who prefers to have his name withheld made a gift of $20,000, and also

FIRE HAZARD CONDITIONS

Report of Commission Appointed to Investigate Newton School Buildings

The Fire Hazard Commission appointed last fall soon after the Peabody school house fire, to investigate fire hazard conditions in the school buildings of this city, has completed its work and has filed its report with Mayor Childs. The Commission consisted of Mr. Christopher M. Goddard, of Newton Centre, one of the foremost insurance experts in the country, as chairman, Mr. George M. Cox, general manager of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company, and Mr. D. Frank Lord, an architect and engineer.

The report takes a most comprehensive range of the subject and has been carried into the minutest detail and is accompanied by estimates of cost, aggregating $53,000.

Some of the abstracts of the report and some of its conclusions are given below:

"In the first place it should be understood that the school buildings of the city of Newton as a whole are not fire traps, nor are they more or less subject to fires with the possible consequent loss of life than the average schools in this Commonwealth or elsewhere."

"We believe there is necessity for action and we have endeavored to outline such action as will accomplish the result not cheaply and probably ineffectually, but thoroughly and therefore economically."

"We must always remember that nothing worth having can be obtained without cost, cost in dollars, cost in sacrifice of some pet scheme of artistic or decorative effect, we must also remember and remember with devout thankfulness, that the chance of these recommendations ever being called upon to prove their value is remote, but notwithstanding the remoteness, the stake is altogether too dear for us to 'take a chance.'"

"Carelessness may undo every effort for safety and failure to observe regulations for safety or to gradually let them drop into innocuous desuetude will surely some day reap its just punishment. Those in charge of our schools should not rely on safe guards against fire and so rest secure in the feeling that a fire cannot occur, thus blunting the constant feeling of responsibility for the safety of their pupils, which, whether they will or not, must fall largely on their faithful watching."

Our whole school personnel from the superintendent to the kindergarten should be a trained disciplined army of preparedness against fire, reinforced by the fire, police and buildings departments, and no more effective defense can be instituted than through co-operation with each doing the small share that falls to his lot.

The three vital points of safeguarding life from the danger of fire are, 1st. Preventing fire from starting. 2nd. Retarding the spread of and if possible extinguishing such fires as may start. 3rd. Removing all human beings as expeditiously as possible from the building so as to avoid all chance of danger.

On the first point the commission says:

"To accomplish this we shall recommend the maintenance of good house-keeping conditions, the removal of combustible material in which fire is liable to occur; the provision of proper store rooms, lockers and receptacles in which necessary combustible materials may be safely and neatly stored; the safe guarding of heating apparatus and all incidental devices in which flame or fire is present; the Permit to transport intoxicating liquors, American Express Co.

On motion of Alderman Hollis, the favorable report on the amusement license of Norumbega Park Co. was re-committed and a public hearing ordered on the matter for May 1st. Alderman Clark explained that when the committee acted on this matter they understood that it covered the usual amusements at the park.

Leave to withdraw was granted on licenses petitions of J. R. Robertson, Peter Pierotti and A. Avantaggio, as common victuallers, Solomon Yanco for junk license, P. Shriberg as a junk collector, N. Lipschitz for a junk shop, and William Bailey for liquor transportation permit.

Alderman Hollis said that he opposed the majority report of the license committee on permits to transport liquor by G. DeLuco, C. G. Newcomb, F. Gasbarri and F. E. Carvelli, because he did not believe the matter of temperance entered into the question. The law permits liquor to be brought into this city and so long as that law is mandatory he must dissent as he could see no good reason for creating a monopoly and not lessening the amount of liquor brought in. Other applicants have the approval of the police and as citizens we should consider their rights. If the law was permissive, Mr. Hollis said, he might agree with the majority although it might make matters even worse than at present. Mr. Hollis opposed the report for he wanted to give a square deal and suggested the effect of a law which would give a monopoly of insurance or certain line of business to but one concern.

Alderman Clark defended the report of the committee saying that the liquor business is a class by itself and is so recognized from the U. S. government down to the cities and towns. He did not believe the board should concern itself very much over the $5 or $6 a day liquor business which might be done by the local expressmen. The question was of greater importance. Mr. Clark then gave a history of the action taken by the city in the past on this and similar questions. The report leave to withdraw was then accepted.

The report of the Fire Hazard Commission was transmitted by the mayor and ordered printed. $200 was authorized for settlement of claim for damages by Mrs. M. L. D. Kanzler, $50 for Workmen's Compensation for John Hannigan, leave to withdraw granted on claims of William Filene Sons Co. and Ralph Manning.

Ordinances reorganizing the Fire Dept. and relative to Workmen's Compensation were passed to be ordained. The Rules committee submitted majority and minority reports and drafts of ordinances relative to control of the multiple garage matter, and Alderman Murphy presented a new draft which was substituted and passed to be ordained. The ordinance requires a permit from the board of aldermen for use of a building as a garage. Alderman Murphy in speaking on this subject stated that the Fire prevention Commissioner had just announced a new regulation governing the gasoline permits for multiple garages, and requiring them to be issued by the city government.

$5,158.20 was appropriated for exchange of city automobiles, $300 for purchase of Bowditch plans of Waban district, $350 for purchase of drain easement off Crafts street, sewers authorized in Cabot street and Commonwealth avenue, street sprinkling ordered on Groveland street, $449.21 voted for laborers' pensions to John McCarthy and Matthew Connors, hearings assigned on May 15 for drain off River street and a sewer in Clarendon avenue, leave to withdraw granted on request of Watertown Savings Bank to buy land on East Side Parkway, and orders passed requiring reports of use of city automobiles, and prohibiting use of city automobiles on Sundays. Land was taken and a sewer built in Brackett road.

After a short recess the budget for 1916 was considered, the only debate being over the item of $404,000 for schools, when President Blanchard took the floor to urge a reduction of $4,000. Mr. Blanchard said that following the "gentlemen's agreement" of two years ago, this amount should be $4,000 less than recommended by the Finance Committee. With an expense last year of over $350 for printing a report, it would seem as if a saving could be made in this department. In addition to the amount in the budget, Mr. Blanchard said he believed a supplementary amount was to be requested and he thought it unbusinesslike for the board to vote the full amount until it knew all the facts.

Alderman Haggood said that the "gentlemen's agreement" provided for a change, if conditions changed. The department now had a different superintendent and conditions regarding cost of materials and salaries had also changed greatly. The distribution of pupils had called for 4 new teachers in the Classical school without reducing the number in the Technical. The departments want $5000 additional of which $1000 is due to removing the backward class into the Barnard school, $900 by the Stearns School Centre, and $3400 is required by the Vocational school of which $1700 will be returned by the state.

Alderman Winslow said that the school committee ought to know at once what their budget is to be in order to make their contracts with teachers for the coming school year. He felt that as conditions had changed considerably the board was fully justified in making the increase and that it would be used profitably. It would be unwise to jeopardize the $20,000 return now being made by the state on account of Vocational school work, by holding up the $5000 budget which would come later. Mr. Blanchard's amendment was then lost and the budget adopted unanimously.

Authority was granted for purchasing the various pieces of automobile apparatus itemized in the budget and the board adjourned at 10.55.

adoption of certain regulations for the government of all schools: the employment and maintenance of constant supervision of janitors during school hours; and above all, arrangement for the introduction of a plan for the general supervision over all the fire hazard conditions and appliances of the entire school plant by a single responsible and efficient head."

On the second point, it says:—"We shall recommend cutting off from the rest of the building by fire walls, fire doors and wired glass windows, such locations as contain the possibilities of fire, that is, the rooms containing heating apparatus, storage of combustible materials, janitors' supplies, etc., and we shall also recommend the cutting off of the basement as far as feasible from the rest of the building, by means of tight ceilings and self closing doors. To quickly extinguish such fires as may start we shall recommend the protection of the basement with automatic sprinklers with the extension, in few cases, to special occupancies above the basement, and also the installation of 2½ gallon chemical extinguishers throughout the various buildings, the recommendation of constant janitor's supervision of basement during school hours, must also have great bearing on quick discovering and extinguishing of any fire in that most fertile section for school house fires. Prompt notification of the fire department in case of fire is also cared for."

On the third point, it says:—"It is necessary that means be provided so that notification of 'immediate exit' may be quickly and simultaneously given to all parts of the building—this notification to be of such nature that it will always be understood and implicitly obeyed. We shall recommend a separate, simple, reliable and uniform signal system, so installed as to insure that the signal is heard under all conditions, in all parts of the building and so as to enable the signal to be operated from each floor and in the larger buildings from each end of the school. We shall recommend a uniform signal in all schools so that from the kindergarten to the high school, the call for 'immediate exit' shall be familiar to pupils as they progress and to teachers also whether they are regular or substitute teachers."

The commission will also recommend rules governing 'immediate exit,' framed to secure order and prevent panic. In order that the smallest pupils may not be thrown into the way of larger pupils, resulting in slowing up of the lines, and inviting panic and disturbance, the commission recommends separate, direct exits for the kindergarten, and additional exits from portions of buildings not now properly equipped. To overcome the possible danger from exit doors carelessly locked or not opened easily, the commission recommends the use of anti-panic hardware for all doors in exit paths which are equipped with latches, locks or bolts.

The commission states that its recommendations form a systematic whole so interdependent on each other that their relative importance cannot be classified, each contributing to the strength of the completed chain of defense against fire hazard and the weakening or omission of any link will weaken the whole plan.

The commission found certain conditions which showed the need of improvement, among them being the following:—Janitors' brooms, cloth, etc., more or less in a sheathed closet in close proximity to main stairway. Immediate exit signals given with wrong number of blows. Children remaining in class room on second floor after building has been emptied because a substitute teacher who went out with the others did not understand the special practice which was in use in that school, and the children meekly waited for a signal which they never received.

Class in assembly hall with piano playing did not hear the signal, as there was no third floor gong and did not start to make the exit until their attention was accidentally called to the drill by seeing other pupils in the yard.

Eleven different signals for 'immediate exit' drill in 25 school buildings and almost as many varieties for carrying on the drill. Few schools took the drill with the seriousness and perfect discipline that should always accompany an exercise solely as a means of saving lives, the efficiency of which depends entirely upon the maintenance of order under the severe stress of possible fright and danger.

Outside doors locked with a dead lock—one requiring a key to unlock it. 25% of the exit facilities of one building out of commission having been so far a considerable number of weeks. Closets and combustible materials under basement stairways. Means of fastening outside exit doors which were self-closing, missing or out of order. Furniture or other obstructions in corridors and on stairways. Doors to basement stairways fastened open, although immediately adjoining the usual exit paths. Excessive use of oil on corridor floors.

Accumulation of shavings and papers evidently more than a single day's production. A considerable and unnecessary amount of storage of furniture and other combustible material, both useful and useless, in basements and attics.

Lack of pre-determined arrangement for 'immediate exit' drills under particular conditions such as at recess, lunch hour, changing of periods, as well as lack of system in ascertaining that not only pupils in class rooms were out of the building, but also those that might be in the toilets or elsewhere temporarily. Notwithstanding these conditions the commission feels "that those responsible for the care both of pupils and buildings earnestly endeavoring to do their duty, eagerly welcomed and acted on every suggestion for improvement and would with a properly established system and with instructions on the subject of fire hazard, work enthusiastically for the results which we all desire.

The commission calls attention to the fact that its recommendations must be continuously maintained and "we must so arrange matters that any failure on the part of persons or apparatus will be quickly discovered and remedied, else such failure may undo all we have tried to accomplish. They therefore recommend that some persons from the Buildings Dept. should be detailed for regular supervision of all the fire hazard safeguards of the entire school system."

The report is accompanied by a detailed list of general recommendations, carrying out the general ideas above mentioned, "care and maintenance rules, largely affecting janitors, the installation of sprinkler systems at a cost of $23,125 in all buildings but the Oak Hill school house and the Technical High School, an immediate exit signal system, including gongs and push buttons, immediate exit rules, providing for tests, supervision, uniform signals in all schools, procedure and for special and miscellaneous conditions, and instructions to fire and police departments in case of school fires.

These recommendations appear to be based on common sense and should be of the greatest value, if properly maintained.

The report is also accompanied by a detailed list of work to be done in each school building with an estimate of the cost of the same.

MAY BREAKFAST

The call goes forth once again to all the citizens of Newton inviting them to a May Breakfast. Just as surely as May comes around each spring, this event is planned for and expected, and each and every one is urged to come and help make this fourth annual Breakfast even more of a success than those of the three previous years.

Each year finds us better prepared and more able to remedy previous mistakes, with the result that we hope to make this the most satisfactory Breakfast that we have ever served. This year we hope to serve you all well and quickly and prepare, not only for the hurried business men who must catch trains, but also for their families, that they may have hot and well served breakfasts.

The many workers have taken hold with an unusual amount of enthusiasm and are planning to make this year's Breakfast the most successful in every way, not only financially for themselves but satisfactory to each and every one who attends. The Breakfast is given under the auspices of the Social Service League for the benefit of the Social Service Work conducted by the Newton Hospital. This work is growing rapidly each year and is fast becoming a most important branch of the regular hospital work. The Social Service Worker follows up cases after they are discharged from the hospital and sees that proper food and care are provided for the patient, supplies necessary braces, clothing or nourishing food as the case may demand.

Please help us by buying your tickets early, so that we may know how many to provide for. Six villages have joined in the movement this year, and on May 13 from seven until nine o'clock, breakfasts will be served in the following places: Eliot Church, Centre and Church streets, Newton.

Church of the New Jerusalem, Highland avenue, Newtonville. First Unitarian Church, Washington street, West Newton. Methodist Episcopal Church, Langley road, Newton Centre.

First Congregational Church, Lincoln street, Newton Highlands. Union Church, Waban.

Auburndale, Newton Upper Falls and Newton Lower Falls are raising money in other ways as they did not think it advisable to serve Breakfasts. Wellesley Hills and Chestnut Hill are raising money by subscription. So, we have eleven villages banding together in this All-Newton Enterprise to further the good work of the Social Service Department of the Newton Hospital.

WILBUR THEATRE—Next week brings to Boston for the first time in his latest dramatic triumph, that eminent character actor, Louis Mann in "The Bubble" which Messrs. Shubert will present at Ye Wilbur Theatre. As an interpreter of "broken-German" dialect character creations, it seems to be the consensus of opinion that Louis Mann is without an equal. As Gustave Mueller in "The Bubble," this new successful comedy-drama, he is called upon to enact a character somewhat different from any of those in which he has heretofore been seen. The greatest minds in the world have never been able to solve the problem of what men may do when confronted with a great crisis. Mr. Mann's Gustave Mueller is that of an excitable but lovable old delicatessen dealer, keeping always in mind the Golden Rule, and when he is being swindled, the whole force of his nature bursts forth in open rebellion against a fraudulent transaction. He is best tricked by a smooth mining stock promoter and while his visions of wealth lead him to peculiar extravagance, he awakens to find himself face to face with ruin and misery. Through a clever trick on the part of his charming daughter and a newspaper reporter the old man is made happy by the return of most of his fortune and all ends happily midst wedding bells.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—The two weeks of Shaksperian Festival will begin at the Castle Square Theatre next Monday, with a production of "Romeo and Juliet," which will be repeated twice a day on Tuesday and Wednesday. For the remainder of the week "As You Like It" will be the play. Both these plays will be staged elaborately, the scenery and costumes being especially made and designed for these revivals, and the cast will be headed in each case by Mary Young and John Craig, with the entire membership of the Craig Players in their support. Especial attention is called to this Festival as an educational influence. Already the Mayor and school committee of Cambridge have made arrangements to have the high school children of that city attend the opening performance in a body, and others are expected to follow suit. For the second week of the Festival "Hamlet" and "The Taming of the Shrew" are announced.

Reliability

OUR absolute faith in the Maxwell car is due to two reasons: First, we have known that the Maxwell Company uses nothing in the entire car but the very best that money can buy. We have known that the steel is scientifically heat treated, that the car is built under the supervision of able engineers, that every car is rigidly tested many times before it leaves the factory.

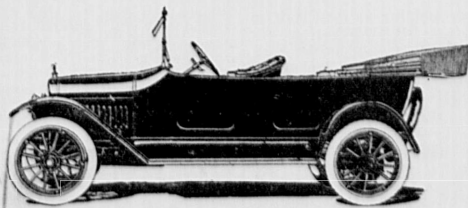

Second, we have known that the big and well established company behind the car is building for the future, that they value a satisfied owner above everything else.

Now that the Maxwell has set the World's Motor Non-Stop Mileage Record, by travelling continuously for 44 days and nights—averaging 500 miles per day—you will understand the benefits you personally may derive from the Maxwell policy. Did you ever hear of any car going 22,000 miles without once stopping the engine, without any repairs or readjustments, with only one gallon of gasoline to every 22 miles?

There is no reason why you shouldn't have a reliable, serviceable and economical Maxwell car. The first cost is low, the operating cost is low and the health and happiness dividends are big.

Let us see you about this now, before our allotment is exhausted.

EDITORIAL

The heartfelt gratitude of the city government and of the tax payers in general and of the parents of school children in particular, should be extended to the Messrs. C. M. Goddard, George M. Cox and D. Frank Lord, the Fire Hazard Commission of this city, for the thorough investigation they have given the matter of fire conditions in this city, the careful consideration they have given as to the remedy and the most excellent report they have made on the subject. Their recommendations will call for a large sum of money, but we feel sure that the residents of this city will heartily approve any expenditure which will protect the lives of our children. The report calls attention to conditions which reflect most seriously on the management of our schools. Citizens will rightly ask, why eleven different fire drill signals should be allowed in the schools—they will want to know why exit facilities were closed for several weeks and why exit doors were allowed to remain locked and the key missing. It would seem as if these matters should have been investigated and corrected by the school authorities and not allowed to remain until unearthed by an outside commission. It is fortunate that no harm has come from these conditions, but their existence will undoubtedly create a feeling that when the improvements requested by the commission have been made, the school authorities should be kept constantly up to the mark in the maintenance of safe conditions.

Newton Republicans have a distinct duty to perform not only to the city but to the entire state and country in casting the largest possible majority for the unpledged ticket for delegates at large, district delegates and alternates at the presidential primary to be held next Tuesday. In the first place Senator John W. Weeks of this city is one of the candidates for delegates at large and Mr. Frank W. Stearns also one of our most respected citizens is a candidate for alternate at large. In addition to their candidacy, we owe it to the Republican party to show our confidence in the ability as well as the advisability of nominating Senator Weeks for the presidency. Whether or not conditions next June at Chicago will permit this city to be honored in this way—we should do all in our immediate power to bring that highly desirable result to pass—and the present duty is to cast our votes next Tuesday for the unpledged ticket for delegates at large and for district delegates, as well as for their alternates.

The action of the city government in reorganizing the Fire Dept. and refusing to appropriate money for salaries of the call captains and lieutenants, marks the beginning of a movement to put our fire department on a permanent basis, instead of a part permanent and part call force as at present. The call force is a relic of the good old days, when it was thought to be great fun to run to a fire and a place on the fire company was one of honor and importance. Most of the men whose services will not be required after July 1st have been members of the department for many years and they will be greatly missed by their comrades in the department. In addition they have given the city of Newton a most valuable service for a very small cost and their interest in their work has never been questioned. The city owes them a debt of gratitude, for their long years of enthusiastic and valuable service.

Residents of this city who took occasion a year or two ago to criticize Judge Kennedy for discharging a man accused of the illegal transportation of liquor in this city, will be interested to note that this week, Judge Kennedy under the same law, but upon a different set of facts, found a man guilty on this same question. As the judge was sustained by the higher court on his previous ruling, it is fair to suppose that he is equally correct in the present case.

Republicans

OF THE 13th District

If You Want Your Votes to Count for Roosevelt as the Nominee of the Republican Party for President, Cast Your Ballots Next Tuesday for these Delegates and Alternates:

GRAFTON D. CUSHING of Boston	Alternates at large:
CHARLES SUMNER BIRD of Walpole	ALEXANDER MCGREGOR of Boston
AUGUSTUS P. GARDNER of Hamilton	LOMBARD WILLIAMS of Dedham
ROBERT M. WASHBURN of Worcester	DANIEL COSGROVE of Lowell
	WILLIAM M. ARMSTRONG of Somerville
13th District Delegates:	13th District Alternates:
J. RANDOLPH COOLIDGE, JR. of Brookline	E. MARK SULLIVAN of Boston
FRANK H. FALES of Framingham	CLIFFORD S. COBB of Waltham

These delegates are FOR Roosevelt. Their opponents are AGAINST Roosevelt, and victory for them would be read throughout the country as a defeat for Roosevelt in Massachusetts.

If you are FOR ROOSEVELT you have no consistent choice but to VOTE FOR ROOSEVELT DELEGATES.

Roosevelt Campaign Committee.
W. W. Luffkin, Chairman,
27 State Street, Boston.

THE PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY

Mr. William F. Garcelon in his political article in the "Newton Times," says—

Five qualifications have been set down as being requisite for being strong and influential in a National Convention.

First, the delegates should have a thorough knowledge of national affairs.

Match Gardner, Bird, Cushing, and Washburn on this with Lodge, Crane, Weeks and McCall.

Second, they should have a nationwide acquaintance.

Third, they should have a nation-wide influence because of what they themselves have accomplished. On the second and third Gardner & Co., make a pitiful showing in comparison.

Fourth, The delegates should be reasonable men, able to come into reasonable agreement with other men. Gardner and Bird cannot qualify here for unless they can have their own way, they are most stubborn.

Fifth, Political judgment and commonsense. "Tis needless to recite the political history of Massachusetts for the last few years.

Our readers all know it, and know that Gardner, Bird and Cushing have called many names, have made many harsh charges and threats, and have not achieved good results either for themselves or their parties.

All of which does not indicate tact or political commonsense and judgment.

Measured by these five requirements, Senator Lodge, Ex-Senator Crane, Senator Weeks and Governor McCall stand out far and away ahead of the unaccepted boomers of Roosevelt.

WINS WAITT TROPHY

The beautiful silver cup, offered by Albert H. Waitt of this city, for all round competition at the local Y. M. C. A. was won by Leverett Woodworth of Church street for the third successive year, the contest being held Saturday night. The cup thus becomes the property of this popular athlete who well merits the coveted honor. His achievement came through consistency and faithfulness and the most remarkable part of it all was that in his first try three years ago he won the first leg, the first year in which he competed, and in his last two attempts securing a large margin of points over his nearest competitor.

Sherman Irving secured second prize and Ernest Woodworth third honors.

This is the third trophy offered by Mr. Waitt and the first cup to be won in three consecutive years.

The men finished in the following order:

Leverett Woodworth	534 5-6
Sherman Irving	440 1-4
Ernest Woodworth	415 2-3
H. Thomas	375 5
Wansker	374 1-4
Wellington Howes	335 5
Galway	280 2-3
Colby	226 5

The number of points attained was out of a possible 800.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—A good play is always welcome to him who feels, if he does not know, that there is no art quite equal to stage art for refreshing the spirit of the wayfarer mortal. It is cheering news that one is to be offered for our enjoyment at the Majestic Theatre next Monday evening, April 24th, and the pleasure is doubled by the announcement of a star cast, none of whom could be or would be associated with other than a congenial part. "The Henrietta," the best comedy written by Bronson Howard was produced in 1887 by Robson and Crane when that fun-making firm was at the height of its career. It made them and the author a fortune. William H. Crane is the only one of the trio left and he is now gleefully enacting in the revival his original role of a lion in Wall Street. Thomas W. Ross is cast as "Bertie," the Lamb, Stuart Robson's old part, and no young comedian of the American stage is better qualified to give it the "roll" distinction and humor the author intended. Maclyn Arbuckle is the selection for the fashionable dominie who puts the zest of living into his work of saving. Amelia Bingham appears as the charming widow and has inspired the reviewers to write many positive lines of appreciation. And Edith Taliaferro, she of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" and "Young Wildcat" fame, is the bewitching ingenue of the romance.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

While the holiday this week has curtailed considerable legislative work several important matters have had consideration. The liquor transportation bill has gone to enactment and will go to Governor McCall either tomorrow or Monday.

The bill to authorize preferential voting in city elections in Newton was signed by the Governor on Tuesday and now requires only the approval of the voters of this city to become operative.

On the bill relative to hours of labor on public works, Messrs. Allen and Weston were recorded in favor on Thursday of last week, while Mr. Jarvis was absent on committee work.

On Monday all three of our representatives voted against Governor McCall's bill for the abolition of capital punishment, and it was defeated 69 to 158.

Mr. Allen was the only Newton member on record Tuesday on the votes to provide for nomination by convention of minor offices on the state ticket. Mr. Allen believes that the bill should have carried a referendum and that direct primaries ought to be given at least five years' trial. The bill was defeated. Mr. Allen voted with the minority the same day against the Arlington street station bill.

Yesterday all three of our representatives voted in favor of the bill to allow local authorities to license jitneys, the bill being passed by a vote of 102 to 100.

BRAE BURN CLUB

A very charming social affair of the week, was the Auction Bridge and Tea given on Thursday afternoon, by Mrs. L. H. Cresse. A large company of guests were entertained in the New Tea Room, which was beautifully adorned with palms and yellow jonquils. Thirty tables were arranged, and those holding the highest score were presented with attractive souvenirs.

Mrs. S. Harold Greene of Newton Centre entertained about 75 young people at a delightful dancing party on Monday evening from 7 until 10.

On Tuesday the members of the Auburndale Review Club entertained 75 members and guests at luncheon, the occasion being a celebration of the club's twenty-fifth anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Henderson of Tower Hill, Wayland, will give a dance on Saturday evening.

An interesting event of the coming week will be the Club Dinner Dance on Saturday evening, April 29th in the new Tea Room.

TO BUILD IN NEWTON

At a meeting of the Commonwealth Country Club held this week in Boston, it was decided to build its proposed new club house in the city of Newton. The club owns its golf links on the slope of Waban hill and part of its grounds are in the city of Boston. If the Club built in Boston it would be eligible for a liquor license, while that is not the case if the building was located in this city.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

One is continually reminded that the club movement in the Newtons is no new thing as one club after another celebrates some anniversary worthy of commemoration. Two clubs, West Newton Women's Educational, and the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. have passed their thirty-fifth, the Newtonville Woman's Guild its thirtieth, the Social Science and the Newton Highlands Monday complete thirty years this year. Newton Centre Woman's Club next year and the Ladies' Home Circle the following year. The Auburndale Review Club is just celebrating its twenty-fifth this week. Of the remaining organizations belonging to the State Federation, it may be a surprise that this is the twenty-first year of the Newton Federation, while in Waban, which the old residents of Newton consider a very new community, the Woman's Club was organized twenty years ago. As to the number of members, the total number in the Newton Clubs, including only those belonging to the State Federation is about 1600, the largest in any single community except Boston. Somerville follows closely behind with about 1400 members, Lynn with nearly as many, then come Springfield and Worcester having each approximately 1100. The success, which the new Auburndale Woman's Club has met, leads one to think that there is still room for another club in this Newton, founded upon somewhat broader lines than the Social Science Club and not encroaching upon its field any more than has the Woman's Club in Auburndale upon the older Review Club. With these large numbers comes also the difficulty of a suitable place for holding meetings. Last year the Newton Centre Woman's Club embarked upon a clubhouse project, with the gift of a lot of land and the promise of financial backing now promises to be a reality in no distant future. This week sees the Newtonville Woman's Guild starting out on a similar line, while the clubs in Auburndale are sadly in need of a home of their own. In all the villages the churches and the schools have been most generous in their hospitality, but complications owing to exemption from taxation are frequently arising and the clubs do not wish to be recipients of charity, for they can perfectly well pay for their accommodations and should do so. A central clubhouse, as in Lynn, would not meet the difficulty, for Newton is different, so there seems no way for the clubs but to go ahead independently, unless it can be a village affair. Congratulations to the clubs who are this year celebrating anniversaries and success to all the clubhouse projects now being considered.

Local Happenings

The program for the meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on April 14 was provided by members of the Travel Class of the club with Mrs. George D. Byfield in charge. Mrs. G. W. St. Amant read a paper on "Alaska." Mrs. Joseph McDonald told of Child Labor Laws. Mrs. Robert Gorton's subject was "Immigration" and this was supplemented by a reading of "The Scum of the Earth," by Mrs. Wilcox. Two boys, who are pupils at the West Newton Music School, contributed songs and violin selections and Mrs. James Patterson rendered vocal solos. Refreshments were served at the close, this meeting being the last regular one of the season.

This week's meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club was held in the new home of Mrs. Wendell Mick.

Mrs. J. H. Turnbull and Mrs. C. A. Thompson were in charge of the program, which was an afternoon with Barrie. Mrs. Turnbull gave a sketch of the author's life and read selections from his writings. Miss Catherine Paul, soprano, sang several Scotch songs. After which Barrie's play, "Rosalind" was presented with Mrs. C. A. Thompson in the title role, Mrs. E. G. Allen as Charles Roach and Mrs. S. A. Thompson as Dame Quickly. It was very cleverly done and was very much enjoyed by all.

"Our Neighbors Among the Wild Flowers" was the subject of a very interesting and instructive lecture before the Waban Woman's Club on Monday by Dr. John B. May of Waban. Dr. May defined the flower as a result of a long series of steps in the process of evolution. After explaining the structure of the flower he showed pictures of well known plants of New England with special reference to the flora of Waban and its environs. Many of the flowers were those possessed of large strong roots several varieties being shown which are found nearby. The flowers of the hazel nut and skunk cabbage are the first to appear while those of the witch hazel are the last to bloom in the fall. The brightly colored flowers nearly always depend on insects for fertilization, and many very curious devices of nature for the accomplishment of her purposes were explained. The pictures of the different varieties of orchids to be found in and near Waban were especially pleasing.

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. met with Mrs. Hanson B. Rogers of Charlesbank road, Newton, on Monday afternoon. Mrs. C. Peter Clark, the president, was in charge of a Home Economics program. After the customary half-hour of current topics, Mrs. Clark opened the subject of the day, explaining usually this subject has been treated from the standpoint of food, but this time she proposed to consider rather the home in its various aspects. A paper upon "Interior Decoration," prepared by Mrs. Robert Clark, was read by Miss Bacall, in which simplicity and harmonious, restful colorings were advocated. Mrs. Sanford E. Thompson described "The Efficient Kitchen," considering the best arrangement of the refrigerator, sink, kitchen cabinet, tables, etc., in order to economize time and strength. The subject of floor coverings was also discussed, lining the most easily kept clean and perhaps the least fatiguing to the feet. Mrs. Fred R. Hayward read from books descriptive of the bed room, that it should be a place in which to rest, therefore, its furnishings should be simple and easily kept clean and the colorings such as will suggest quiet and rest. The requisites for the guest room were described at length. The chairman of the day summed up at the close various points brought out, gave a resume of several lectures upon different phases of the subject, showed a chart representing the family budget, and cited the characteristics of the true homemaker, comparing the housekeeper to the body and the homemaker to the soul.

On Tuesday the Newtonville Woman's Guild held its annual luncheon and business meeting. One hundred and fifty sat down to the delicious luncheon prepared and served by an efficient committee of club members, with Mrs. A. E. Vose as chairman. The tables were lovely in their decorations of spring flowers, the club color, yellow, being much in evidence. At the head table presided over by the president Mrs. W. S. Higgins, were seated several of the ex-presidents and members of the executive board, Mrs. Mary R. Martin, so long the recording secretary, being among the guests of honor. The postprandial exercises were spirited and suggestive of Patriots' Day. Mrs. F. E. Mann read by Dawes on "The Other Rider," Mrs. William O. Hunt read the poem, "Betsey Ross' Banner," and after the various toasts all joined in singing "America." At the business meeting the annual reports showed an exceedingly prosperous year. Mrs. C. D. Kepner reported the meeting of a committee of the club to consider the possibility of a clubhouse for the Guild and presented the plan of establishing a Housing Fund and that each member earn or secure $5 during the summer and report in October. This was adopted and a permanent committee to be known as the Housing Fund Committee, consisting of Mrs. Kepner as chairman, Mrs. Mann, and Mrs. Vose was appointed. The customary votes of thanks and courtesies were extended to the retiring officers. The election of officers resulted as follows: president, Mrs. Willard S. Higgins; vice-presidents, Mrs. W. A. Corson, Mrs. H. G. Ripley, Mrs. A. D. Cady, Mrs. J. L. Richards, Mrs. John Daboll, Mrs. W. S. Smythe, Miss L. C. Allen, Mrs. H. W. Crocker; recording secretary, Mrs. Samuel Thurber; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. F. Malcolm; treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Byers; assistant treasurer, Mrs. C. W. Fobin; clerk, Mrs. Louise R. Sherman; chairman of finance, Mrs. E. E. Hopkins; auditor, Mrs. E. C. Wyatt; directors, Mrs. W. F. Noves, Mrs. G. H. Talbot, Mrs. H. H. Fairfield, Mrs. P. A. Evans.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

About one hundred members, former members and special guests of the Auburndale Review Club gathered at the Brae Burn Country Club for luncheon on Tuesday to rejoice in the completion of twenty-five years of the club's existence. The new dining room is a particularly attractive place for such a festivity, with its numerous wide windows giving the impression of being out of doors in the woods. Nothing was lacking save sunshine to make the illusion complete. The tables themselves were very lovely in their decorations of roses. After the tables had been cleared Mrs. Arthur C. Farley, the retiring president, welcomed the company in a graceful speech. She stated that during the 25 years there have been 137 different members in the club and of that number 103 are still living. Mrs. Joseph H. Draper was then introduced as the toastmistress, (Continued on Page 9.)

Advertise in the GraphicSUFFRAGE LUNCHEON*Civic Standards and Human Welfare Discussed by Miss McDowell

The Third Annual Luncheon of the Newton Equal Suffrage League was held Monday at the Brae Burn Club, West Newton.

Miss Mary C. McDowell, Head of the Federation of Settlements, President of the Chicago Woman's City Club, and associated with Miss Jane Addams at Hull House, gave a very interesting and enlightening address on "Civic Standards and Human Welfare." Miss McDowell who is well versed in her subject was a very fluent and convincing speaker and a large audience listened to her remarks which were, in part, as follows:

Miss McDowell spoke of the extraordinarily impressive mass meeting planned by her, which had been held in the Auditorium in Chicago, where 13 speeches had been made, and every woman was expected to speak to the platform five minutes. She made clear how the women of Chicago had inherited from the men a situation in which government fails appallingly to minister to the human needs of the city, and the women of Chicago are now endeavoring to make the government do its legal duty to "all the children of all the people."

It was time an attempt was started, as the community was becoming dependent upon the possibilities of good government, but "the women have not got the deadly discouragement that comes from actual experience of defeat, and their courage is high, their vision clear."

"They prove it in their platform and they do not deal with the intricacies which the politicians create to blunt the efforts of democracy; they deal directly with things which they know from their own experience, as mothers, as housekeepers, as teachers, to be wrong in the way the city is governed."

This is the power back of the new movement in Chicago, and this knowledge which cannot be denied, by political issues, will hold thru to the end. The women must speak very clearly and very definitely on the wrecking of the Civil Service, when the actions of the City Government give evidence that it is required. The women citizens of Chicago have pledged themselves to do it.

After the meeting in Chicago was all over the mayor did not know what to say about it. The newspapers printed all about the women's protest against the "spoils system."

Miss McDowell spoke of the Emergency Tuberculosis Institution, that the two administrations before, had never touched; they inquired into it and found that they got the contracts by competitive bids, and the contract was given to the lowest bidder, but that would never do as they wanted their friends to get it. Dr. Theodore B. Sachs, for years head of the Chicago municipal tuberculosis sanatorium, president of the American Tuberculosis Association, and known as an expert on tuberculosis, could not stand their methods, and maintain his self respect, and was driven to suicide. The Labor man said "You call Dr. Sachs a suicide, but he was a hero and gave his life to save the Municipal Sanatorium."

There is a general waking up all over Chicago against the wrecking system. Miss McDowell spoke of the City Waste Commission, and how they demanded the finest expert to investigate it. They had trouble with the schools and demanded that the schools be divorced from politics. The Municipal Voters League gives a list of men to be elected for office and the League had one of the finest men to speak for it. The League urges all women to vote at elections, and on no account sell their privilege to vote. In the 7th ward at a recent election, the women doubled the vote on the best man for office.

One English minister said in his pulpit that he had been wishing for some one to protest, against the awful things in the City Hall, and the Women had to be the ones to do it.

One great advantage of the vote for homemaking women, was getting the garbage dumps cleaned up in Chicago. Garbage is unquestionably a domestic affair, and it is also an affair of Government. For years the women had pleaded to have the garbage dumps removed, but without avail. After they got the vote, one request was sufficient to remove this abuse of long standing. Before they had the vote, when women asked for anything, they were met with politeness by the city officials, but nothing was ever done for them. Chicago had no place to put the garbage; the women went to the Legislature and appealed with arguments for justice.

In July 1913 Governor Dunne signed the law that gave them the vote. The finance committee voted at once that a Commission be appointed, and two women were put on the Commission. Miss McDowell being one of them. A City Waste Commission was made with an appropriation of $10,000. It was voted for women that got the garbage system working.

When Miss McDowell made her speech before the Health Commission, she represented 250,000 possible voters, and the demand of all housekeepers. Not until women became a political factor, was the good work accomplished. When the women voted in Chicago for the first time no less than 168,000 went to the polls and the vote cast, showed a very intelligent grasp of the questions at issue.

Every time the women voted on bond issues they voted for the right man.

Women have had to fight every inch of the way, and the Press stands with the Suffragists in every issue, which is very gratifying. All of the Chicago newspapers printed Miss McDowell's letters, and the Chicago Evening Post wrote interesting editorials on some of them.

All that the women of Chicago have to do, is to protest, and protesting is highly educational. Women are progressing inch by inch and it keeps them keen after the right thing, and they try to keep the non-partisan spirit.

Miss McDowell thought that it would be a great question to get the women of the mixed districts in Chicago to register, but it worked out very simply, and she thinks that in Boston, there will be enough independent voters, enough single women to make it quite simple.

In the first registration in Chicago, the percentage of women who voted went far ahead of the men. It was a most exciting election, and the greatest possible interest was shown by the women. One thing which confused the women, was the two factions in the Republican party, which were fighting each other.

Miss McDowell claims that Municipal Government has nothing to do with Party Politics. Whether we would have Municipal ownership of street railways is a question, but if we should put a politician in to run a railroad system he would wreck it.

Before women get the vote they should become very intelligent on the political questions, and they should be prepared for voting by education on civic questions. When it comes to election, they have all the tickets; democratic, republican, socialist and prohibitionist.

Miss McDowell believes that the coming into politics of women, is going to simplify it, for the whole trend is towards simplification. It will be divorcing National politics from City government, and wrecking the spoils system, and she hopes that the Press will stand by the Suffragists when it comes to Legislation, as it has stood by them in their protests. The getting the vote is only a small part of what the Suffragists want to get.

At the close of the address questions were asked and answered. In regard to the Woman's City Club of Chicago, Miss McDowell said, that organization had a membership of 2000, and is using the power of the franchise, and the Committees keep in touch with all matters of interest. The club tries to be a City Clearing house, and organizes meetings and protests against the manner of running waste departments and civil service. Miss McDowell spoke at her meetings 11 times in one week, and they are planning another conference on non-partisanship, and then they will begin a campaign.

They have enough women in Chicago with them, to make their presence felt. Miss McDowell's brother, who was political editor on one of the Chicago newspapers, once said to her, "The politicians fear most of anything, your type of woman, who speaks right out," and Miss McDowell says that each woman must get one independent vote and keep the politicians guessing. We must not have any politics in our city government and women must not follow the men in this respect, but must start a new political machinery.

They must not forget the tragedy of Dr. Sachs. Human welfare is the chief function of politics and not national politics. Miss McDowell said, that she did not know how the women of Illinois ever got Suffrage, it was a great surprise. Mrs. McCullough became possessed of a clever idea, and got a Senator interested, and it was woman's noose influence, that won the franchise for Chicago. Everyone thought the Governor would veto the bill, but the Governor's wife and Margaret Hayes said of course it must be signed, and the fine, kindhearted Governor signed it.

Women believe in doing civic things, and the press stands with them in helping along the good work.

Miss McDowell made reference to what she termed "the disgraceful dumping of Boston garbage," and thinks that the Hub has a decided garbage problem. She also touched on a place in Boston, near the dumps, where women are obliged to work under most unsanitary conditions.

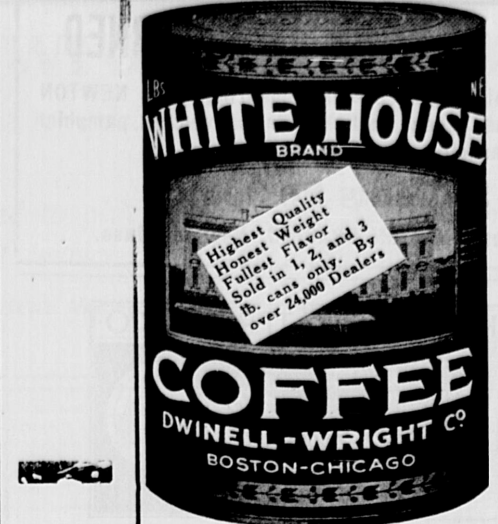

Garbage is taken and dumped into Boston Harbor in a most untidy manner, and they have very untidy disgusting conditions in Boston, which ought to be protested against. In Europe garbage wagons are not allowed to remain open one minute on the streets.

The Garden City also came in for a share of criticism in the manner of disposing of its garbage. A lady in the audience told of how the garbage was collected in her neighborhood, only twice a week, when the city was supposed to have it removed three times a week, and very often garbage was allowed to remain from Thursday until Monday morning, without collecting. She had complained repeatedly and finally appealed to the Board of Aldermen, and the only explanation they gave was that the contract to collect the garbage was given to the lowest bidder, and if they dismiss the garbage man who refused to call three times a week, they would have to pay more to have the work done, and the city could not afford to appropriate more.

Miss McDowell said that the method of carting garbage thru the streets of Newton in the present manner, was positively inexcusable, and she was surprised that a very intelligent suburban community like Newton, could submit to it, and the women ought to get together and protest. In Worcester, she says, they feed the garbage to the swine, which is not sanitary, not neat, not scientific and decidedly bad for the ham and bacon, which Worcester sells to the Swift Company.

Miss Alice Henry who was in Australia said that the women of Australia worked so hard for the franchise that when they got it, they did not know what to do with it, but not so with the women of Chicago. If they fail in using the vote it will be because they do not use it intelligently, morally and ethically. When asked concerning the attitude of the Anti-Suffragists in Chicago at the present time, Miss McDowell said that the Anti-Suffragists were in the minority.

Miss McDowell said that in regard to voting many of the Suffragists were like her mother, and she told an interesting incident of how her mother

QUALITY GOODS

It seems strange to us that any one should hesitate to use Quality Goods—goods so fine that they delight the epicure, goods so moderate in cost that any one may afford them. We wish we had the eloquence of a Cicero to convince you of their superiority, but if you would but give them one trial they will speak for themselves. It is the hardest thing in selling to convince a customer that first cost is not last cost; to make him understand that while the cost of some goods may be much lower in the beginning, they are almost invariably dearer in the end; to show him always an article is worth just about what it costs; in short, to impress him with the meaning of Quality. The only way to be convinced is to give Quality Goods a trial and upon such trial we are satisfied to rest our case assured that we would thereby gain another customer.

whose felicitous introductions in rhyme added much to the fun of the occasion. The first speaker, Mrs. Samuel Dike responded to the toast "Our Charter Members." The first meeting was held on October 20, 1891, and the membership was 24 at first, which was soon enlarged to 40, and that has remained the limit ever since. Of the charter members nine are still members of the club and thirteen have passed into the beyond. Mrs. Dike said that at first they had from five to nine papers on a single morning, but later cut the number down to three. She said that the club had been remarkably harmonious from the beginning and referred to the custom of assigning papers by lot, which has been continued through the years.

"Our Senior President" was responded to by Mrs. F. N. Peloubet, the second president of the club. Of the thirteen presidents, three, Mrs. Blodgett, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Knowlton have passed away. Mrs. Peloubet thanked the members for the beautiful courtesy and kindness, which she had received from them and congratulated the club on the quarter of a century of fine work. Miss Louise Manning Hodgkins, the first honorary president, brought greetings, saying, "It is seventeen years since I have met with you and I find you younger and fresher than when I went away." Referring to a debate on Preparedness in the Senate at Washington which she had heard a few days before, she said that we were preparedness to meet our own day, an educational preparedness that makes us care and makes us see a thing clearly and see it whole. We are living in an age that has had no repetition. She referred to the deeper things of life which make no noise as the essential things, quoting the lines, "I heard the roaring sunset gun. I did not hear the sun go down."

Then followed an original poem by Miss Alice Ranlet, which was suggested by the statue of Alpine guide, Jacques Balmet, who with upturned finger is pointing out the path at Mont Blanc to the naturalist de Saussure, which stands in the village of Chamoni.

Miss Jessie J. MacMillan reviewed the literary work of the club, the years devoted to the study of history, literature, art, "until they had reviewed everything but the heavens." Later came an exhaustive study of the drama, which they found most absorbing, many of them having never been allowed in their youth to enter a theater. "Our Community Work" was presented by Mrs. M. E. Herron. Up to 1906 the club had been strictly a study club, but with the increasing activity of the Newton Federation toward social betterment, the club took its part, its first enterprise being a reception for parents and teachers; then came the Bazaar to assist in the purchase of the Clavin estate, the club having charge of the entertainment, the "Tag Day" for the Anti-tuberculosis work, the repetition of the original play for the benefit of the Welfare Bureau and the recent participation in the May Breakfast and the house to house canvass for the Hospital social service work. All these have proved a common interest at home and compound interest abroad.

In responding to the toast "Our Children" Mrs. Charles D. Pickard referred in a humorous vein to the changes which a quarter-century has made in them. Greetings from Our Absent Members were presented in the form of letters read by the secretary, Miss Harriette D. Hunt. Mrs. W. W. Gilpatric responded to "Our New Members," naming the quiet dignity, mental curiosity and poise of the members as characteristics, which call forth the admiration of the new members and in a happy way pledged to the club their enthusiasm, their untiring powers, a new point of interest, and the best that is in them.

Mrs. Charles A. Brown, president of the Auburndale Woman's Club, brought greetings and congratulations from the "Sister Club," the little sister, but somewhat overgrown, "Our Fathers," named as forward and onward, by Mrs. Henry R. Turner, who was unable to be present, her response being read by Miss Ellen C. Williams. The closing number was an original club song, written and read by Mrs. Guy M. Winslow and then sung to the tune of "The Old Oaken Bucket" by all present. This closed a very delightful program in which there had not been a dull moment.

The annual business meeting preceded the luncheon and after the annual reports were submitted, the following list of officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. F. F. Dunton; vice-president, Mrs. F. J. Davidson; secretary, Miss Harriette D. Hunt; treasurer, Mrs. William Fuller; executive committee, Mrs. Edw. Almy, Mrs. Edward J. Frost, Mrs. Amos R. Wells.

A STATUE AND THE ORIGINAL

(A poem written by Miss Alice Ranlet for the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the Auburndale Review Club. Suggested by the statue of Jacques Balmet, in the village of Chamoni.)

In a little Alpine village,
Walled in by the mountains wild,
On the brink of a swirling river,
Foam-white and the glacier's child,
Stands the statue of a peasant,
With the ropes and staff of a guide;
A lowly youth of the people,
But brave-faced and earnest-eyed.

And his lifted finger forever
Points up to the sapphire skies,
Against which, gleaming transfigured,
God's shining mountains rise.
Steadfastly through storm and sunshine,
Steadfastly by day and night,
His gaze is ever upward, toward
Those summits crowned with light.

And no man passing the statue,
Can fail to raise his eyes,
As the hand directs, to the mountains,
And drifts in the sapphire skies.
Glorious the silent power
Which makes men lift their eyes
Up to high, holy places
Where the royal snow-peaks rise.

The mountains climbed in their glory,
Shining and peerly white,

FRED L. CRAWFORD

And rainbow-hued on their crystal peaks,
Vast prisms reflecting light.
Out leaped from their icy caverns
Clear streams of beryl green,
And rushed with their mystic waters' song
Down the rock-rimmed, steep ravine.

Upon the marge of the glacial snow
A garden of flowers grew,
Frail living blossoms of many a tint,
Rose, amethyst, heaven's own blue,
In the heart of this Alpine paradise,
This beauty-smiling vale,
Was a squalid hamlet of wretched folk,
Who plodded their daily trail,

Wringing their meagre livelihood
By a sordid, toilsome grind,
Nor lifting their eyes to the soaring heights
Nor their minds to the truths these signed,
Save one youth, who tending his master's herd
In the highland pasture, saw
The glittering snow-peaks, mass on mass,
And felt in his boy's soul awe.

And wondered if man might ever climb
To those summits piercing the sky,
Then sudden a great resolve he took
That he would even try,
Like the feet of the chamois, his young feet were sure,
And his eye like the eagle's keen,
And he scaled the fearsome, beetling crags
And leaped o'er ice chasms green.

Yawning in dreadful frozen depths
In the glacier's winding stream,
And he came at last to the mountain's crest,
Made real was his daring dream!
And then to the world he pointed out
The hard-won mountain trail,
And art and science and poetry came
To lovely Chamoni's vale.

And life dawned on the village folk
Who learned to look up and not down,
While they honored the youth who Had opened the way
To their mountain monarch's crown,
True gifts of Heaven those bring to earth
Who inspire us day by day
To look on the heights that about us rise,
And to climb on the upward way.

Such gifts through this Club, earnest workers have brought,
And not only to Auburndale,
Help to many in things and thinkings has gone
And hope where courage would fail;
Today it is decked with a score-and-five
Gems strung on a golden chain.

Wider vision and worth-while gain.
Revising respite from the daily round,
Good comradeship, warm friendly cheer,
The joy of new knowledge, with music and art,
Song, poetry, and drama are here.

Of these gifts and many with gracious hands
Bestowed widely, we think and are glad;
And we honor this spirit of Auburndale,
While we sing of the Chamoni lad,
Whose statue his grateful folk have set up
Where Mont Blanc's shadow falls,
And whose message from over the western sea
Its "Look forward, look up" ever calls.

TRAVEL CLASS

A musical and literary entertainment marked the "Travel Class" day of the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday, April 14.

Mrs. George D. Byfield, the class leader for the year 1915-1916, had charge of the exercises and gave a resume of the work done during the year.

The "Social and Economic" problem was treated by Mrs. Joseph A. McDonald of Auburndale from her excellent paper on that subject. The different phases of life were so graphically portrayed it was inevitable that "We doted awaken to our responsibilities."

Mrs. A. L. Jordan's recitation of "The House by the Side of the Road" followed and was greatly appreciated. Master Robert McDonald gave two violin performances which were indicative of latent talent, which developed, will make him a prize pupil of the West Newton School of Music.

Master Alvah Wheeler sang with violin obligato and piano accompaniment two selections which met with merited applause.

The work of these young lads reflects great credit on their teachers, and the West Newton School of Music which is doing splendid work, and should receive every encouragement from the citizens of Newton.

Mrs. George W. St. Amant entertained her audience with extracts from her most interesting paper on Alaska.

Mrs. James Patterson, one of the club's talented soloists sang, with feeling "Silently Blending" from the opera of Figaro.

Mrs. Harry S. Wells was the accompanist.

Mrs. Robert A. Gorton of Brookline, brought out the salient features of her splendid paper on "Immigration." In line with the thoughts expressed in Mrs. Gorton's paper was the poem "The Scum of the Earth," recited sympathetically, by Mrs. Wilcox.

A social hour followed with the members of the Travel Class as hostesses. The tea room was beautifully decorated with asparagus vines and early spring flowers.

UNPREPARED FOR DISEASE

At a meeting of the Boston Osteopathic Society in Boston Saturday evening, Dr. Oliver Van Dyne of this city said: "Hundreds of American soldiers will die of disease in Mexico, if Militia-men or volunteers are sent to reinforce regulars there."

Dr. Van Dyne has recently returned from Europe where he was greatly interested in hospital problems connected with the war. "It is not bullets which will kill the troops, but germs," he said. "Disease will mow down the militia-man while the regulars will remain unscathed. Why? Because the latter are Prepared! How? By adjustment to environment!"

When England was drawn into the present complication, she faced an appalling lack of munitions. Lloyd George was appointed Minister of Munitions, with full power to see what could be done. Every factory was compelled to report its horse power and where it was partially unused, the reserve was applied to munition manufacture; machinery was put to work for twenty-four hours a day; women could do much of the work and at Woolwich, Lady Scott, wife of the intrepid Antarctic explorer, worked side by side with the wife of a cobbler. The results were astounding and a large volume of product was almost instantly placed at the disposition of the army, without additional building—simply adjustment to environment.

Our regular soldiers have their living planned by masters of hygiene, sanitation, exercise and diet. They are capable of giving the best possible service with the minimum of fatigue and disease. A sound body will resist germs which will kill the unsound man. The regular soldier sees the Company doctor whenever a symptom is felt, and the doctor sees him at regular intervals, whether he needs it or not. How of the militiaman? Alas! In this busy, work-a-day world, even though he breathes the same air, eats the same food; has opportunity for exercise, yet he's not adjusted to his environment! Why? He has carelessly or ignorantly—or both—failed to care for himself properly! Many times he has crawled to his office or factory, not feeling half fit for the day's work, but instead of seeing his physician, he gets a few pills or takes advice from a comrade, or does nothing but "hopes he'll feel better in the morning." And these beginnings small and hardly perceptible, individually, get such an accumulative hold on his body, that when put to a supreme test he is absolutely, unable to stand up under the burden, and the soldier's life being "no respecter of persons" leaves him fatigued, diseased and non-resistant to germs which result in sickness and death!

loaned the parish $25,000 additional, for twenty years, without interest. In that time this amount will practically have doubled itself, and it was this generosity that made the new building a reality. The old wooden church was moved from its site to the playground nearby and presented by the parish to the village as a municipal building.

At the outset the parish was favored. Its membership includes Robert Casson, of the firm of Irving & Casson, and John Evans, prominent all over the country for his designing and carving in stone. Mr. Casson gave personal supervision to the designing and carving of the interior fittings of the building, while the lofty pinnacles outside bear witness to Mr. Evans' skill.

In addition William G. Snow of the building committee is a lecturer at M. I. T. on the subjects of heating and ventilating, and he personally supervised these details in the new church. The church, as designed by George W. Chickering of Arlington, has a frontage of 40 feet on Centre street and its depth is 125 feet. The auditorium, from floor to ridgepole, measures fifty feet in height, and the seating capacity is nearly 400. One unusual feature is an ambulatory that extends around the entire church. There are nine windows to a side and large ones at each end.

Instead of the usual memorial windows the memorial features in the new church are the various fittings, practically all of which are gifts. The organ loft, at one side of the chancel, contains a new instrument that cost $6200, and was given by Mr. and Mrs. John F. Milner of Newton Centre.

The altar was given by Mrs. John P. Tenney, in memory of her husband; the reredos is a memorial to Mrs. Frank H. Ratcliffe; the bishop's chair and prayer desk, with a carved canopy, were given by Miss Mary F. Brown and Miss Hopkins; the pulpit was presented by Louis H. Fitch, as a memorial to his father, who was a clergyman; the lectern is the gift of the children and grandchildren of James W. Hill, one of the founders of the parish; the rector's stall and prayer desk are gifts from J. Edwards Harlow; the choir stalls were given by the Woman's Auxiliary; the baptismal font was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. George, although Mrs. George did not live to see the gift in place; the Men's Club of the church is raising $1000 for chancel furniture, and, in fact, all the church organizations are taking part in fitting out the building. Even the carved sanctuary panels are memorials. The chandeliers are of carved oak, and are the work of Mr. Casson. A set of embroidered altar linen was given by Mr. Lincoln Hawkins.

The following persons were the building committee: Chairman, Louis H. Fitch; Robert Casson, John Evans, William H. Bundy, William G. Snow and Rev. Edward T. Sullivan.

While the church was opened Sunday with a debt of $32,000 it is probable that this amount will be wiped out by next Sunday, as an unknown friend has agreed to give $25,000 towards this sum, and a friend of the rector, Rev. Mr. Sullivan has offered to give one half of the remainder, provided the remainder is raised during the present week.

ANNUAL MEETING

There was an attendance of more than one hundred at the Annual Meeting of the Central Club which was held Monday evening in Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

Members of the Claffin Club, the Men's Club of the First Universalist Church and the Men's Club of St. John's Church were the guests of the evening.

Mr. John B. Heberd, Deputy Prison Commissioner of Massachusetts spoke graphically of prison work and prison reform. His subject was "Who Are Our Prisoners and What Are We Doing For Them?" and was highly interesting and instructive, being illustrated with lantern slides.

At the close of the address refreshments were served under the direction of Mr. Fred E. Mann, chairman of the reception committee.

Reports of the various committees were read and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mr. H. Belden Sly, president; Mr. Edwin S. Woodbury and Mr. Fred W. Rust, vice-presidents; Mr. Percy F. Williams, secretary-treasurer; Rev. A. J. Muste, Harry L. Greene, Robert W. Boyden and Charles R. Lynde, directors.

POLICE NOTES

In court yesterday, Benamio di Napoli and Frank Odde of Boston accused of bringing liquor into the city with the intent to sell and for illegal transportation of liquor were found guilty by Judge Kennedy and fined $50 each on both counts. They appealed.

Charged with breaking into and entering the Classical High School, High School Gymnasium, Horace Mann School, Bigelow School and a barn on Church street, two High School boys, Richard Fredey, 15, of 146 Jewett street, and Lennox F. Rhodes, 16, of 16 Omar terrace, were arrested by Inspector Fletcher, and were arraigned in the juvenile session and their cases were continued until May 13.

Patrolman Michael Keating arrested Frank Forbes, 19, Wednesday in Nonantum square, just as he was about to board a car for Boston. A complaint was made to the officer that a ring, two razors and a small amount of money was taken in the boarding house at 1 Bacon street, Newton, where young Forbes had lived for the past week, with the result that Forbes was arrested on suspicion. The articles alleged to have been stolen were found on his person.

A fine of $100 was imposed upon Joseph Cronin of 18 Nonantum place, Newton, Monday morning, by Judge J. C. Kennedy on the charge of operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor. Cronin is employed by a local taxicab concern, and it was alleged that he took one of the machines while the driver was absent and drove two passengers to their home. On his way back he was seen by the patrolmen, who had already sent him home, and they arrested him. He appealed.

DEATH OF MRS. BOIVIN

The painters connected with local union 545 went out on a strike last Monday with a demand for an increase in wages from $18 and $20 a week minimum wage to $22.00 per week of 5 1-2 days, or substantially 40 cents a day. The employers have offered a compromise of $20 per week until April 1, 1917, but so far it has been refused. About 130 or 140 men are not working at the present time and the prospect for immediate resumption of work is uncertain.

CHILDREN'S PARTY

Annual Affair at Newtonville Proves a Great Success

Temple Hall, Newtonville, presented a very attractive sight on Saturday afternoon, when arranged for the annual Children's Party which was given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Universalist Church, under the direction of Mrs. J. L. Atwood.

Although the weather conditions were decidedly unfavorable, the large number of visitors present, was a compliment to those who had the affair in charge, and Mrs. Atwood's annual party is generally conceded to be the banner event of the year for the children in Newtonville.

Those who attended were fully repaid by an afternoon's entertainment which was replete with enjoyable features, not only for the children, but also for their parents and friends.

Among these interesting features were the exhibitions of fancy dancing by pupils of Mrs. Maud Osborne of Newtonville, Miss Grace Monahan of Waltham, and Mme. Paporello of Boston, and the clever dances by the young people, reflected great credit on themselves as well as on their teachers.

The fancy dancing included a "Funny Fox Trot," by Miss May Belandau of Waltham, attired in a pink lace costume and wearing a white hat, she went thru a clever performance of intricate steps which was her own original sketch, and elicited great applause. "Dance of The Roses," by Pamela Gifford of Otis street, who is a popular favorite and well known for her clever and graceful dancing; she was the personification of grace and beauty, and wore a white filly costume trimmed with pink rosebuds, hat with pink satin streamers, pink stockings and slippers, and as she danced she scattered pink roses about her. The toe-dancing and difficult poses, were wonderfully clever, and she was rapturously encored and responded with variations on the "Valse Bleue." She was presented with a bouquet of pink carnations.

"Japanese Cherry Blossoms," by Mildred Wright of Brookline, and Paul Revere Knight, Jr., of Newtonville, was a beautiful fantastic dance which was coached by Mrs. Osborne, and it was executed with remarkable grace and cleverness by both young people, who were arrayed in quaint Japanese costumes, and danced thru the figures, around a jardiniere of cherry blossoms placed in the center of the hall. The Oriental effect and picturesque scene, were charming and the dancers received enthusiastic applause. The little girl was presented with a large bouquet of pansies, and the little boy received a bouquet of yellow jonquills.

"In a Garden," a pantomime dance, was performed with very pleasing effect by the Misses May and Beatrice Belandau. It was exceedingly novel, one of the little girls appearing in boy's costume, and her sister in a pink filly frock. The toe-dancing was especially good, and both little girls were accorded liberal applause.

Mrs. Atwood was assisted by Miss Bessie Hartshorne of Newtonville, who with Edward Merritt, led the grand march, which displayed a bevy of pretty children, some in fancy costumes, and all of whom were so happy that they attracted much attention, and won the admiration of all present.

The music added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion; a selected program of popular melodies was furnished by Edna Knight, pianist, for Knight's Orchestra, and a number of the M. Millie Beardsley Concert Company.

The refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Theodore O. Bjornson, treasurer of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Among the many pretty dancers the Graphic representative noted the following: Doris Jervid, a charming little maiden in white embroidered muslin trimmed with pink roses and pink ribbon bows, and Elizabeth Curtis, equally charming in white lace with overdress of blue trimmed with pink and blue flowers. Florence Merritt was prettily attired in white nainsook over pink silk and white satin bows, and Lois Bjornson was a pretty and graceful little dancer in embroidered muslin with pale blue sash and blue bows. Evelyn Cheney was a bewitching little fairy in filly muslin with pink and blue trimmings and pink bows.

EASTER DANCE

Annual Charity Ball of Mothers Rest a Great Success

A social event of note on Monday evening, which attracted nearly 200 members of Newton's best society, was the Easter Charity Dance, which was given for the benefit of the Mother's Rest Association of Newton Centre in Bray Hall.

This affair for charity is always one of the season's largest and most beautiful functions, and as regards the elegance of costumes, the enjoyment of the evening and the general success, Monday evening's dance eclipsed those of former years. All of the tickets were sold a week in advance and many applications for tickets had to be refused. One of the attractive features was the arrangement of boxes. Along the sides and in the back of the hall, seating from 6 to 20 persons and many were reserved for the guests who arrived late.

Beasley's Orchestra of Milton, was in attendance and many flattering comments were heard concerning the excellence of the music.

The matron's corner was attractively decorated with palms and spring flowers, and the refreshment table, where fruit punch, cake and ices were served was adorned with vases of yellow jonquills.

The matrons were Mrs. Everett D. Burr, Mrs. Arthur C. Badger, Mrs. George Smith and Mrs. Robert E. Anderson of Newton Centre.

The ushers were Mr. George W. Crampton, head usher; Messrs. Leonard Jackson, Francis B. Kittredge, Benjamin E. Thomas, Theodore Tewksbury, Francis Skelton, Mark Noble, Arthur C. Badger, Augustus T. Beatey, George Walker, Prescott Warren, Faulkner Kendall, Frederick R. Haywood, Charles N. Fitz, Frederick Robinson, Albert McAuslan, Ashley Day, and Ray Stanley.

The affair was in charge of a committee of ladies under the chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur C. Badger. The dancing, music and arrangements in the hall were under the direction of Mrs. Frank A. Mason and Mrs. George W. Crampton. The tickets were in charge of Mrs. Charles B. Wilbar; Refreshments, Mrs. Albert McAuslan. Among those who entertained at dinner before the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Louis K. Liggett of Chestnut Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Nathan, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hall, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Stewart, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bowman Stratton.

Guests were present from Brookline, Boston, Waban, Chestnut Hill, Auburndale, West Newton, Newton-

40 YEARS IN BUSINESS

Mr. Arthur Hudson Celebrates An Unusual Anniversary

Mr. Arthur Hudson, the well known druggist of Nonantum square, quietly observed the fortieth anniversary of his entering business in this community, on last Saturday, and a number of his friends and business associates paid him a visit at noon and gave him a handsome electric reading lamp and presented Mrs. Hudson with a bouquet of carnations.

The affair was in charge of Mr. Harold Moore and was a complete surprise to both Mr. and Mrs. Hudson.

Mr. Hudson was born in England and studied the drug business in New-castle, under Messrs. Currie and Hutchinson and at Durham, Eng. University, also under several preceptors in London. Leaving England he came to Boston and was employed in the laboratory of Weeks and Potter and later he was with the firm of Charles I. Eaton.

LIGHT VOTE AT PRIMARY

Unpledged Delegates to Republican Presidential Convention Win Easily

The presidential primaries held on Tuesday attracted but little attention from the electorate of this city, about 35 per cent of the registration taking the trouble to go to the polls and vote.

With the only contest over Republican delegates, it was but natural that the greater part of the vote was cast by members of that Party, 2609 Republican ballots being recorded and but 208 Democratic.

On the Republican ticket, the unpledged delegation easily led in this city, as well as in the state at large. Governor McCall leading with a total vote of 1873, Senator Lodge having 1851, Senator Weeks 1789 and ex senator Crane 1764, while the delegation pledged to Roosevelt received the following vote, Bird 678, Cushing 649, Gardner 644 and Washburn 543. The Lower Falls precinct being the only precinct carried by this delegation. The same proportion held in the vote for alternates at large, where Frothingham and Stearns had 1646 each, Ames 1622 and Keith 1615, while the contesting candidates had the following, McGregor 567, Williams and Cosgrove 551 each, Armstrong 541.

For district delegates and alternates, the vote was as follows: Doty 1243, Hays 1226, Coolidge 800, Fales 767, alternates, Williams 1355, Pulsifer 1351, Cobb 519, Sullivan 493. It is interesting to note that the district alternates received a larger vote than the district delegates themselves.

On the Democratic side 208 votes were cast in the entire city and only one contest, three candidates being on the ticket for district delegates.

MT. HOLYOKE ALUMNAE

The alumnae of Mount Holyoke College in the Newtons have arranged two affairs by which to assist in raising a fund for furnishing the new Student Alumnae Hall, recently completed at the college, which will be dedicated at Commencement in June. An Auction Bridge and Tea will be held at the Brae Burn Country Club on Tuesday, May 9, at half past two, and for those who do not care for cards a Shakespeare Reading from "The Tempest" will be given by Rev. Harry Lutz at the Hunnewell Club on Monday, May 8, at eleven o'clock. Generous friends have provided the use of the Hunnewell Club and of Brae Burn, as well as the Tea, and the co-operation of other friends is urgently solicited that the seventy tables may all be filled.

Tickets for either affair may be secured from Miss Grace M. Burt, 94 Charlesbank road, Newton.

CLAFIN GUARD VETERAN ASSOCIATION

This Association having adopted the plan of holding a spring meeting, and a summer outing, in addition to their Annual Meeting and Dinner, met at the South Armory, Boston, on Monday evening last, through the courtesy of Col. Fullerton commanding the Mass. Coast Artillery Corps, and viewed the work on the Big Guns, as well as infantry drill, which was exceedingly interesting.

The big guns, consist of a twelve-inch mortar and a ten-inch disappearing gun, exact duplicates of those mounted in the forts of Boston Harbor, and the quick work of loading and firing these guns shows the efficiency of our Massachusetts soldiers, the time being about thirty seconds. A miniature battleship at the further end of the large drill hall, is moved slowly by electricity, to represent a ship at a long distance sailing, and the guns are sighted for that ship by mathematical instruments in conning towers or stations. This was all new to most of the members and was greatly enjoyed. At the conclusion of the military exercises the members proceeded to the Hotel Oxford and partook of a lunch prepared for them, which was much appreciated. Col. Fullerton as their guest spoke very interestingly on preparedness and the work of coast defense.

was of white voile and Danish cloth, with crimson satin bows which were quite effective.

Lois Trowbridge and Marion Trowbridge, two charming little dancers, were dressed in white silk poplin and turquoise blue bows. Phyllis and Elizabeth Harrington, two lovely and fairy-like dancers, were adorable in dainty frocks of sheer white muslin with lace trimmings and pink satin bows. Eleanor Grant was a lovely dancer in white voile with pink ribbon bows, and Betty Richardson enjoyed the dances in a pretty gown of pink-flowered crepe trimmed with white lace. Marjorie Trowbridge "tripped it on the light fantastic" in a gown of white with bows of pale yellow, and Eldora Elizabeth Cushman danced the hours away, attired in white, with navy blue bows.

Gwenyth Quimby, in a beautiful dress of white with pink silk bolero and pink satin bows, was an attractive little dancer, and Katherine Nixon was greatly admired in a pretty white gown, with black velvet girdle and pink bows. Alice James looked very sweet and dainty in white muslin trimmed with pink satin ribbon and lace, with pink bows.

Barbara Marvin, a vivacious little dancer, was very lovely in a beautiful frock of accordion pleated white silk, white sash, slippers and satin bows. Mary Tomlinson wore an attractive gown of white, with pink wreath and satin sash of pink.

Among the little boys who graced the happy occasion and came in for a large share of the admiration, were Paul Revere Knight, Jr., Paul James, David Quimby, Prescott Winslow, Wendell Putnam, Foster Greene, Theodore Bjornson, Everett Putnam, Hayward Jones, Richard Zoller, Fred Hill, Edward Merritt, Ralph Allen, Shattuck Osborne, and Lloyd Osborne.

In 1876 he was examiner of foods for the War Department. He came to Newton on April 22, 1876 and bought out the late E. F. Billings' drug store which was then situated on nearly the present location of the Centre Street bridge, which place he kept for three years, then removing his business to the Warner block, corner of Centre and Elmwood streets and now occupied by the Atwood Market Company. This store Mr. Hudson held for eighteen years and then removed to the site now occupied by the Newton Post Office, where he remained for about a year, during which time the building in which his present store is located, was built.

He was appointed milk inspector for the city of Newton in 1892 and also bacteriologist in 1895, which positions he still holds, by Mayor H. E. Hibbard.

Twenty-three years ago Mr. Hudson established the Newton Corner Pharmacy and engaged the services of Mr. Walter E. Mars who has been associated with him ever since. He has a very wide acquaintance among the drug and medical professions, and occupies a position in the front rank of Newton's commercial activity.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

Edward F. McSweeney, formerly the editor of the Boston Transcript, and now the chairman of directors of the port of Boston, addressed the school at the Wednesday assembly this week on the great needs of the development of the United States Merchant Marine. He especially stressed the desirability of the United States having foreign markets to which to ship their surplus production. New England, in his opinion, can greatly enhance its prosperity by investing its money in ship-building and mercantile enterprises, rather than in Western investments.

The tickets for the Senior Play, to be held in the Technical School hall on the evenings of April 28 and 29, have been selling very well, all the reserved seats for Saturday being sold, and only a few remaining for Friday night. A goodly delegation from the high school will attend the play. "The Girl from Upper Seven" was presented a few weeks ago by the Everett High School students.

WHY HAS IT?

April 26, 1916.

Editor,
 Newton Graphic,
 Newton, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

Why is it that the recent agitation for a course of military training at the High Schools has entirely dropped out of sight? Has the need for this training become any less? General Wood, says that not more than 50 per cent of the applicants for enlistment are physically fit for the Army's qualifications, and this system of training might help to build up our boys, so that this percentage would be increased. Also, they would learn discipline, and respect for law and order. Added to this is the additional point, which is still a valuable one, that they might in times of need serve their Country efficiently.

Yours very truly,
 W. G. S.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The spring term began Monday, April 24, after a vacation of nine days. There now remain only seven more weeks before the close of the school year.

At the last Assembly Mr. Adams announced that it had been decided that graduation would take place on Saturday, June 17.

On the Friday before the recent vacation, the last two regular periods were omitted, in order that the entire school might assemble in the hall directly after recess. An interesting and somewhat unusual program, consisting of three short Shakespearean scenes composed by a member of the Junior class, was presented by members of the English Club. An introductory announcement stating the purpose of the meeting was made by Miss Matlack, the president of the club. The prelude to the three scenes were composed in blank verse by Miss Winifred Dodge, who recited them before each part. There were also two songs rendered by the regular school chorus, led by Mr. Walton. The program, which lasted an hour and a half and was very greatly enjoyed by all present, was the following.

1. A scene from the court of Queen Elizabeth, taken from Scott's "Kenilworth."

2. The courtship of Henry the fifth.

3. A scene from "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

The school baseball team has been very successful during the past week, winning three victories in first class form. The contest with Boston Latin on Patriots' Day was rather slow and uninteresting, but on the following Friday the team met its first real opposition, winning a close battle from Haver Academy, with Hanson in the box for the visitors. The batting of the Newton players in this game was very encouraging, considering the pitcher which they opposed. This Tuesday, however, the team took a very bad slump in hitting, being forced to play seventeen innings before winning 1 to 0 from Rindge Technical, and failing to register a single hit in the first ten innings. The game was finally won by a pass and a misplay by the visitors' third baseman.

The game scheduled for Wednesday with Country Day School was postponed on account of rain. Next week three contests are on the schedule. The team will play Wellesley on Monday, Everett on Wednesday, and Huntington School on Saturday.

Last Tuesday afternoon the Newton second team was defeated by the Brookline School of Practical Arts, by a score of ten to nothing, on Clafin Field. On the same field Thursday the second team defeated the Melrose second team by a score of sixteen to nothing.

PLAYGROUND SUPERVISORS

The Spring season of the Playground Department opened with a rush last Tuesday afternoon. Weather permitting, there will be supervision on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons and all day Saturdays. The following directors are in charge of the Playgrounds:

LIEUT. HARRISON HURT

Lieut Robert S. Harrison, for 35 years attached to the Newton Police and the oldest man in the department in point of service, was badly bruised and cut Sunday night, when he was struck by a taxicab while he was about to board a car in front of Police Headquarters in West Newton. He will be laid up probably for a couple of weeks.

The car Lieut. Harrison wanted was going to Natick. He had just stepped into the street toward it when the taxicab, driven by Fred Donohue of West Newton, hit him.

Dr. Fred M. Lowe, the city physician, looked him over in Headquarters, where he was taken, then advised his being sent to his home in Waban.

In court Monday Donohue was charged with reckless driving and the case continued until May 8.

Stunt Night

This event marks the closing of the winter season in Bible Study. Since October six clubs, made up from six to ten boys, have sessions once each week and under competent leadership have spent half an hour in the study of the Life of Christ and the Life of Paul. A great deal of interest has been exhibited in the competition for the club shield which is presented at the close of each season to the club having the best attendance. The O. V. C. Club, taught by John Finilli and presided over by President Walter MacDonald won the shield having an attendance of 91%. The shield was presented by Carlton Ellison, whose club won it for the season of 1914-1915. An interesting incident is the fact that John Finilli was a former student under Carlton Ellison's teachings, in the same subject. Stunt Night will be observed on Saturday, April 29 and will take place in the large hall of the Newton Young Men's Christian Association. The program will begin at eight o'clock. Each club is planning to "put on" a "stunt" that will excel the work of the other clubs. Admission will be by ticket only and these may be secured without cost, from any club member or at the Boys' Division office.

Special rates for summer membership are now offered to the boys of the Newtons and Watertown. The privileges included and extending for three months are the use of the Swimming Pool, Shower Baths, Gymnasium (all at stated periods), Athletic Field, Social Rooms, Reading Room, Outings, Over-Night Hikes, etc. All activities are under supervision.

April 29—Stunt Night.
May 25-27—All Day Camp.
June 24 to July 2nd—Bicycle trip to Camp Becket, State Camp.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

The tennis courts have been put in first class shape and are being used every day.

All those interested are urged to keep the evening of May 1st for the annual meeting of the Association. There will be a dinner and entertainment as well as reports of the year's work.

The final standing of the teams in Bowling Tournament follows:

	Won	Lost
Team 3	34	22
Team 8	32	24
Team 6	31	25
Team 1	28	28
Team 2	27	29
Team 5	25	31
Team 7	24	32
Team 4	23	33

High Average 101, F. I. Jaquith.
High Three String 344, F. C. Jones.
High Single 138, A. F. Tucker.
Team 3 consists of S. T. Emery, A. Osterlund, J. S. Farquhar, L. J. Mayell, A. W. Frye.

SHUBERT THEATRE—There must necessarily be much action, including speedy comedy, lively dancing, effective singing, and general originality in a performance where such established entertainers as Clifton Crawford, Conroy & LeMaire, Collins & Hart, Timberg & Darling, Venita Fitzhugh, Margaret Edwards, Helen Goff, McMahan, Diamond and Chaplow, Franklin Batie and dainty Rosie Quinn are the principals, and that is just the case with "A World of Pleasure," the latest and biggest of all the New York Winter Garden shows that the Messrs. Shubert have sent over to Boston. This aggregation of talent in "A World of Pleasure" will be seen for the fourth successful week at the Shubert Theatre, beginning next Monday evening, May 1st. Besides these well known principals there are more than 100 others, seventy-five percent of whom make up the wondrous beauty chorus. Musically "A World of Pleasure" is equipped with an abundance of these crisp, dashing numbers that are the life of musical extravaganza, while the costuming is marked by beautiful and original effects.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—"The Only Girl," for which Victor Herbert wrote some of his finest music, and its accompanying story supplied by Henry Blossom, which lives in memory as a jewel of melody and comedy and delightfully recall as among the finest things seen during the season, when "The Only Girl" was given here earlier in the winter, will come back to the Majestic Theatre for a return engagement beginning Monday evening, May 1st with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. "The Only Girl," is the one product of musical comedy seen in recent years that can be really designated as "a musical comedy" without mangling the King's English. It is gratifying to note the complete success of plays like "The Only Girl," as it means the substitution of character for caricature, sentiment for banality and what is best of all a real story instead of a hodge-podge affair of meaningless nothings.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL BASEBALL

The Playground department has announced the following base ball schedule for the Grammar School League for the present season.

Nine schools are entered, the Horace Mann, Burr, Hamilton, Hyde, Stearns, Peirce, Mason, Emerson and Bigelow. The schedule began April 25 and games are played on Tuesdays and Thursdays of each week, ending May 27.

The schedule follows, the home team being mentioned first in each case.

May 4. Mann vs. Hamilton; Mason vs. Stearns; Hyde vs. Burr; Peirce vs. Bigelow.

May 9. Mason vs. Mann; Stearns vs. Hamilton; Bigelow vs. Burr; Emerson vs. Peirce.

May 11. Hyde vs. Mann; Bigelow vs. Stearns; Burr vs. Emerson; Hamilton vs. Peirce.

May 16. Emerson vs. Mann; Stearns vs. Hyde; Hamilton vs. Burr; Mason vs. Peirce.

May 18. Peirce vs. Hyde; Hamilton vs. Bigelow.

May 23. Mason vs. Emerson; Hyde vs. Bigelow.

May 25. Mason vs. Burr; Emerson vs. Stearns.

HAAG—LYON

The marriage of Mr. Edward Newton Haag, Jr., of Philadelphia and Miss Bema Barton Lyon of LaGrange, Ill., took place Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents at LaGrange. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. W. Stryker of Emmanuel Church of that city and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bridal gown was of white chiffon with court train of white satin, a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and brides roses. The maid of honor, Miss Josephine Miller of Franklin, Pa., was in blue taffeta and carried an arm bouquet of Ophelia roses, while the bridesmaids, Miss Rebecca Haag, a sister of the groom, Miss Janet Frey, Miss Florence Caldwell and Miss Marjorie Greenleaf of LaGrange were gowned in pink taffeta, trimmed with silver, made with booties and panniers and small hoop skirts, with silver slippers and arm bouquets of blue corn flowers and pink spiraea.

Mr. George Parris Haag, brother of the groom, was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. George P. Lyon, brother of the bride, Robert J. Ferguson, Jr., of Dover, Del. and Clifford Barden of Wallingford, Vt.

Mr. Haag is advertising manager and one of the publishers of "Shoe and Leather Facts" of Boston and Philadelphia, and will bring his bride to this city, where they will be at home after June 1 at 10 Church road, Newton.

WILBUR THEATRE—It is scarcely necessary to go into details regarding the noted career of Mr. Mann, for his characteristic "broken German" dialect creations are world famous, having pleased the theatregoers of this country for almost a half century. As to the play, "The Bubble" it is from the pen of Edward Locke, author of "The Climax," "Case of Becky" and is not only claimed to be this author's master work, but it is also the best play afforded Mr. Mann in years. In this new successful comedy-drama Mr. Mann has the role of Gustave Mueller, an irascible but lovable old delicatessen dealer who has lived a most honest and happy life with his family in their comfortable home just back of his shop. One evening a polished promoter of mining stock enters his home and convinces the old German that he can be worth untold wealth by purchasing stock in the Prophet mine. The old man invests his entire savings in this get-rich-quick scheme and the manner in which he mixes dill pickles and frenzied finance brings forth many side-splitting comedy situations.

CASTLE SQ. THEATRE—The second week of the Shakespeare Festival at the Castle Square beginning Monday, will be evenly divided between "Hamlet" and "The Taming of the Shrew." In the tragedy Mr. Craig and Miss Young will be seen respectively as Hamlet and Ophelia, and in the comedy as Petruchio and Katherine. "The Taming of the Shrew" will be given with the induction, or introductory act, which is rarely acted nowadays in any revival of this liveliest and most humorous of Shakespeare's comedies. And in these plays Mr. Craig and Miss Young will have the skilful support of the entire personnel of the Craig Players, with an addition of many extra people especially engaged to fill out the casts. The extensive scenic and costume resources of the Castle Square will be drawn upon to make these productions in every way complete.

THE IDEAL "COTTAGE FOR TWO"

The proverbial "cottage built for two" is a place of much economy of space and much expense of temper, time and toil. The architect whose field lies among country mansions laughs at the "toy house" idea; and the smugly satisfied city dweller, from his ill-lighted and excessively cramped apartment, finds a theme for many jokes in "the cottage built for two." But every day in every little hamlet and big town sane young people are demonstrating the truth that the little house well planned, with abundance of sunlight and fresh air, and with absolutely practical arrangement of rooms and full equipment of modern conveniences, is not only a possibility but also a most satisfactorily proven fact.—Raymond Comstock in The Countryside Magazine for May.

LODGES

Hon. J. Wilbur Fairbank of Boston will give an illustrated lecture on "Ben Hur" next Tuesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall, West Newton, under the auspices of Tennyson Rebekah lodge and for the benefit of one of its members who was recently burned out. Mrs. Elenor M. MacDougal will sing.

Auto Hearse—Limousine Cars

A Handsome Car

WHEN you pay several hundred dollars for an automobile, why not get a good-looking one—one that you will be proud to own, proud to drive and proud to take your friends out in? Maxwell owners have a just pride in the handsome appearance of their automobile for Maxwell Motor Cars have the same attractive lines, the same graceful design as the higher priced types.

In addition to good looks you want, of course, a reliable, sturdy and economical car. But there is no doubt in your mind on these points since the Maxwell a short time ago established the World's Motor Non-Stop Mileage Record. Any car that can run continuously for 44 days and nights, averaging 500 miles per day—22,000 miles in all and without once stopping the motor—is bound to be a well designed and well made car.

Any car that can perform such a wonderful feat on an average of one gallon of gasoline to every 22 miles is bound to be an economical car.

We have such confidence in the Maxwell car and the company behind it that we have staked our judgment and future on the ability of the car to make good for you. It will; we know it. All we want is a chance to prove it.

CO-OPERATION IN LIBRARY WORK

sachusetts Free Public Library Commission, the libraries of the State have been divided into groups with some one prominent library as a center.
The object being to bring about a general improvement of library conditions by informal and friendly methods. The twelve libraries known as the Newton Group, of which Miss Elizabeth P. Thurston is local secretary, holds its meetings once a month to discuss problems of interest to librarians and trustees of small libraries, to act as an incentive to more united and efficient work, and as a general clearing-house of ideas. These meetings are held in turn at the various libraries.

Wednesday of this week, the Newton
Group met at the Goodnow Free Public Library, South Sudbury. The special subject for consideration was "Library Advertising." Mr. Dougherty, Librarian of Newton, was the speaker. He presented many tried, successful, and original ways of showing library patrons and others the possibilities of the library field. The librarians of Waltham and Wellesley also gave interesting experiences.
This brought out plans for more cooperative work between our neighboring libraries in the future.

speak at a mass meeting in the inter-

single year saw the classes of Philadelphia increase to 40,000 members as the result of the adoption of his plans. Trenton, Scranton, and Patterson were organized by him either before or after the Sunday campaign.
In every place these classes have been the great conserving agencies of the campaign.

The entertainment closed with "College Days," "Back on the Farm," "A

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Bridges of Fairmont avenue, Newton, entertained about eighty guests at a reception and dance on Wednesday evening in the small ball-room at the Copley Plaza.

Mr. and Mrs. Bridges received from 8.30 until 9.30 in the reception room, which was decorated artistically with pink roses. Mrs. Bridges was exquisitely gowned in ivory white satin with corsage combined with silver net and crystal trimmings, and she carried pink roses.

An exceptionally fine program of music was furnished by Hoppe's Orchestra of five pieces. At 11 o'clock supper was served at small tables arranged in the spacious ball-room and each table was centered with a white basket filled with Easter lilies.

Many dinners were given before the dance and among the guests noted, were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Ayers of Dedham, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Waters, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Ayer of West Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dana Priest of Auburndale, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Harwood, Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Stebbins of Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus T. Beatey and Mr. and Mrs. George Walker of Newton Centre, and Mr. and Mrs. G. Fred Simpson of Newton.

DEATH OF MRS. PLUTA

Mrs. Ella Lillian Pluta passed away at the Newton Hospital on Monday April 24th, following an illness of several months.

Mrs. Pluta had resided in Newtonville, for many years, where she had conducted a dressmaking establishment on Washington street and had a large circle of friends and patrons.

Mrs. Pluta is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Thomas A. Dalby and Mrs. Myra S. Angell of Newton and Mrs. Herbert M. Ellis of Los Angeles, California. The funeral was held at her late home Wednesday afternoon. Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot Church, conducted an impressive service at 2 o'clock and the burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

It was a celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding, and the church parlors were decorated most attractively with golden Spring blossoms, jonquils, marguerites and palms.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen received from 7 until 9 o'clock, and were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. William T. Rich of Newton.

During the reception, excellent music was furnished by the Sunday School Orchestra and refreshments were served by the ladies of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen were showered with beautiful flowers, gifts of gold, and congratulations. In spite of the inclemency of the weather there was a very large attendance including members of the Grand Army Post and friends from Natick, Waltham and the Newtons.

Mr. Allen was born in Kinderhook, N. S., and Mrs. Allen was born in Granville Centre, N. S., and they were married April 22nd, 1866, in Salem, Mass., coming later to Newtonville, where they were associated with the Methodist Church for many years, and had won the esteem of a host of friends.

Mr. Allen was a member of the Charles Ward Post, No. 62, G. A. R., and had led a very eventful life, being for many years a sea-faring man, and serving in the first Mexican War, with the sharpshooters, and in the Civil War, was then transferred to the Navy.

Mrs. Allen was a member of the Ladies' Aid Society, and active in church work.

Many Newton people are to attend the subscription dance to be given at Whitney Hall, Brookline, Saturday evening, April 29 from 8 until 12, by Mrs. Helen W. Bowers.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Advance bulletins regarding the coming Biennial of the General Federation in New York last of May indicate many good things in store for the delegates. At the urgent request of the New Jersey club women May 23 has been designated as "New Jersey Day." There will be a breakfast for the General Federation Board, the state Presidents and special guests at the Essex Country Club. At 2.30 Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison will give a reception to all delegates at their home in Llewellyn Park and from 4 to 6 the Orange Woman's Club will welcome all delegates at its beautiful clubhouse. The departments of Art and Conservation will have a place upon the program of the general session of Saturday morning, May 27. A fine array of speakers on both subjects has been arranged, while the numerous conferences and "consultations" offer so many good things that the only difficulty will be that one cannot attend them all.

The Massachusetts State Federation has arranged for a special train for the delegates and alternates and visiting club women to leave Boston on Tuesday, May 23, at 10.30 A. M. The tourist agency of Geo. E. Masters, Inc., will conduct a party with accommodations at the Prince George Hotel for any who do not desire to go to Hotel Belmont, which has been assigned as the Massachusetts official headquarters.

Newton Federation

The annual meeting of the Newton Federation will be held in the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, next Tuesday, May 2, at 10.30 A. M. As is customary the morning session will be devoted to the annual reports of officers and committees, the reports from the clubs and the election of officers. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock, tickets for which must be secured not later than Saturday night, from Miss Anna M. Whiting, 11 Washington street, Newton, the chairman of the Social committee.

The afternoon's program will be quite different from that of previous years and will be given by the following artists: Mrs. Charlton D. Miller, of Newton Highlands, reader, Miss Dai Buell, of Newton Centre, pianist, Mrs. W. J. Spaulding, of Auburndale, singer, and Mrs. Lillian Haynes Walker, of Newtonville, cellist.

Local Happenings

On Saturday, April 22, the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club met at the home of Mrs. H. E. Durkin, an honorary member, at Wollaston. Mrs. A. L. Pratt was in charge of the quiz, which was a review of the year's work. The first play studied this season, Othello, was compared with Hamlet, especially in the influence of women upon the two men. In Hamlet the shock of his mother's infidelity was the keynote of his inaction, while Othello was pre-eminently the man of action, but the failure of woman to live up to his ideal shattered his faith. Thus the transformation of both of these men was due to lack of faith in women. In Shakespeare's last play, however, The Tempest, the helpfulness of woman to man was brought forward and that faith in woman necessary to his development was shown in his finding a woman who should be his sharer in the burdens of life, as Miranda was to Ferdinand. Othello was also contrasted with Richard III. Richard was a moral failure, the cause being within himself, while in Othello, the causes were from the outside, he being the victim of fate could not be called a moral failure. The possible influence of Marlowe upon Shakespeare was spoken of as brought out by a comparison of Edward II and Richard II, while the question of the influence of Plato on Shakespeare was touched upon and will be enlarged upon by all the members at the next meeting.

At the annual meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club held at the home of Mrs. L. H. Marshall on April 24, the reports showed a profitable year's work completed. Among the philanthropic work done by the club may be mentioned a contribution of a sum of money to the Newton Welfare Bureau. A social hour with refreshments closed the afternoon. The songs which have been submitted by Mrs. S. A. Thompson in the prize contest for a State Federation song to be used at the New York Biennial were sung by members. These officers will serve the club next year: President, Mrs. C. H. Keeler; vice-presidents, Mrs. S. A. Thompson, Mrs. W. M. Mick; recording secretary, Mrs. Eben Williams; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles T. Bartlett; treasurer, Mrs. John S. Patton; auditor, Mrs. C. S. Luitwieler; directors for two years, Mrs. L. H. Marshall, Mrs. A. H. Armstrong; directors for one year, Mrs. G. A. Salmon, Mrs. F. A. O'Connor.

This week's meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. was held with Miss Ayres. Mrs. H. B. Rogers was in charge of a Home Economics Afternoon, the special phase of clothes being considered with a particular reference to textiles, woollens, cottons, linens and silks. Mrs. Hill read a paper upon "Elimination as applied to the Home," in which she made a plea for simplification in food, dress and interior decoration.

Mrs. Leila C. Pennock gave the closing current events talk before the class of the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday morning.

At the meeting of the Parliamentary Law Club on Tuesday morning the annual reports postponed from the previous meeting were read and the rest of the time was given to parliamentary practice. These officers have been elected for the coming season: President, Miss Elizabeth Wood; vice-presidents, Mrs. W. S. Higgins; Mrs. F. D. Sampson, Mrs. Isabella W. Hardon; secretary, Mrs. Robert Gorton; treasurer, Mrs. W. D. Tripp; auditor, Mrs. Sidney Peterson.

The Christian Era Study Club, which was admitted to the Newton Federation about a year ago, has been studying the "Middle Ages" during this past season. At the last meeting held at the home of Mrs. Katelle on Grove street, Florence was the subject of study. Papers upon the city and its churches were read by Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Messenger, while that by Miss Alice Ranlett upon "Dante and his Inferno," was a real treat.

About sixty members of the Social Science Club went to the Wellesley Inn at Wellesley for the annual business meeting and luncheon on Wednesday. The reports of the committees showed a very large amount of activity upon their part with splendid results. The Stamp Savings committee has had thirty collection days at the local schools with a total amount of $504.37 deposited by the children and something over $200 withdrawn by them for various purposes. A sum of money has been laid aside for the use of the school nurse as occasion may arise, $10 will be given to the Newton Branch of the Forestry Association towards the instruction in trees now being given in the upper grades of the Bigelow school, and $100 was voted for the work in which Mrs. J. L. Colby is interested among the English women for war relief. These amounts are in addition to the donations already made to the Stearns School Centre, $250, Newton Hospital, $100, Hampton Scholarship, $70, Dental Clinic, $25, and School Gardens, $15, these having been made from the Philanthropic Fund pledged annually by the members. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Sterling Elliott; vice-presidents, Mrs. L. S. Drake, Mrs. Vernon B. Swett, Mrs. H. H. Powers, Mrs. C. H. Patton, Mrs. H. I. Harriman, Mrs. Harrie R. Chamberlin; recording secretary, Mrs. L. D. Gibbs; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. H. Chase; treasurer, Mrs. H. K. Hobart; auditor, Miss Rose Loring; directors, Mrs. Alfred W. Fuller, chairman, Mrs. Francis W. Dana, Mrs. Frank H. Howes, Mrs. Frank A. Day, Mrs. Sydney Harwood.

Following the business meeting the members sat down to a delicious luncheon and the informal sociability around the tables made a delightful close to a year of particularly good work.

On Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ryder the Pierian Club completed its study of the Islands of the Sea, with papers on "Borneo" by Mrs. Willard, "Sumatra" by Mrs. C. F. Rogers, Jr., "Java" by Mrs. Brown.

AUBURDALE WOMAN'S CLUB

A large and enthusiastic audience gathered at the Methodist Church on Tuesday afternoon for the annual meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club. The need of a clubhouse was in the minds of all, and the matter was discussed with great interest, with the result that a committee of five, with the president Mrs. C. A. Brown as chairman, was appointed to study the possibility of holding a Bazaar in the fall to start the club house fund.

The usual reports of the officers and the standing committees were read, and all brought out clearly the wide range of the club activities. There were fourteen classes in literature, basketry, Home Economics, Bird Study (for children), advanced French and swimming.

Besides conducting a course in the study of Food Values, the Home Economics Committee experimented in co-operative buying, handling orders to the amount of $450. The Educational Committee reported 75 visits to the local schools, a reception to teachers and parents, and a series of story-telling hours on Saturday mornings for the children in the grades. The Civics Committee reported as its most important work the Clean-Up Week, and the afternoon meeting when the Mayor and other city officials discussed with the club members those municipal problems in the solution of which club women may be of greatest help.

Mrs. Carol Swan of Brookline sang a group of songs, and a social hour was enjoyed by all.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Mrs. Charles A. Brown; vice-presidents, Mrs. Henry A. Wentworth, Mrs. Arthur W. Lane; recording secretary, Mrs. H. W. Sprague; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Joseph R. Draper; treasurer, Miss Margaret Haskell; asst. treasurer, Miss Carol L. Hollis; director, Mrs. Harry Beal.

QUALITY GOODS

It seems strange to us that any one should hesitate to use Quality Goods—goods so fine that they delight the epicure, goods so moderate in cost that any one may afford them. We wish we had the eloquence of a Cicero to convince you of their superiority, but if you would but give them one trial they will speak for themselves. It is the hardest thing in selling to convince a customer that first cost is not last cost; to make him understand that while the cost of some goods may be much lower in the beginning, they are almost invariably dearer in the end; to show him always an article is worth just what it costs; in short, to impress him with the meaning of Quality. The only way to be convinced is to give Quality Goods a trial and upon such trial we are satisfied to rest our case assured that we would thereby gain another customer.
